2. It is proposed to adopt a general rule with respect to the determination of service areas of natural-gas companies subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission under the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to permit these companies to make, without further authorization from the Commission, certain enlargements or extensions of their facilities for the purpose of supplying increased market demands in the areas being served by the companies under certificates of public convenience and necessity issued by the Commission. This rule is proposed to be issued pursuant to the authority permitted the Federal Power Commission by the Natural Gas Act, as amended, particularly sections 7 (f) and 16 thereof (52 Stat. 824, 56 Stat. 83, 52 Stat. 830, 15 U. S. C. and Sup. 717f, 15 U. S. C. 717o).

3. Many different and conflicting situations are involved in determining a service area for each natural-gas company under section 7 (f). Because of the evident need for careful study and investigation of these problems, and the lack of manpower which could be assigned to this matter under the war-time conditions existing for several years after the passage of the 1942 amendments of section 7, it has been necessary for the Commission to defer this work. Recognizing the need, however, as soon as conditions might permit, for giving effect on a reasonable basis to the intent of section 7 (f), the Commission has had this subject under active consideration during the past year, particularly in connection with its Natural Gas Investigation in Docket No. G-580. From this investigation it has become clear that the intent of Congress as expressed in section 7 (f) can be effectuated, and the administration of the certificate provisions of section 7 can be facilitated in the public interest, if service-area authorizations are granted at this time by a general rule of uniform applicability rather than by separate proceedings conducted for the purpose of determining a service-area authorization for each natural-gas company individually.

4. The provisions of the rule proposed herein are substantially as outlined in the staff report on this subject relative to the Natural Gas Investigation in Docket No. G-580, entitled "Administration of the Certificate Provisions of Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act," which was submitted for comment to natural-gas companies and other interested parties under date of January 17, 1947, with replies requested as of February 15, 1947.

5. In accordance, therefore, with the intention of Congress, as expressed in section 7 (f), to provide, at the discretion of the Commission, reasonable latitude to natural-gas companies to enlarge and extend their facilities for the purpose of supplying increased requirements of the markets which they serve, the Commission proposes in the public interest to adopt a general rule with respect to the determination of service areas of natural-gas companies and to issue such rule as a new part of subchapter E, Regulations under Natural Gas Act, Chapter I of Title 18, Code of Federal Regulations, said new part to provide as follows:

PART 167—ENLARGEMENT OR EXTENSION OF FACILITIES TO SUPPLY INCREASED MARKET DEMANDS IN SERVICE AREAS OF NATURAL GAS COMPANIES

§ 167.1 Service areas defined. For the purpose of administering section 7 (f) of the Natural Gas Act by general authorization applicable to all natural-gas companies under the Act, a service area of a natural-gas company is an area of service defined as follows: (a) The service rendered to existing customers and markets, and the facilities certificated or authorized therefor; (b) a 10-percent increase of the total service rendered to existing customers and markets within any calendar year, and the facilities required therefor; (c) subject to the foregoing limits, service to new customers who will receive not more than 75,000 Mcf each per year, and the facilities required therefor; and (d) any additional facilities for improving service and replacing equipment which will not increase the delivery capacity of the transmission system, all of the foregoing as provided more specifically hereinafter.

§ 167.2 General authorization of 10 percent annual increase in system daily delivery capacity. Each natural-gas company subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission under the Natural Gas Act, as amended, is hereby authorized to enlarge or extend its facilities so as to increase the daily delivery capacity of its transmission system to a maximum extent of 10 percent in any calendar year for the purpose of supplying the increased requirements of customers being served under certificates of public convenience and necessity issued by the Commission, and minor new customers as hereinafter specified.

(a) Capacity increase in 1947. In determining the maximum increase in delivery capacity permissible for the year 1947 under the authorization herein granted, a natural-gas company shall use 10 percent of the installed delivery capacity of its transmission system, calculated as of the effective date of this order. Within thirty days of such date, each natural-gas company affected by this order shall file with the Commission a statement of the installed delivery capacity of its system as of the effective date of this order, together with such explanation as may be necessary of the method of formula by which such capacity has been determined.

(b) Capacity increase after 1947. The authorization for each year thereafter shall be based upon the installed capacity as of January 1 of the calendar year during which the additions are to be made. Within thirty days after the beginning of each calendar year, any natural-gas company affected by this authorization shall file with the Commission a statement of the installed delivery capacity of its system as of January 1 of that year, together with such explanation as may be necessary of the method or formula by which such capacity has been determined.

(c) Types of facilities authorized. The authorization granted herein, as limited above, shall extend to all facilities which are to be installed for the purpose of increasing the delivery capacity of the natural-gas company's transmission system, including such facilities as additional pipe lines, compressors, compressor stations and any other facilities which increase the capacity of the transmission system or any part thereof.

(d) Notice of intention required. A natural-gas company desiring to enlarge its facilities under the authorization granted herein shall file with the Commission at least thirty days prior to the commencement of the construction of such additional facilities written notification of its intention so to do, and shall include in such notice a concise description of the facilities proposed; a map showing their location; the capacity increase contemplated; the additional gas reserves, if any, to be dedicated; the reasons for the installation; the estimated cost of the facilities; the method of financing; the proposed date of beginning of construction; and the date at which the construction is expected to be completed and placed in operation.

(e) General authorization may be suspended. The Commission reserves the right to suspend the operation of the general authorization granted herein, with reference to any proposed enlargement or extension of facilities, and to require a natural-gas company to file an application in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and to obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to undertaking the construction, extension or operation of facilities which otherwise might have been constructed in accordance with the authorization granted herein.

§ 167.3 General authorization of additional types of facilities. In addition to the authorization hereinbefore granted, a natural-gas company is further authorized to install and operate the following types of facilities:

(a) Auxiliary facilities. All necessary auxiliary facilities which do not increase the transmission system delivery capacity, such as, for example, scrubbers, dehydration equipment, electrical equipment in compressor stations, water pipe lines and cooling equipment at pumping stations, incidental buildings and structures, and similar facilities.

(b) Connecting facilities for minor new customers. Incidental connecting facilities which are necessary to extend natural-gas service to minor new customers, for their own consumption or for resale, whose annual consumption in each instance will not exceed 75,000 Mcf—such as villages, "farm taps," alfalfa drying plants, drilling and pumping requirements in gas or oil fields, and the like in rural areas adjacent to the transmission lines of a natural-gas company. All such customers added during each year shall be reported annually in a supplement to Schedule 434 of F. P. C. Form No. 2.

(c) Replacement or relocation of facilities. Facilities which constitute the replacement or relocation of existing facilities in service, where no reduction or abandonment of a general service or service to a particular customer is involved.

(d) Additional metering points and lateral lines. Facilities necessary to the establishment of additional metering points or lateral lines required for service to customers in local communities already being served.

§ 167.4 Reservations as to rate and accounting requirements. The authorizations granted herein are without prejudice to future determinations by the Commission in proceedings involving accounting requirements or the fixing of rates of natural-gas companies; and the construction and operation of facilities under these authorizations shall not constitute an acceptance by the Commission that all such facilities are necessary in the operations of a natural-gas company.

§ 167.5 Subsequent actions not precluded. The authorizations granted herein will not preclude the consideration of any subsequent actions which may be shown to be appropriate in order to effectuate the purposes of section 7 (f) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended.

6. Interested persons are given until April 21, 1947, to submit written statements or briefs setting forth their comments, views and suggestions with respect to this proposed rule.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-120, 59-34]

NEW ENGLAND GAS AND ELECTRIC ASSN.[1]

MEMORANDUM FINDINGS, OPINION, AND ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 20th day of March 1947.

The Commission, by order dated February 11, 1947, approved the alternate plan for recapitalization of New England Gas and Electric Association ("New England") under section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and, among other things, reserved jurisdiction to pass upon certain necessary amendments with respect to the terms of the $22,425,000 principal amount of 20-year Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Bonds, 77,625 cumulative convertible preferred shares and a maximum of 1,850,000 common shares to be issued by New England pursuant to the terms of the alternate plan.[2] Subsequently, by order dated March 10, 1947, the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts approved the alternate plan and vacated its prior order of July 17, 1946 approving an earlier plan for the reorganization of New England designated the "amended plan".[3]

In our findings and opinion with respect to the alternate plan, we set forth certain basic terms of the new securities to be issued by New England and found that such securities satisfied the requirements of section 7 of the act. We were not at that time, however, in a position to permit the declaration under section 7 to become effective inasmuch as information concerning the definitive terms and conditions relating to the sale of the new securities had not yet been presented to us.

New England has now filed amendments to its application under section 11 (e) of the act concerning certain definitive terms and conditions relating to the sale of the new securities to be issued by it as discussed below.

The collateral trust bonds to be issued by New England will be sold in accordance with the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50. Pursuant to such requirements, New England will publicly invite proposals for the purchase of the new bonds. The invitation for bids for the bonds provides that the price to be paid to New England for the bonds shall not be less than 100% nor more than 102.75% of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest from April 1, 1947. The bidders will also designate the interest rate which shall be a multiple of ⅛%.

The convertible preferred shares to be issued by New England pursuant to the terms of the alternate plan, will be convertible into common shares of New England at a rate of seven common shares for each convertible preferred share.[4] The Commission, by order dated March 11, 1947,[5] granted an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 with respect to the convertible preferred shares and such of the new common shares as are not subscribed for upon exercise of subscription rights.

Under the terms of the alternate plan, the holders of the presently outstanding $5.50 preferred shares of New England will be entitled to receive for each share held, in addition to 8 shares of new common transferable rights to subscribe for 5 additional shares of new common (or a total of 479,235 shares) at $9.00 per share. Further, to the extent that such rights are not exercised, holders of the $5.50 preferred shares will receive non-transferable rights to subscribe pro-rata to a maximum of 20 additional shares of new common at $9.00 per share for each $5.50 preferred share held. The transferable rights and the non-transferable rights are exercisable on the date of the public offering of the collateral trust bonds and new convertible preferred shares and will expire fourteen days thereafter.

We have examined the terms and conditions of the proposed securities and the sale thereof and we observe no basis for adverse findings with respect to them.

It is therefore ordered, That, pursuant to the applicable provisions of said act, including sections 6 (a) and 7 thereof, the declaration with respect to the issue and sale of $22,425,000 principal amount of 20-year Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Bonds, Series A, due 1967; 77,625 shares of cumulative convertible preferred shares; and a maximum of 1,850,000 common shares including rights for 479,235 common shares, be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in said order dated February 11, 1947, and subject to the further condition that the proposed sale of the collateral trust bonds, cumulative preferred shares, and such of the 479,235 common shares as are not subscribed upon exercise of subscription rights, shall not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding for the bonds and the negotiations for the convertible preferred and common shares have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order shall have been entered by this Commission in the light of the record so completed, which order may contain such further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate, jurisdiction being reserved with respect to the imposition thereof in connection with such proposed transactions.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

[1] New England Gas and Electric Association, — SEC — (1946), Holding Company Act Release No. 7181.

[2] Previously, on June 24, 1946, the Commission had approved a plan for the reorganization of New England (amended plan) which provided for the issuance of $22,500,000 of Collateral Trust Bonds as the sole senior securities to be outstanding and the issuance of 2,300,000 common shares as the only junior securities to be outstanding (New England Gas and Electric Association, ——SEC — (1946), Holding Company Act Release No. 6729). The Amended Plan was approved by the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts on July 17, 1946. Following the approval of the amended plan, New England found that the securities provided for in the plan could not be sold within the range of prices specified in that plan. It was, therefore, deemed desirable by New England to provide an alternate method of recapitalization which would have more assurance of success than the amended plan and, accordingly, New England sought and secured our approval of the alternate plan so that it might, at its election, subject to the entry of a court order enforcing such plan, proceed with the carrying out of the alternate plan or the amended plan. Subsequent to our application to the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts to approve and enforce the alternate plan, New England elected to proceed with consummation of the alternate plan in lieu of the amended plan. Such election was not opposed by any participant in the proceeding, including the Commission, and the District Court, in approving the alternate plan, vacated, as stated above, its prior order of July 17, 1946 approving the amended plan.

[3] The amended declaration of trust contains provisions for changes in the conversion rate which are designed to protect preferred stock shareholders against dilution of the conversion privilege.

WHEREAS by virtue of a proclamation by the President of the United States of America dated April 9, 1910 (36 Stat. 2685) citizens of France are, and since July 1, 1909 have been, entitled to the benefits of the act of Congress approved March 4, 1909 (35 Stat. 1075) relating to copyright, other than the benefits of section 1 (e) of that act; and

WHEREAS by virtue of a proclamation by the President of the United States of America dated May 24, 1918 (40 Stat. 1784), the citizens of France are, and since May 24, 1918 have been, entitled to the benefits of section 1 (e) of the aforesaid act of March 4, 1909;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, under and by virtue of authority vested in me by the aforesaid act of September 25, 1941, do declare and proclaim:

That with respect to (1) works of citizens of France which were first produced or published outside the United States of America on or after September 3, 1939 and subject to copyright under the laws of the United States of America, and (2) works of citizens of France subject to renewal of copyright under the laws of the United States of America on or after September 3, 1939, there has existed for several years of the time since September 3, 1939 such disruption or suspension of facilities essential to compliance with the conditions and formalities prescribed with respect to such works by the copyright laws of the United States of America as to bring such works within the terms of the aforesaid act of September 25, 1941; and that accordingly the time within which compliance with such conditions and formalities may take place is hereby extended with respect to such works until the day on which the President of the United States of America shall, in accordance with that act, terminate or suspend the present declaration and proclamation.

It shall be understood that the term of copyright in any case is not and cannot be altered or affected by this proclamation, and that, as provided by the aforesaid act of September 25, 1941, no liability shall attach under the Copyright Act for lawful uses made or acts done prior to the effective date of this proclamation in connection with the above-described works, or in respect to the continuance for one year subsequent to such date of any business undertaking or enterprise lawfully undertaken prior to such date involving expenditure or contractual obligation in connection with the exploitation, production, reproduction, circulation, or performance of any such work.

PART 904—MILK IN GREATER BOSTON, MASS., MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 (7 U. S. C., 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act," and of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Boston, Massachusetts, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order," it is hereby found and determined that:

1. Subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of § 904.6 (a) (1) of the order and the entire table contained in subdivision (iv) of said section, with the exception of the words "Class I Price (dollars per cwt.)" and the figure or price "4.77," do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to all milk subject to the provisions of the order during the month of April 1947; and

2. It is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to comply with the specific notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Public Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237) in that the time intervening between the date when the conditions necessitating the foregoing finding became apparent and April 1, 1947 is insufficient to permit compliance with such specific notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements, and in that any delay in the effective date of this action beyond April 1, 1947, will seriously jeopardize the orderly marketing of milk produced for the Greater Boston, Massachusetts, milk marketing area.

It is therefore ordered, That subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of § 904.6 (a) (1) of the order and the entire table contained in subdivision (iv) of said section, with the exception of the words "Class I price (dollars per cwt.)" and the figure or price "4.77," be and they hereby are suspended with respect to all milk subject to the provisions of the order during the month of April 1947.

Subchapter C—Miscellaneous Excise Taxes

PART 182—INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL

EMERGENCY PRODUCTION OF SUGARS AND SIRUPS IN INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL PLANTS

1. The act of February 1, 1947 (Public Law 2, 80th Congress) amends section 3126 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code (relating to emergency production of sugars and sirups in industrial alcohol plants) by striking out "February 1, 1947," and inserting in lieu thereof "April 30, 1948."

2. Pursuant to the foregoing provision of law and sections 3105, 3124 (a) and 3176, Internal Revenue Code, Article V of Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182) is hereby amended by adding after § 182.7b a new § 182.7c.

3. Notice and public procedure under section 4, Administrative Procedure Act, are found to be impracticable and unnecessary in connection with the issuance of these regulations for the reasons that (1) the statute which the regulations are designed to implement merely extended the expiration date of prior temporary emergency legislation; (2) the statute was approved on the day following the expiration date of such prior legislation; and (3) the regulations are in substance and effect the same as the regulations which implemented the prior legislation. It is also found necessary to make these regulations immediately effective to permit the beneficiaries of the legislation to qualify thereunder and avoid confusion in conducting operations and keeping records.

§ 182.7c Emergency production of sugars and sirups in industrial alcohol plants. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 182.7, or other provisions of the regulations in this part, until April 30, 1948, sugars and sirups from potatoes and from high moisture or damaged grain may be produced in industrial alcohol plants simultaneously with, or alternately with, the production of alcohol. Any proprietor of an industrial alcohol plant intending to produce such sugars and sirups shall submit in accordance with these regulations a supplemental application, Form 1431, to cover the use of the premises for that purpose until December 31, 1947, and shall likewise submit a supplemental application to cover the use of the premises for that purpose from January 1, 1948, to April 29, 1948, inclusive. The application shall include a statement of the equipment and the process to be used in producing such sugars and sirups and shall be accompanied by an appropriate consent of surety, Form 1533, executed in accordance with these regulations. Upon approval of such application, the district supervisor shall issue an amended permit, Form 1433, to allow use of the premises in accordance with the supplemental application. The proprietor shall prepare each month and attach to his monthly report on Form 1442 a separate report showing all potatoes and high moisture or damaged grain used daily in the production of sugars and sirups by pounds and the quantity in pounds of sugars and sirups produced and removed each day from the premises. This report shall be deemed a part of Form 1442. All such materials received on the premises shall be reported in the regular material summaries of Forms 1442 and 1452-B and upon their use under this section, shall be reported at a special line in the summaries as transferred for use in the production of sugars and sirups. All containers of sugars and sirups removed from the premises must be labeled to show the nature of the contents and the name and address of the manufacturer. The operations authorized herein shall be conducted in a manner consistent with the provisions of these regulations. This section shall cease to be in force and effect after April 29, 1948. (Secs. 3105, 3124 (a), 3126, 3176, I. R. C.)

HANDLING OF FRESH BARTLETT PEARS, PLUMS, AND ELBERTA PEACHES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

NOTICE OF DETERMINATION WITH RESPECT TO AMENDED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 85, as amended, and Order No. 36, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 936.1 et seq.), and the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), notice was given in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 28, 1946 (11 F. HANDLING OF MILK IN PHILADELPHIA, PA., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT

Proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania milk marketing area.

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq., 10 F. R. 11791, 11 F. R. 7737, 12 F. R. 1159), notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held at the Jefferson Room, Adelphia Hotel, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, beginning at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., April 9, 1947, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, milk marketing area. The proposals to delete the present formula method of computing the Class I price raise the question of whether the formula method will operate more satisfactorily to maintain Class I prices at a level which will be consistent with the standard set forth in the act as expressed by the market prices of butter now utilized as the formula base or some other group of prices or factors such as a combination of butter prices with nonfat dry milk solids, the prices paid farmers delivering to surrounding fluid milk markets and to manufacturing milk plants, and indexes of purchasing power of both farmers and consumers. The proposal to modify the classification of nonproducer milk received at producer milk plants raises the question of whether the definition of a "producer milk plant" should be revised to include such "nonproducer milk." Evidence with respect to these questions will also be received at the hearing. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

In order to cooperate with the Pennsylvania Milk Commission, the hearing will be conducted jointly with the Commission.

Proposals upon which evidence will be received are as follows:

Proposed by Milk Distributors' Association of the Philadelphia Area, Inc.:

1. Amend § 961.1 (a) (3) so as to exclude from "the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Area" that portion of Delaware County lying north, northwest and west of the Darby Creek.

2. Amend § 961.1 (a) (6) (i) by eliminating the following plant listings:

Penn-Reed Milk Co., Belleville, Pa.
Philadelphia Dairy Products Co., Inc., Pottstown, Pa.

by adding the following plant listings:

Abbotts Dairies, Inc., Belleville, Pa.
Abbotts Dairies, Inc., Reedsville, Pa.
Philadelphia Dairy Products Co., Inc., Benton, Pa.
Supplee-Wills-Jones Milk Co., Nassau, Del.

3. Amend § 961.3 (b) (1) by changing the words "less than 18 percent butterfat" to "less than 17.5 percent butterfat."

4. Amend § 961.3 (c) by changing the words "less than 18 percent butterfat" to "less than 17.5 percent butterfat."

5. Eliminate § 961.3 (e) (2) and eliminate the words "During the months July to March inclusive" from § 961.3 (e) (1).

6. Amend § 961.4 (a) (1), as amended, so as to provide:

(a) For the elimination of formula pricing for Class I milk.

(b) A fixed price for Class I milk which will reflect current and prospective market conditions.

(c) A variation of the price for Class I milk in different seasons of the year to encourage level production of milk.

Proposed by United Farmers' Cooperative:

7. Revise the Class I price provision to substitute for the present butter formula a price based on factors reflecting the cost of milk production such as commercial 16 percent dairy feed and wages of hired farm labor in relation to the purchasing power of consumers.

Proposed by Oakland Farms:

8. The Class I price of milk to producers should be based on factors entering into their cost of production, plus a reasonable profit, and maintain an adequate supply of milk for the area with due consideration to provide milk to the public at a fair price. All these factors must be thoroughly reviewed at public hearings with all interested parties given an opportunity to present evidence.

Proposed by Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative:

9. Provide a fixed Class I price to be changed only after hearings are held in the market.

10. Provide a seasonal differential, in addition to the fixed Class I price proposed in (1), of approximately 50 cents per hundredweight for the months of July through September, and January through March, respectively; and a seasonal differential of approximately $1.00 in addition to the fixed Class I price proposed in (1) during the months of October through December.

11. Provide that the fixed Class I price referred to in (1) and the differentials referred to in (2) to be determined after a consideration of the evidence introduced at the hearing proposed in this call, in such manner that a combination of the Class I price, the differentials and the Class II price will return to producers an over-all price sufficient to cover their costs of production and a reasonable profit, and to provide for the consumers of the Philadelphia area an adequate, constant and more even supply of milk.

Proposed by the Dairy Branch:

12. In § 961.4 (a) (2) revise the alternative method of computing the butterfat value of the Class II price on the basis of New York butter prices to include a factor which will increase that value 10 cents per hundredweight of milk.

13. Amend § 961.4 (a) (2) to provide for computation of the Class II price on the basis of all prices reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, in carlot sales on the New York market, rather than on the basis of quotations for dry skim milk for animal feed and for human consumption as now provided.

Proposed by United Farmers' Cooperative:

14. Provide a 3.7 percent butterfat basis for payment in lieu of the 4.0 percent basis now used.

15. Provide a producer butterfat differential of 7 cents per hundredweight for each one-tenth of one variation above or below 3.7 percent butterfat.

Proposed by Milk Distributors' Association of the Philadelphia Area, Inc.:

16. Reconsider the butterfat differential on Class I milk.

17. Amend § 961.4 (c) to provide for an additional hauling allowance on "distress milk."

18. Amend § 961.4 (d) by changing the words "on any wholesale or retail routes from which no milk is disposed of in the marketing area on the same trip" to "on any retail route from which no milk is disposed of in the marketing area on the same trip, and on any wholesale route."

19. Further amend § 941.4 (d) by adding at the end thereof an additional proviso as follows: "And provided further, That when sold in an area regulated by an order of a State Milk Control Agency but not regulated by another order of the Secretary, the minimum price specified under the Milk Control Order of such State Agency shall apply."

Proposed by Suburban Milk Dealers' Association:

20. Amend § 961.4 (d) by inserting after the words "shall be, as ascertained by the market administrator," the words: "subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth," and by adding at the end thereof an additional proviso as follows: "And provided further, That when sold in an area regulated by an order of a state milk control or regulatory agency but not regulated by another order of the Secretary, the minimum price effective under the state milk control or regulatory agency order shall apply."

Proposed by Oakland Farms:

21. Revise § 961.4 (d) to read as follows:

(d) Class I milk disposed of outside the marketing area. The price to be paid by handlers for Class I milk disposed of outside the marketing area on any wholesale or retail routes from which no milk is disposed of in the marketing area on the same trip, in lieu of the price otherwise applicable pursuant to this section, shall be (1) for milk produced and disposed of in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, exclusive of the marketing area, the price for Class I milk shall be the same as that prescribed by the various Official Orders of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission for each of the respective state areas (2) for milk sold in an area regulated by another marketing order of the Secretary, the price effective under such an order shall apply (3) for milk sold in any other area, the market administrator shall ascertain the price.

Proposed by Milk Distributors' Association of the Philadelphia Area, Inc.:

22. Amend § 961.5 (a) by changing the words "8th day" to "9th day."

23. Add a new provision to provide that: "The market administrator shall not audit, re-audit, or charge any person subject to this order for operations during any month later than two years after the date of the filing of the report for such operations, except in case of fraud."

24. Eliminate § 961.10.

Proposed by the Dairy Branch:

25. Delete from § 961.8 (e) the words, ". . . and 3 cents per hundredweight at plants 31 miles or more from City Hall, Philadelphia," and consider the addition of a like amount of differentials set forth in § 961.4 (c) (1).

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and of the order as amended, now in effect, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 11 North Juniper Street, Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 0308 South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: March 24, 1947.

Plats of the farm units referred to above were approved on February 28, 1947, and are on file in the office of the Project Superintendent, Bureau of Reclamation, Burley, Idaho; the office of the Bureau of Reclamation, Hunt Unit, Eden, Idaho; the office of the Regional Director, Bureau of Reclamation, Boise, Idaho; and the District Land Office, Blackfoot, Idaho, where they may be examined by any person desiring to make application hereunder. The area of public land in each of these farm units represents the acreage which, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior, may reasonably be required for the support of a family upon such land and is fixed at the amounts shown upon the farm unit plats.

2. Private land for which water is available. Water will also be available for the irrigation season of 1947 and thereafter, and may be obtained by making arrangements with American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 for the payment of the construction charges and operation and maintenance charges for the following land held in private ownership:

Township 8 South, Range 19 East

Section	Description	Total irrigable acreage
36	NE¼SW¼	40.0
	NW¼SW¼	38.2
	SW¼SW¼	34.4
	SE¼SW¼	38.4

The maximum acreage of land in private ownership for which application for delivery of water may be made shall be 160 acres of irrigable land for each landowner.

3. Preference rights of honorably discharged veterans of World War II—(a) Nature of preference. Pursuant to the provisions of the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747), as amended June 25, 1946 (Public Law No. 440, 79th Congress, 2d Sess.), for a period of 90 days from the opening of these lands to entry or until July 25, 1947, the lands described in paragraph 1 above will be open to entry only to persons who have served not less than 90 days in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard of the United States in World War II, and are honorably separated or discharged therefrom prior to the date of making application: Provided, however, That they must be qualified to make entry, under the homestead laws and also possess the qualifications as to industry, experience, character, capital and physical fitness required of all entrymen or entrywomen under this notice. This right extends to the widow of a veteran of World War II and to the guardian of his or her minor orphan child or children. The commencement of United States participation in World War II shall be deemed, for purposes of this notice, to be December 8, 1941.

(b) Definition of honorable discharge. An honorable discharge within the meaning of the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747), shall mean:

(1) Separation from the service by means of an honorable discharge or a discharge under honorable conditions,

(2) Transfer from active duty to a reserve or retired status,

(3) End of the period of war service by reason of the termination of the war, even though the person remains in the service of the armed forces of the United States.

(c) Submission of proofs of veterans status. An applicant who claims a preference right on account of service in the armed forces of the United States must attach to the application a photostatic copy of both sides of his or her discharge papers, a certified copy of his or her recorded discharge papers, or an affidavit which states the applicant's time of service, the unit of which he or she was a member, the date of honorable discharge, and the fact that he or she did not refuse to wear the uniform of such service or to perform the duties thereof.

4. Qualifications required by the Reclamation Law. Pursuant to the provisions of subsection 4C of the act of December 5, 1924 (43 Stat. 702, 43 U. S. C. 433), the following are established as minimum qualifications which in the opinion of the local examining board are necessary to insure the success of an entryman or entrywoman on a reclamation farm unit. Applicants must meet these qualifications, as determined by the examining board, in order to be considered for entry, and failure to meet them in all respects will be sufficient cause for rejection of an application. No credit will be given for qualification in excess of the minimum required.

(a) Character and industry. Each entryman or entrywoman must be possessed of honesty, temperate habits, thrift, industry, seriousness of purpose, record of good moral conduct and a bona fide intent to engage in farming as an occupation. Persons named as references in paragraph 17 of the farm application blank should be responsible individuals, not relatives, who are personally acquainted with the applicant and are willing and able to disclose full information relative to the applicant's qualifications for entry on a reclamation farm unit.

(b) Health. Each entryman or entrywoman must be in such physical condition as will enable him or her to engage in normal farm labor. Any person who is physically handicapped or afflicted with any condition which makes such ability questionable should attach to his or her application the detailed statement of an examining physician which defines the limitation upon such ability and its causes.

(c) Farm experience. Each applicant must have had at least three years' full-time experience acquired after the age of 15 years. Two years of study in agricultural courses in an accredited agricultural college or two years of responsible technical work in agriculture which, in the opinion of the examining board, would help prepare the applicant for the successful operation of a farm may be credited as one year of experience. The technical and educational training acquired by the applicant will be credited for no more than one year of full-time experience. Applicants who have gained their farm experience on an irrigated farm will have no advantage over those with non-irrigated farm experience. In supporting his or her claim of meeting the farm experience requirement, the applicant must furnish three written statements signed by a county agricultural agent, county Farmers Home Administration supervisor, P. M. A. county chairman, an officer of any local farm organization, or any other comparable persons who have knowledge of the applicant's farm experience or have verified it to their satisfaction. Women applicants should describe fully the farm activities in which they have engaged and the relation of agricultural courses they have taken to farm operation and management.

(d) Capital. Each entryman or entrywoman must possess at least $3,000 in operating capital or its equivalent, such as livestock, farm machinery and equipment, which are unencumbered and which in the opinion of the board will be applied to his needs for farming operations in this area, or he must have at least $3,000 in (1) unencumbered operating capital or its equivalent, and (2) credit, of which amount at least $2,000 must be in the first category and not more than $1,000 in the second will be considered. Credit must be evidenced by a certified statement from the credit source indicating the amount to be loaned and the terms of the loan. Such credit will be regarded as adequate only if the terms of repayment will not, in the opinion of the board, interfere with the development of a farm unit.

In addition, in order to qualify for entry on project lands, applicants must not hold or own, within any Federal reclamation project, irrigable land for which construction charges payable to the United States have not been fully paid. Proofs of conformity with this requirement need not be furnished, but a check of project lands will be made to determine eligibility of applicants before awards of farm units are made.

5. Qualifications required by homestead laws. The homestead laws require that an entryman or entrywoman:

(a) Must be a citizen of the United States or have declared an intention to become a citizen of the United States.

(b) Entrywomen who are married must be heads of families. (Except veterans of World War II, all entrymen must be 21 years of age or the head of a family, and entrywomen must be 21 years of age and the head of a family. The act of June 25, 1946, removes the age requirements for both men and women who are veterans, but does not affect the homestead requirement that entrywomen who are married must be the heads of families.) Proofs of such status must be submitted with the applications of married women.

(c) Must not own more than 160 acres of land in the United States.

(d) Must not have exhausted the right to make homestead entry on public land.

Complete information concerning qualifications for homesteading may be obtained from the District Land Office at Blackfoot, Idaho, or the Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D. C.

6. When and how to apply for a farm unit—(a) Application blanks. Any person desiring to acquire any of the public land farm units described in this notice must fill out the attached farm application blank. Additional application blanks may be obtained from the Bureau of Reclamation, Burley, Idaho; the Bureau of Reclamation, Hunt Unit, Eden, Idaho; the Regional Director, Bureau of Reclamation, P. O. Box 937, Boise, Idaho; or the Commissioner of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C. Full and frank answers must be made to each question on the farm application blank, except that preference of farm units should not be listed.

(b) Filing of application and proofs. An application for a farm unit listed in this notice must be accompanied with proofs of veteran status and farm experience and married women's proofs of their status as the heads of families and must be filed with the Bureau of Reclamation, Burley, Idaho, or at the Hunt Unit Office, Eden, Idaho, either in person or by mail. No advantage will accrue to an applicant who presents his or her application in person.

(c) Priority of application. All applications for farm units listed in this notice which are received prior to 2:00 p. m. April 25, 1947, will be held and treated as filed simultaneously, except that applications of persons who do not establish their eligibility for veterans' preference, as outlined in paragraph 2 of this notice, will be set aside and will not be considered until July 25, 1947. Any application which is not accompanied by proof of veterans' preference as specified in paragraph 3 (c) above will be excluded from consideration with applications having preference proof. Applications received after 2:00 p. m., April 25, 1947, from persons with veterans' preference will be considered in the order filed if there are any farm units still available. If any farm units are still available on July 25, 1947, all applications from persons not eligible to receive veterans' preference which have been received up to that time will be considered as filed simultaneously in the awarding of any remaining farm units.

7. Selection of qualified applicants—(a) Examining board. An examining board of five members, including the Superintendent of the Minidoka Project, who will act as secretary of the board, has been approved by the Commissioner of Reclamation to determine the qualifications and fitness of each applicant to undertake the development and operation of a farm on the Minidoka Project. Careful investigations will be made to verify the statements and representations made by applicants in order to determine their qualifications as prescribed in paragraph 3 above. Any falsification or fraudulent representation made or discovered at any time will cause an application to be rejected.

(b) Basis of examination. The examining board will determine the eligibility for the award of a reclamation farm unit under subsection 4C of the act of December 5, 1924. Applicants will be judged on the basis of character, industry, farming experience and capital. No applicant will be considered eligible who does not qualify in all respects, or who does not, in the opinion of the board, possess the health and vigor to engage in farm work.

(c) Procedure—(1) Examination. If an applicant fails to make a prima facie case, that is, an examination of the application discloses that the applicant is unqualified in respect to the requirements prescribed herein, the application shall be rejected and the applicant notified by the board of examiners of such rejection by registered mail, with return receipt requested, and of the right to appeal in writing to the Regional Director, Bureau of Reclamation, P. O. Box 937, Boise, Idaho, within ten (10) days from the receipt of such notification. If an appeal is decided by the Regional Director in favor of the applicant, the application will be referred to the board of examiners for inclusion in final drawing. All decisions on appeals will be based exclusively on information obtained prior to rejection of the application.

(2) Selection of applicants and award of farm units. After the expiration of the appeal period fixed by the abovementioned notices and after the Regional Director has passed on such appeals, the board shall select the successful applicants at a public drawing from the names of all qualified applicants in the group whose applications were considered as filed simultaneously. Any qualified applicant may attend this drawing, but such attendance is unnecessary to protect his or her rights or chances thereunder. The drawing and selection will be conducted in the following manner for the 43 farm units opened to entry under this notice. The farm units shall be numbered consecutively from 1 to 43 in the order described herein without regard to relative desirability. The name of each qualified applicant will be written on a separate identical card. These cards will be deposited in a container from which they will be drawn. All names will be drawn and numbered consecutively. The first 43 names drawn will be considered the successful applicants and their names will be placed opposite the farm units bearing the same numbers as the order of drawing. All other applicants will be alternates, retaining their places in the order drawn, and will be offered such farm units as may become available because the applicants to whom the units had been originally awarded fail to complete their entry in accordance with paragraph 7 hereof. Alternates in the order drawn will be offered the right of entry to farm units in the order in which such units become available when they are not entered by the first selected applicants. An alternate will be ineligible for further consideration after being offered right of entry to a single farm unit. This procedure will continue until all farm units are finally disposed of to qualified veterans whose names were drawn as provided herein. In the event that there are farm units to be awarded after all applications that were filed simultaneously have been processed, consideration will be given to the application of other eligible veterans in the order filed. Farm units not awarded before July 25, 1947, will be open to entry by qualified applicants without regard to veterans' preference, in accordance with the procedure established by this public notice.

(3) Notification to applicants. Immediately after the drawing, the first forty-three (43) applicants drawn shall be notified, by registered mail with return receipt requested, and informed of their order in the drawing. All other qualified applicants shall be notified by regular mail of their order in said drawing.

8. Payment of construction installment and filing homestead applications. With each notification to a successful applicant, the applicant shall be advised that the first annual construction charge installment of one dollar per irrigable acre must be remitted to the office of the Project Superintendent, Bureau of Reclamation, Burley, Idaho, within 10 days from receipt of the said notice, as provided in paragraph 11 (a) of this public notice, in order to qualify the applicant to file a homestead application with the District Land Office at Blackfoot, Idaho. Upon receipt by the Project Superintendent of the first annual installment of construction charges from the applicant before the expiration of the said 10-day period, he, acting as the secretary of the examining board, will furnish each such applicant by registered mail, unless delivery is made in person, a certificate, stating that his or her qualifications to enter public lands, as required by subsection 4C of the act of December 5, 1924, have been passed upon and approved by the board. Such certificate must be attached by the applicant to his or her homestead application when the application is filed at the District Land Office. Such homestead application must be made within ten (10) days from the date of receipt of said certificate. Failure to pay the construction charge installment and to make application for homestead entry within the period specified herein will render the application subject to rejection.

9. Warning against unlawful settlement. No person shall be permitted to gain or exercise any right under any settlement or occupation of any of the public lands covered by this notice except under the terms and conditions prescribed by this notice.

10. Contract dated September 21, 1927. The lands covered by this notice are included in American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 which, under contract between said district and the United States dated September 21, 1927, copy of which is available for inspection in the Reclamation Bureau's project office at Hunt, Idaho, has agreed to pay the construction cost of the project as hereafter stated and determined by the Secretary of the Interior, and also an operation and maintenance charge to be determined by the Secretary of the Interior from year to year to cover a proportionate part of the cost of the operation and maintenance of certain works referred to as reserved works, including the American Falls Reservoir which is reserved for operation and maintenance by the United States, and also to pay the cost of the distribution and protection of stored water therefrom and the said district has agreed to operate and maintain the canal and lateral system constructed by the United States under said contract. The lands covered by this notice will be subject to construction and operation and maintenance charges to be determined in the manner provided in the said contract and to all the terms and conditions provided for in that contract. Pursuant to the provision of Article 41 of that contract, applicants for entry of public land and the owners of land held in private ownership for which water will be furnished pursuant to this notice will be required to execute and deliver a recordable contract which is designed to prevent land speculation based upon increased value of the land resulting from irrigation. Such contract will provide that in case of the sale of the land a portion of the sale price which exceeds the appraised value of the land shall be applied upon the construction charges against the land. The owners of land held in private ownership for which water will be furnished pursuant to this notice will also be required to execute the recordable contract required under Article 40 of the contract of September 21, 1927, which requires the sale of land in excess of 160 acres.

11. Water right charges—(a) Construction costs. Pursuant to the provisions of Article 64 of the contract of September 21, 1927, between the United States and American Falls Reservoir District No. 2, the construction charges payable on the above-described farm units and the lands in private ownership will be due in forty (40) annual installments and will be based on the cost of the works and rights to be provided by the United States under said contract. In accordance with the provisions of the contract of September 21, 1927, the first five of such annual installments are hereby established as one dollar ($1.00) per irrigable acre, for the irrigable acreage as shown on the above list of lands. In the case of public lands, the first of said annual installments shall be paid for the year of 1947 to the project superintendent by the selected homestead applicants before the issuance of the certificates of eligibility by the project superintendent. Subsequent installments of $1.00 per irrigable acre shall be due on December 31 of each of the four succeeding years. The amounts of further installments will be governed by the determination of the Secretary of the Interior of the actual cost of the works and rights to be furnished to the district under the said contract of September 21, 1927, and by the announcement of the amounts of said installments. In the event that an applicant fails to complete his or her homestead entry, any money paid to the United States on account of construction charges as herein specified will be refunded to such applicant. The owners of private land to which water will be delivered under this notice will be required to make the same payments as entrymen on public lands. The initial payment of $1.00 per irrigable acre shall be paid by such landowners to American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 before the commencement of water deliveries in the irrigation season of 1947. All payments of construction charges, except the initial payment of $1.00 per irrigable acre as specified herein, shall be due and payable to the district in accordance with the provisions of the said contract of September 21, 1927. The current estimate of construction costs for new lands of the Gooding Division of the Minidoka Project is about $90.00 per irrigable acre.

(b) Operation and maintenance charges. American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 is responsible for the operation and maintenance of the constructed works in the Gooding Division as provided in the said contract of September 21, 1927. The district may levy assessments from time to time to pay its costs in the discharge of this obligation and all payments due the district on account of such operation and maintenance shall be paid to the district as provided in said contract. (During the calendar year 1947 the district's operation and maintenance charge on similar new lands will be $0.50 per irrigable acre.)

12. Reservation of rights of way for public roads. Rights of way are reserved for public roads on section lines in the farm units shown on said plats, said rights of way being twenty-five (25) feet in width on each side of said section lines.

13. Reservation for rights of way for publicly owned utilities. Rights of way are reserved for government-owned telephone, electric transmission, water and sewer lines, and water treating and pumping plants and for such utilities owned, or to be owned, by the settlers on the Gooding Division. There is also reserved to the Secretary of the Interior the right to locate such other government-owned facilities over and across the farm units above described as shall hereafter, in his opinion, be necessary for the proper construction, operation and maintenance of the said division.

14. Federal assistance in land development. The Bureau of Reclamation, as an incident to the completion of the project, will assist entrymen, in appropriate cases and on a reimbursable basis, in the development of farm units, which assistance will include clearing and rough leveling the land, roughing in of farm irrigation and surface drainage sysems beyond the farm turnouts.

15. Effect of relinquishment. In the event that any entry of public land shall be relinquished prior to 2:00 p. m., July 25, 1947, lands so relinquished shall be subject to entry in accordance with paragraphs 6 and 7 of this notice. In the event that any entry of public land shall be relinquished subsequent to 2:00 p. m., July 25, 1947, and at any time prior to full compliance with the homestead laws through residence, cultivation and improvement of the land, the lands so relinquished shall not be subject to entry for a period of sixty (60) days after the filing and notation of the relinquishment in the local Land Office. For ten (10) days after the expiration of such 60-day period any person having the necessary qualifications may file application to enter said public land. If the number of applicants filing during such 10-day period shall exceed the number of available farm units, the right to enter such farm units shall be determined in accordance with the procedure described in paragraphs 6 and 7 of this notice.

16. Waiver of mineral rights. All homestead entries for the above-described farm units will be subject to the laws of the United States governing mineral land, and all homestead applicants under this notice must waive the right to the mineral content of the land, if required to do so by the Bureau of Land Management, otherwise the homestead applications will be rejected or the homestead entry or entries canceled.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF ANNUAL WATER CHARGES

MARCH 18, 1947.

1. Annual operation and maintenance charges for lands under public notice, Reservation Division. The minimum operation and maintenance charge for the calendar year 1947, and thereafter until further notice, against all lands of the Reservation Division under public notice shall be $4.00 per irrigable acre, whether water is used or not, payment of which will entitle the water user to 5 acre-feet of water per acre on certain sandy areas shown on the list attached to public notices No. 31 dated April 14, 1931, No. 40 dated March 1, 1935, No. 43 dated February 17, 1936, No. 47 dated March 5, 1937, and No. 49 dated March 28, 1938, and to 4 acre-feet of water per acre on all other lands of the division. Additional water, if available, will be furnished at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot. Where in the opinion of the Project Superintendent it may be done without interference with other project requirements, upon written request filed in advance by the water users, water will be furnished free of charge for reclaiming lands by the removal of alkali either by growing rice or similar crops or by the usual leaching methods, and water in excess of the minimum amount herein provided, which is to be used for the growing of fertilizer crops of no commercial value or which is to be used for the purpose of depositing silt upon the land, shall be furnished free of charge. All lands for which free water was served during the preceding year will not again be served free water until evidence satisfactory to the Project Superintendent has been made that the water so granted free of charge during the preceding year was applied to the land in sufficient quantities over a period of not less than 3 months, in which event water shall again be served free of charge provided the results accomplished during the preceding irrigation season were not satisfactory. All operation and maintenance charges shall be due and payable on March 1 of each year for the preceding irrigation season.

2. Annual water rental charges for other lands, Reservation Division. Lands not under public notice that can be irrigated from the present distribution system without further construction expense by the Bureau may secure irrigation water under water rental contracts at a rate of $4.00 per irrigable acre, which charge will permit the delivery of 4 acre-feet of water per acre, and additional water will be delivered at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot. All charges due under water rental contracts are payable in advance of the delivery of water. The minimum charge as specified shall be paid before any water is delivered during the current or subsequent seasons and all additional or excess water over the minimum of 4 acre-feet shall be paid for when ordered and prior to delivery. Refund will be made for excess water paid for but not used.

3. Annual water rental charge for lands in the Valley Division not under public notice. Lands in the Valley Division not under public notice which can be irrigated from the present distribution system without further construction expense by the United States may secure irrigation water under water rental contracts at a rate of $6.50 per irrigable acre, which charge will permit the delivery of 4 acre-feet per acre. Additional water furnished will be charged for at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot, payable in advance of delivery. All town lots that can be served under the present system may secure water under annual water rental contracts at the rate of $5.00 a lot and $1.00 for each additional lot in the same township, considering the maximum lot to be not over sixty (60) feet in width. All payments under water rental contracts are due and payable in advance of the delivery of water.

4. Place of Payment. All payments should be made to the Agent-Cashier, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona. (Act of June 17, 1902, 32 Stat. 388, as amended or supplemented)

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MARCH 24, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on March 5, 1947, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation, having its principal places of business at Kansas City, Missouri, and Chicago, Illinois, and doing business in the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing Applicant to construct and operate a series of 26-inch O. D. loop lines and additional compressor horsepower, as follows:

(a) West of Liberal (Kansas) compressor station:

(1) 59.5 miles of pipe line;
(2) 9400 H. P. additional compressor units.

(b) Liberal compressor station and east:

(1) 298.26 miles of pipe line;
(2) 28,200 H. P. additional compressor units.

Applicant states that when completed and in operation said facilities will increase Applicant's system peak-day designed capacity to approximately 580,000 Mcf. The total cost is estimated to be $23,464,000.

Applicant states that it produces natural gas from leasehold acreage located in the states of Texas and Kansas, and purchases natural gas produced in the states of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, and that it owns and controls reserves of natural gas adequate to supply its present market requirements and the increased market requirements contemplated by the application for a period of more than 25 years.

Applicant states that the proposed facilities are necessary to make available additional volumes of gas for the rendering of adequate and uninterrupted service to its customers.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

The application of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. [Docket No. G-877]

PENN-YORK NATIONAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MARCH 24, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on March 10, 1947, Penn-York Natural Gas Corporation (Applicant), a Pennsylvania corporation with its principal place of business in Buffalo, New York, and authorized to do business in the States of Pennsylvania and New York, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing applicant to construct and operate the following facilities:

Two 150 H. P. gas driven compressor units at its main line compressor station known as Arcade Station located in the Town of Arcade, Wyoming County, New York.

Applicant states that the facilities proposed to be installed are in addition to the one 150 H. P. compressor unit installed under order of the Commission in Docket No. G–833.

Applicant states that it presently owns and operates a pipeline which extends from Potter County, Pennsylvania to the distribution lines of Republic Light, Heat and Power Co., Inc. at two points known respectively as Billo Station, Erie County, New York, and Sheridan Station, Chautauqua County, New York. Applicant presently purchases the bulk of the gas it transports and sells to Republic Light, Heat and Power Co., Inc., from New York State Natural Gas Corporation.

Applicant proposes to install one of the above described compressor units in June 1947 and the other in December 1947. When the last unit is installed in December 1947 the intake pressure for the Arcade station will be as low as 100 pounds p. s. i. g., and the discharge pressure as high as 300 pounds p. s. i. g. The volume of gas proposed to be handled at the Arcade compressor station is 10,000 Mcf. daily.

Applicant states that the proposed facilities are necessary to handle the now known gas load which exists on Applicant's system, are for the betterment of Applicant's facilities, and are necessary in order to maintain efficient service to its customers. It is expected that volumes of gas to meet the larger demands of Applicant's system may be available during the winter of 1947–48.

The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $57,500, to be financed from Applicant's current funds. Installation thereof will be done by Applicant's personnel.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing together with reasons for such request.

The application of Penn-York Natural Gas Corporation is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or explaining specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted with respect to the application.

[Docket No. G–875]

INDUSTRIAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF PETITION

MARCH 24, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on March 3, 1947, Industrial Gas Corporation (Petitioner), a West Virginia corporation, having its principal place of business at Charleston, West Virginia, and authorized to do business only in that state, filed a Petition pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for an order directing Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company (Respondent) to deliver and sell natural gas to Petitioner at an existing inter-connection with Respondent's main pipeline.

Petitioner states that it is presently, and since 1940 has been engaged in the production, purchase, transportation and sale of natural gas for local consumption in the state of West Virginia; that it produces and purchases natural gas in Wayne County, West Virginia, which it gathers and transports to the International Nickel Company's plant in Huntington, Cabell County, West Virginia, which plant is Petitioner's principal customer; that it also sells small amounts of gas for domestic purposes to right-of-way grantors and delivers free gas to certain lessors as required under its gas leases. It is further stated that under temporary authority granted by the Federal Power Commission in Docket No. G–789, Petitioner purchased gas from Respondent on September 26, 27, and 28, 1946.

Petitioner estimates the total requirements of its present customers and of those who have applied for service, the volume of West Virginia gas available to Petitioner from its own wells and those of its vendors, and the required volumes of gas to be supplied from outside sources, in the future to be as follows (in M. c. f.):

Year	Total requirements	Available from local sources	To be supplied from outside sources
1947	825,000	360,250	464,750
1948	825,000	320,250	504,750
1949	1,550,000	285,000	1,265,000
1950	1,750,000	240,000	1,510,000
1951	2,000,000	200,000	1,800,000
1952	2,150,000	160,000	1,990,000

Petitioner alleges that during the period of its operation it has purchased all available local gas it could get, and has endeavored to purchase gas from every other gas company operating within the area, without success. It is alleged that Respondent operates the only natural gas pipeline which brings gas from outside the Appalachian region into the area in which Petitioner operates, and is thus the only primary source from which Petitioner can obtain the additional supply of gas required by it.

Petitioner alleges that at the time of the construction of Respondent's pipeline, a connection was made between said pipeline and Petitioner's pipeline at a point near Dixon, Wayne County, West Virginia. It is further alleged that the necessary meters, regulators and other equipment were installed, pursuant to the specifications of Respondent, so as to make a permanent delivery point from the pipeline of Respondent into Petitioner's system, and that no additional facilities or investment on the part of either company will be required to enable Respondent to provide the requested service. Petitioner states that its existing 8-inch pipeline extending from such inter-connection a distance of approximately 7½ miles into Huntington, West Virginia, has adequate capacity to handle Petitioner's estimated future requirements without further additions or investment on the part of Petitioner.

Petitioner alleges that it is necessary and desirable in the public interest that Respondent be required to deliver and sell to Petitioner such quantities of natural gas as Petitioner may need to serve its customers.

The petition of Industrial Gas Corporation is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the petition shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined. NOTICE OF FILING OF SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 20th day of March 1947,

In the matter of The Middle West Corporation, Central and South West Utilities Company and American Public Service Company; File No. 54-81.

The Commission, by order dated April 30, 1946, having approved a plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 jointly by The Middle West Corporation (Middle West), a registered holding company, and Central and South West Utilities Company (Central), and American Public Service Company (American), registered holding company subsidiaries of Middle West, providing, among other things, for the merger and reorganization of Central and American, and for disposition by Middle West of shares of the merged company to be acquired under the terms of the plan, subject, among other things, to the condition that the proposed transactions be carried out within sixty days from the entry of an order by an appropriate United States District Court to enforce the Plan; and such order having been entered on June 19, 1946 by the United States District Court for the District of Delaware; and

The Commission, by orders dated August 16, 1946, October 17, 1946 and December 18, 1946, having by successive extensions granted therein extended to February 19, 1947 the time within which the transactions proposed in said plan should be consummated:

Notice is hereby given that Middle West has filed a supplemental application stating that the transactions provided for under the plan of merger and reorganization of Central and American have been consummated except, among other things, the distribution by Middle West to its own stockholders of the shares of common stock of Central and South West Corporation, the surviving company, to be received by it under the plan, that it has not been physically possible for Middle West to make such distribution under all the circumstances within the time permitted by the order, and that it will not be feasible to effect such distribution for sometime in the future, and requesting that the time for compliance with that portion of the order of April 30, 1946, relating to such distribution of the common stock of the surviving company be extended to June 30, 1947.

Middle West states in the said supplemental application that Central and South West Corporation contemplates increasing the number of its directors from seven to nine, and that Middle West proposes to vote the stock it owns in Central and South West Corporation in favor of the election of two additional independent directors, preferably residents of the area served by the Central system; and

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said supplemental application and that said supplemental application should not be granted except pursuant to further order of this Commission:

It is ordered, That a hearing on said supplemental application under the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations of the Commission promulgated thereunder be held on April 7, 1947, at 2:30 p. m., e. s. t., at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. At such hearing cause shall be shown why said supplemental application should be granted.

All persons desiring to be heard in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before April 3, 1947, his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the application, and upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration by the Commission without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

Whether the extension of time for compliance with our order of April 30, 1946, as modified, and the proposal to increase the Board of Directors of Central and South West Corporation from seven to nine members are in the public interest and interest of investors or consumers, and whether, in the event the application is approved, any terms or conditions should be imposed.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this notice and order by registered mail to Middle West, Central, American, Central and South West Corporation, to all persons who have heretofore applied for or who have been granted participation in the proceedings, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area. It is hereby found upon the basis of evidence introduced at such hearing, in addition to the other findings made prior to or at the time of the original issuance of said order and of each amendment thereto (which findings are hereby ratified and affirmed, save only as such findings are in conflict with the findings hereinafter set forth), that:

(1) The order regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk, as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8e of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices set forth in the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found that a pro rata assessment on handlers at a rate not to exceed 2 cents per hundredweight with respect to all receipts by the handler, during each delivery period, of producer milk (including the handler's own production), and of other source milk classified as Class I milk and Glass II milk, will provide the funds necessary for the maintenance and functions of the market administrator in the administration of this order and such assessment is hereby approved.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (including cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in the processing, distributing, or shipping of the milk covered by this order, as amended) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order further amending the aforesaid order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least three-fourths of the producers who, during the determined representative period (December 1946), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is hereby ordered, That such handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended to read as follows:

(b) Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in paragraphs (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), and (h) of this section, the classes of utilization shall be:

(1) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat disposed of in fluid form as (i) milk; skim milk or buttermilk, except for livestock feed; or flavored milk or flavored milk drink; and (ii) all skim milk and butterfat not accounted for as Class II milk or Class III milk.

(2) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers and used in such class;

(i) The pounds of butterfat in other source milk received in the form of milk or skim milk;

(ii) The difference by which the pounds of butterfat received in producer milk are less than 1.2 times the pounds of butterfat in the handler's Class I milk, not including that disposed of to other fluid milk plants; and

(iii) The total pounds of butterfat in other source milk less the amount of the butterfat shrinkage on other source milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(4) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk other than (i) butterfat shrinkage on other source milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and (ii) butterfat in other source milk determined pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph;

(5) Subtract pro rata from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk determined pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph; and

(6) Add to the pounds of butterfat remaining in Class III milk the pounds of butterfat shrinkage in producer milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; or if the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remining pounds of butterfat in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

(g) Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to producer milk in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in paragraph (f) of this section.

(h) Determination of producer milk in each class. Add the pounds of butterfat and pounds of skim milk allocated to producer milk in each class, respectively, as computed pursuant to paragraphs (f) and (g) of this section, and determine the percentage of butterfat in each class.

§ 930.5 Minimum prices.—(a) Class prices. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, each handler shall pay not less than the following prices per hundredweight, on the basis of 3.5 percent butterfat content, for producer milk received.

(i) Multiply by six the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period;

(ii) Add an amount equal to 2.4 times the arithmetical average of the weekly prevailing price per pound of "Twins" during the delivery period on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin: Provided, That if the price of "Twins" is not quoted on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange the weekly prevailing price per pound of "Cheddars" shall be used; and

(iii) Divide by seven, and add 30 percent thereof, and then multiply by 3.5.

(3) The price per hundredweight computed by adding together the plus values pursuant to subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph:

(i) From the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, subtract three cents, add 20 percent thereof, and then multiply by 3.5; and

(ii) From the arithmetical average of the carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids (not including that specifically designated animal feed), spray and roller process, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5, and then multiply by 0.965, except that if such agency does not publish such prices f. o. b. manufacturing plants, there shall be used for the purpose of this computation the arithmetical average of the carlot prices thereof, delivered at Chicago, Illinois, as published weekly by such agency during the delivery period; and in the latter event the figure "7.5" shall be substituted for "5.5" in the above formula.

(c) Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the weighted average butterfat test of that portion of producer milk which is classified, respectively, in any class of utilization for a handler, pursuant to § 930.4 (h), is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to, or subtracted from, as the case may be, the price for such class of utilization, for each one-tenth of one percent that such weighted average butterfat test is above or below, respectively, 3.5 percent, a butterfat differential (computed to the nearest tenth of a cent) calculated for each class of utilization as follows:

(1) Class I milk. Multiply by 1.3 the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, and divide the result by 10;

(2) Class II milk. Multiply by 1.25 the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, and divide the result by 10; and

(3) Class III milk. Multiply by 1.2 the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, and divide the result by 10.

(d) Emergency price provisions. Whenever the provisions hereof require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining minimum class prices or for any other purpose, the market administrator shall add to the specified price the amount of any subsidy, or other similar payment, being made by any Federal agency in connection with the milk, or product, associated with the price specified: Provided, That if for any reason the price specified is not reported or published as indicated, the market administrator shall use the applicable maximum price established by regulations of any Federal agency plus the amount of such subsidy or other similar payment: Provided further, That if the specified price is not reported or published and there is no applicable maximum uniform price, or if the specified price is not reported or published and the Secretary determines that the market price is below the applicable maximum uniform price, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

§ 930.6 Handler's obligation and uniform price—(a) Value of milk. The value of producer milk of each handler for each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the respective class prices pursuant to § 930.5, the amounts in each class computed pursuant to § 930.4 (b), and adding together such amounts: Provided, That if a handler, after the subtraction of other source milk and receipts from other handlers, has disposed of skim milk or butterfat in excess of the skim milk or butterfat which on the basis of his report for the delivery period pursuant to § 930.3 (a), has been credited to his producers as having been received from them, there shall be added an amount computed by multiplying the pounds in each class as subtracted pursuant to paragraphs (f) (6) and (g) of § 930.4 by the applicable class prices.

(b) Uniform price. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute for each handler a "uniform price" per hundredweight, on the basis of 3.5 percent butterfat content, for producer milk received by such handler as follows:

(1) From the value of milk computed for such handler pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, deduct, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk received by him is greater than 3.5 percent or add, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the variance of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 930.7 (c) multiplied by 10;

(2) Add or subtract, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors in classification for previous delivery periods as disclosed by audit of the market administrator;

(3) Adjust the resulting amount by the sum of money used in adjusting the uniform price, pursuant to subparagraph (5) of this paragraph, for the previous delivery period to the nearest cent;

(4) Divide the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk represented by the value computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(5) Adjust the resulting figure to the nearest cent.

(c) Notification. On or before the 12th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall mail to each handler, at his last known address, a statement showing:

(1) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class;

(2) The uniform price for such handler pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 930.7 (c); and

(3) The totals of the amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 930.8 and 930.9.

§ 930.7 Payment for milk—(a) Time and method of final payment. On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from such producer during such delivery period at not less than the uniform price for such handler adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Partial payments. On or before the last day of each delivery period, each handler shall make payment to each producer at not less than the uniform price for such handler for the preceding delivery period, for milk received from such producer by such handler during the first 15 days of such delivery period: Provided, That in the event such producer discontinues shipping to such handler during the delivery period, such partial payments shall not be made and full payment for all milk received from such producer during the delivery period shall be made on the 15th day after the end of the delivery period pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section the uniform price for each handler shall be adjusted, for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk of each producer above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential (computed to the nearest multiple of one-half cent) calculated as follows: Multiply by 1.2 the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, and divide the result by 10.

§ 930.8 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of expense incurred pursuant to § 930.2 (c) (4), each handler shall pay the market administrator, on or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period, 2 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to receipts, during the delivery period, of (1) milk from producers (including such handler's own production), and (2) other source milk received at a fluid milk plant and classified as Class I milk or Class II milk.

§ 930.9 Marketing services—(a) Deductions for marketing services. Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers pursuant to § 930.7 (a), with respect to all milk received from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production), at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct 4 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe; and on or before the 15th day after the end of such delivery period, shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Cooperative associations. In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to § 930.7 (a) as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 15th day after the end of such delivery period to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

§ 930.10 Adjustments of accounts—(a) Errors in payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (1) the market administrator from such handler, or such handler from the market administrator pursuant to §§ 930.8 or 930.9, or (2) any producer or cooperative association from such handler pursuant to § 930.7, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and said payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

§ 930.11 Application of provisions—(a) Exempt milk. Milk received at a plant of a handler the handling of which the Secretary determines to be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for any fluid milk marketing area shall not be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of this part.

(b) Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to herein as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered directly from the farm to the fluid milk plant of such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk.

(c) Diverted milk. (1) Producer milk diverted by an operator of a fluid milk plant from such plant to a nonhandler's plant shall be deemed to have been received by the fluid milk plant from which such milk was diverted.

(2) Producer milk diverted by a cooperative association from a fluid milk plant to a nonhandler's plant shall be deemed to have been received by such association.

(d) Producer-handlers. Sections 930.4, 930.5, 930.6, 930.7, 930.8, 930.9, and 930.10 shall not apply to the milk of a producer-handler.

§ 930.12 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or of any amendment to this part, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 930.13 Suspension or termination—(a) When suspended or terminated. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that this part, or any provision thereof, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this part or any such provision thereof.

(b) Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

(c) Liquidation. Upon the suspension of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 930.14 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 930.15 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of March 1947, to be effective on and after the 1st day of April 1947.

AUTHORITY: §§ 935.0 to 935.11, inclusive, issued under 48 Stat. 31, 670, 675, 49 Stat. 750, 50 Stat. 246; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.

§ 935.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq.; 10 F. R. 11791; 11 F. R. 7737; 12 F. R. 1159), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said tentatively approved marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(3) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8e of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supply of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

The foregoing findings are supplementary to and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments hereto; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this order, as amended) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area, refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, as amended and as hereby further amended, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order, as amended and as hereby further amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period, November 1946, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered. That from and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Omaha-Council Bluffs marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of this order, as amended.

(5) Skim milk and butterfat received by a handler as other source milk shall be classified in the lowest class in which such handler has use.

(6) Skim milk and butterfat received by a handler as emergency milk shall be ratably apportioned over the receiving handler's total utilization of milk.

(7) Skim milk and butterfat of a handler's own production shall be ratably apportioned over such handler's total utilization of producer milk.

(d) Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (1) In establishing the classification of skim milk and butterfat as required in paragraph (b) of this section, the burden rests upon the handler who received such skim milk or butterfat from producers or associations of producers to prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should not be classified as Class I milk.

(2) Any skim milk or butterfat which has been classified by the market administrator shall be reclassified, if found by him to have been used or disposed of (whether in original or other form) by such handler or by any other handler or nonhandler in another class.

(e) Computation of all skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and shall compute the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk as follows:

(1) Compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat received by adding together the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat (i) contained in the milk, skim milk, and cream, and (ii) used to produce the milk products (except milk products disposed of in the form in which received without further processing or packaging by the handler) received from all sources;

(2) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class I by (i) converting to pounds on the basis of 2.15 pounds per quart the volume disposed of in each of the several items of Class I milk, (ii) multiplying each of the resulting amounts by its average butterfat test, (iii) adding together the results so obtained, and (iv) adding an amount equal to the difference between the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (iii), (4) (ii) and (6) of this paragraph;

(3) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class I by (i) subtracting from the total pounds of Class I milk determined pursuant to subparagraph (2) (i) of this paragraph, the pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) (iii) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the weight of the flavoring materials used in flavored milk drinks, and (iii) adding an amount equal to the difference between the total pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and the total pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraphs (3) (ii), (5) (ii), and (7) of this paragraph;

(4) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class II by (i) multiplying the actual weight of each of the several items of Class II milk by its average butterfat test, and (ii) adding the results so obtained;

(5) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class II by (i) adding together the actual weights of each of the several items of Class II, and (ii) subtracting the pounds of butterfat determined pursuant to subparagraph (4) (ii) of this paragraph;

(6) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class III by (i) multiplying by its average butterfat content the actual weight of each of the several items of Class III milk, (ii) adding together the resulting amounts, and (iii) adding, the amount of butterfat allowed as plant shrinkage pursuant to subparagraph (8) of this paragraph;

(7) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class III by (i) computing the total pounds of skim milk used to produce each of the several items of Class III milk, (ii) adding together the resulting amounts, and (iii) adding the amount of skim milk allowed as plant shrinkage pursuant to subparagraph (9) of this paragraph;

(8) The amount of butterfat to be allowed as plant shrinkage shall be the smaller of the following amounts: (i) 2 percent of the total receipts of butterfat by the handler, exclusive of receipts from other handlers which are not cooperative associations, or (ii) the amount, if any, by which the sum of the pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (iii), (4) (ii) and (6) (ii) of this paragraph is less than the total receipts of butterfat by the handler; and

(9) The amount of skim milk to be allowed as plant shrinkage shall be the smaller of the following amounts: (i) 5 percent of the total receipts of skim milk by the handler, exclusive of receipts from other handlers which are not cooperative associations; or (ii) the amount, if any, by which the sum of the pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraphs (3) (ii), (5) (ii) and (7) (ii) of this paragraph are less than the total receipts of skim milk by the handler.

(f) Computation of the classification of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk for each handler. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute for each handler the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat of producer milk in each class by making the following computations in the order specified: (1) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class III the pounds of actual plant shrinkage allocated to producer milk computed by multiplying the respective amounts of plant shrinkage computed pursuant to paragraphs (e) (8) and (9) by the percentages that skim milk and butterfat in receipts of producer milk are to total receipts of skim milk and butterfat by the handler, exclusive of receipts from other handlers.

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in series beginning with the lowest-priced classes the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received as other source milk.

(3) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class, the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, contained in the receipts of emergency milk.

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class, the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat respectively received from other handlers and stated by the receiving handler to have been used in such class: Provided, That if the skim milk or butterfat allocated by such statements to Class III or Class II is in excess of the amount of skim milk or butterfat remaining in such class, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the next higher-priced available class.

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat respectively in Class III the pounds of actual plant shrinkage allocated to producer milk and subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(6) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class the pounds of skim milk and butterfat of the handler's own production.

(7) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class the pounds of skim milk and butterfat received from a cooperative association which is a handler.

(8) If the sum of the amounts of skim milk or butterfat remaining in all classes, after making the above computations is greater than the handlers' receipts of skim milk or butterfat from producers, decrease the amount of skim milk or butterfat in the lowest-priced available class or classes by the amount of such excess.

§ 935.5 Minimum prices—(a) Basic formula price to be used in computing class prices. The basic formula price to be used in computing the minimum prices per hundredweight for Class I milk and Class II milk for each delivery period shall be the higher of the prices calculated pursuant to subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

(1) The average of the basic (or field) prices reported to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received during the next preceding delivery period at the following plants for which prices are reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture, divided by 3.5 percent, and multiplied by 3.8 percent and adjusted to the nearest cent:

Concern and Location of Plant

Amboy Milk Products Co., Amboy, Ill.
Borden Co., Dixon, Ill.
Borden Co., Sterling, Ill.
Carnation Milk Co., Northfield, Minn.
Carnation Milk Co., Oregon, Ill.
Carnation Milk Co., Waverly, Iowa.
Dean Milk Co., Pearl City, Ill.
Dean Milk Co., Pecatonica, Ill.
Fort Dodge Creamery Co., Fort Dodge, Iowa.
Libby, McNeill & Libby Co., Morrison, Ill.
Pet Milk Co., Shullsburg, Wis.
United Milk Products Co., Argo Fay, Ill.

(2) The price adjusted to the nearest cent, calculated by the market administrator as follows: (i) To the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk is received, add or subtract one-fourth cent for each cent that such price is above or below 20 cents, (ii) multiply the result by 3.8, (iii) add 21 cents, and (iv) add 3 cents for each full one-half cent that the price of nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption is above 7 cents per pound. The price per pound of nonfat dry milk solids to be used shall be the arithmetical average of the carlot prices, both spray and roller process, for human consumption delivered at Chicago, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period, including in such average, the quotations for any part of the preceding delivery period which were not published and available for the determination of the price of such nonfat dry milk solids for the previous delivery period. In the event the Department of Agriculture does not publish carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption delivered at Chicago, the average of the carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plant as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the Chicago area shall be used and 3 cents shall be added for each full one-half cent that the latter price is above 6 cents per pound.

(b) Class prices. Each handler shall pay at the time and in the manner set forth in § 935.7 not less than the prices set forth in this paragraph for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received during the delivery period at such handler's plant.

(1) Class I. The price per hundredweight for Class I milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, plus 75 cents.

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class I milk shall be computed by adding $15.00 to the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph for butterfat in Class III milk.

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class I milk shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.8 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph, (c) dividing the result by 0.962, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(2) Class II. The price per hundredweight for Class II milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, plus 40 cents.

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class II milk shall be computed by adding $15.00 to the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph for butterfat in Class III milk.

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class II milk shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.8 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph, (c) dividing the result by 0.962, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(3) Class III. The price per hundredweight for Class III milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be that computed pursuant to the formula contained in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class III shall be computed by (a) adding to or subtracting from the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, one-fourth cent for each cent that such price is above or below 20 cents per pound, (b) adjusting to the nearest cent, and (c) multiplying the result by 100.

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class III shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.8 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph, (c) dividing the resulting sum by 0.962, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(c) Emergency price provision. Whenever the provisions hereof require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining minimum class prices or for any other purpose, the market administrator shall add to the specified price the amount of any subsidy, or other similar payment, being made by any Federal agency in connection with the milk, or product, associated with the price specified: Provided, That if for any reason the price specified is not reported or published as indicated, the market administrator shall use the applicable maximum uniform price established by regulations of any Federal agency plus the amount of any such subsidy or other similar payment: Provided further, That if the specified price is not reported or published and there is no applicable maximum uniform price, or if the specified price is not reported or published and the Secretary determines that the market price is below the applicable maximum uniform price, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

§ 935.6 Determination of uniform price to producers—(a) Computation of the total value of milk received from producers by each handler. The value of the milk received by each handler from producers during each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class computed pursuant to § 935.4 (f) by the applicable class prices, adding together the resulting amounts, and adding any sums owed by the handler pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(1) If a handler, after subtracting all receipts of other source milk and emergency milk and receipts of producer milk from other handlers which are not cooperative associations, has disposed of skim milk or butterfat in excess of the skim milk or butterfat reported to have been received by him from producers, the market administrator in computing the value of the milk of such handler in accordance with this paragraph shall add an amount computed by multiplying the amounts of skim milk and butterfat subtracted pursuant to § 935.4 (f) (8) by the applicable class prices.

(b) Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute a uniform price per hundredweight for producer milk by:

(1) Combining into one total the values computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section for all handlers who filed the reports pursuant to § 935.3, and who made the payments required pursuant to § 935.7 for the previous delivery period.

(2) Adding an amount equal to not less than one-half the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund.

(3) Subtracting, if the average butterfat content of the producer milk included in these computations is more than 3.8 percent, or adding if such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.8 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 935.7 (a) (3) and multiplying the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations.

(4) Dividing the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations.

(5) Subtracting not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the "uniform price" per hundredweight for producer milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content.

(c) Notification of handlers. On or before the 7th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(1) The amount and value of his milk in each class computed pursuant to § 935.4 (f) and (a), respectively, and the totals of such amounts and values;

(2) The uniform price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section;

(3) The amount, if any, due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund; and

(4) The total amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 935.7 and 935.8.

§ 935.7 Payments for milk—(a) Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment for milk which he received from producers or cooperative associations in the following manner:

(1) Final payment. On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall make payment for milk which was received during the delivery period:

(i) To each producer for milk which was not caused to be delivered by a cooperative association for the account of such association at not less than the uniform price per hundredweight computed pursuant to § 935.6 (b) subject to the butterfat differential set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, and less the amount of the payment made to such producer pursuant to subparagraph (2) (i) of this paragraph.

(ii) To a cooperative association which is a handler for milk which was caused to be delivered by such cooperative association for its account at not less than the class prices for such milk according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 935.4 (f) (7) less the amount of the payment made pursuant to subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph.

(2) Mid-delivery period payment. On or before the 25th day of each delivery period each handler shall make payment for milk which was received during the first 15 days of the delivery period:

(i) To each producer for milk which was not caused to be delivered by a cooperative association for the account of such association at not less than the uniform price which was announced by the market administrator for the immediately preceding delivery period.

(ii) To a cooperative association which is a handler for milk which was caused to be delivered by such cooperative association for its account at not less than the uniform price which was announced by the market administrator for the immediately preceding delivery period.

(3) Butterfat differential to producers. If any handler has received from any producer during the delivery period, milk having an average butterfat content other than 3.8 percent, such handler, in making the payment pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of this section shall add to the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.8 percent not less than, or shall deduct from the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.8 percent not more than an amount computed by the market administrator as follows: Divide the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, by 10 and adjust to the nearest cent.

(b) Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (3) of this paragraph, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph.

(1) Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 8th day after the end of each delivery period each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the total value of the milk received from producers by such handler computed pursuant to § 935.6 (a) is greater than the amount obtained by multiplying the hundredweight of milk received by such handler from producers by the uniform price, adjusted by the butterfat differential provided in paragraph (a) (3) of this section.

(2) Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, for payment to producers, the amount, if any, by which the total value of the milk received from producers by such handler computed pursuant to § 935.6 (a) is less than the amount obtained by multiplying the hundredweight of milk received by such handler from producers by the uniform price, adjusted by the butterfat differential provided in paragraph (a) (3) of this section.

(3) Adjustments of errors in producer-settlement fund. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors made in payments to or from the producer-settlement fund pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 5 days, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler, the market administrator shall, within 5 days, make such payment to such handler.

(c) Adjustments of errors in payments to producers. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or to a cooperative association, discloses payment of less than is required by paragraph (a) of this section, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payments next following such disclosure.

§ 935.8 Expense of administration—(a) Payments by handlers. As his prorata share of the expense of administration hereof each handler, except a producer-handler, on or before the 10th day after the end of the delivery period shall pay to the market administrator, with respect to all milk received from producers or from a cooperative association, an amount per hundredweight, not to exceed 2 cents per hundredweight, which is announced by the market administrator on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period, subject to review by the Secretary. As its prorata share of the expense of administration hereof, a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 10th day after the end of the delivery, with respect to the milk of any producer which it causes to be delivered to the plant of a nonhandler, an amount per hundredweight equivalent to that required to be paid by other handlers pursuant to this paragraph.

(b) Suits by the market administrator. The market administrator may maintain a suit in his own name against any handler for the collection of such handler's prorata share of expense set forth in this section.

§ 935.9 Effective time, suspension, and termination—(a) Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated, pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Suspension and termination. Any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment hereto, shall be suspended or terminated as to any or all handlers after such reasonable notice as the Secretary may give, and shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

(c) Continuing power and duty. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations arising hereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any handlers, by the market administrator, or by any other person, the power and duty to perform such further acts shall continue notwithstanding such suspension or termination: Provided, That any such acts required to be performed by the market administrator shall, if the Secretary so directs, be performed by such other person, persons, or agency as the Secretary may designate.

The market administrator, or such other person as the Secretary may designate (1) shall continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary, (2) from time to time account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all funds or property on hand, together with the books and records of the market administrator, or such person, to such person as the Secretary shall direct, and (3) if so directed by the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title to all funds, property, and claims vested in the market administrator or such person pursuant hereto.

(d) Liquidation after suspension or termination. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator, or such person as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under his control, together with claims for any funds which are unpaid and owing at the time of such suspension or termination. Any funds collected pursuant to the provisions of this part over and above the amounts necessary to meet outstanding obligations and the expenses necessarily incurred by the market administrator or such person in liquidating and distributing such funds, shall be distributed to the contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 935.10 Liability—(a) Liability of handlers. The liability of the handlers hereunder is several and not joint, and no handler shall be liable for the default of any other handler.

§ 935.11 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States, or name any bureau or division in the United States Department of Agriculture, to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

PART 945—MILK IN WASHINGTON, D. C., MARKETING AREA

TERMINATION OF ORDER, AS AMENDED

It is provided in Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act," that the Secretary of Agriculture shall terminate, at the end of the then current marketing period, any order issued under the act whenever he finds that such termination is favored by the requisite majority of producers.

It is hereby found that the termination of Order No. 45, as amended (§§ 945.1–945.15 inclusive), regulating the handling of milk in the Washington marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order," is favored by a majority of the producers who during January 1947 (which is hereby determined to be a representative period), were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the Washington marketing area, and such majority, during such representative period, produced more than 50 percent of the volume of such commodity sold in the aforesaid milk marketing area.

It is further found and hereby determined that compliance with the notice and public rule making procedure requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when the conditions necessitating the foregoing findings, relating to the requisite producer approval, became apparent and the mandatory effective date of the termination of the order resulting therefrom is insufficient to permit such compliance.

It is, therefore, ordered, That the said order (§945.1 to 945.15, inclusive), regulating the handling of milk in the Washington marketing area be, and the same hereby is, terminated effective at 11:59 p. m., e. s. t. March 31, 1947, subject, however, to the following conditions:

(1) That such termination of the said order shall not affect or waive any right, obligation, duty or liability under the said order, or release or extinguish any violation of the said order, or affect or impair any right or remedy of the United States, the Secretary of Agriculture, or any other person with respect to any such violation which has arisen or occurred or which may arise or occur prior to the time that such termination becomes effective;

(2) That the provisions of § 945.13 of the said order, relating to proceedings subsequent to the termination of such order, shall remain in force and effect for the purpose of enabling the market administrator, designated as the agency established for the administration of such order, to liquidate the affairs of the market administrator's office pursuant to the provisions of the said order;

(3) That the market administrator shall, in accordance with the applicable provisions of § 945.13, continue in such capacity and, from time to time, account for all funds, receipts, and disbursements; and

(4) That the said market administrator, continuing in such capacity, as provided in said § 945.13, shall have all of the powers and authority that may be necessary or proper in order to carry out the provisions thereof, and that such market administrator shall perform the duties specified therein.

The terms "Washington marketing area" and "market administrator" shall have the same meaning as set forth for the respective term in such order.

§ 948.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933) as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act", and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Cum. Supp., 900.1 et seq.; 10 F. R. 11791; 11 F. R. 7737; 12 F. R. 1159), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said tentatively approved marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(3) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8e of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supply of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

The foregoing findings are supplementary to and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments hereto; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this order, as amended) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area, and it is further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, as amended and as hereby further amended, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order, as amended and as hereby further amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period, November 1946, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, That from and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Sioux City, Iowa, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of this order, as amended.

§ 948.1 Definitions. As used in this part the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Act" means Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

(1) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(3) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat specifically accounted for as:

(i) Disposed of as skim milk, buttermilk, and flavored milk drinks containing 1½ percent or less of butterfat;

(ii) Used for animal feed;

(iii) Used to produce any milk product other than those specified as subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, and subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph; and

(iv) Actual plant shrinkage up to, but not in excess of 2 percent, respectively, of the total receipts of skim milk or butterfat in producer milk and other source milk not including receipts from other handlers.

(c) Transfers of milk, skim milk, and cream. (1) Skim milk and butterfat, when transferred or diverted by a handler to another handler who receives milk from producers or cooperative associations, shall be Class I if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk and Class II if transferred in the form of cream: Provided, That if the selling handler, on or before the 5th day after the end of the delivery period during which such transfer is made, furnishes to the market administrator a statement signed by the buyer indicating that such skim milk or butterfat was used in a different class, such skim milk or butterfat may be assigned to the indicated class up to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the plant of the buyer after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to paragraph (f) (2) of this section.

(2) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted by a handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, to the plant of a nonhandler shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk or skim milk, and Class II if transferred in the form of cream: Provided, That if the selling handler, on or before the 5th day after the end of the delivery period during which such transfer is made, furnishes to the market administrator a statement signed by the buyer indicating that such skim milk or butterfat was used in a different class and that such utilization may be audited by the market administrator at the receiving plant such skim milk and butterfat may be classified accordingly: Provided further, That if upon audit of the buyer's records it is found that the use of skim milk and butterfat in the buyer's plant in the indicated disposition is less than the amount certified to have been so used, any remaining amount shall be classified in the next available higher use classification.

(3) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted by a handler to a producer-handler or to a handler who receives no milk from producers or cooperative associations shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk or skim milk and Class II if transferred in the form of cream.

(4) Skim milk and butterfat received by a handler as other source milk shall be classified in the lowest-priced class in which such handler has use.

(d) Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (1) In establishing the classification of skim milk and butterfat as required in paragraph (b) of this section, the burden rests upon the handler who receives such skim milk or butterfat from producers or cooperative associations to prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should not be classified as Class I milk.

(2) Any skim milk or butterfat which has been classified by the market administrator shall be reclassified, if found by him to have been used or disposed of (whether in original or other form) by such handler or by any other handler or nonhandler in another class.

(e) Computation of all skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and shall compute the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk as follows:

(1) Compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat received by adding together the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat (i) contained in milk, skim milk, and cream, and (ii) used to produce the milk products (except milk products disposed of in the form in which received without further processing or packaging by the handler) received from all sources;

(2) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class I by (i) converting to pounds on the basis of 2.15 pounds per quart the volume disposed of in each of the several items of Class I milk, (ii) multiplying each of the resulting amounts by its average butterfat test, (iii) adding together the results so obtained, and (iv) adding an amount equal to the difference between the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to (1) of this paragraph, and the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (iii), (4) (ii), and (6) (iv) of this paragraph;

(3) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class I by (i) subtracting from the total pounds of Class I milk determined pursuant to subparagraph (2) (i) of this paragraph, the pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) (iii) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the weight of the flavoring materials used in flavored milk drinks, and (iii) adding an amount equal to the difference between the total pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and the total pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraphs (3) (i), (5) (ii), and (7) (v) of this paragraph;

(4) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class II by (i) multiplying the actual weight of each of the several items disposed of as Class II milk by its average butterfat test, and (ii) adding together the results so obtained;

(5) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class II by (i) adding together the actual weights of each of the several items of Class II, and (ii) subtracting the pounds of butterfat determined pursuant to subparagraph (4) (ii) of this paragraph;

(6) Compute the total pounds of butterfat in Class III by (i) multiplying the actual weight of each of the several items disposed of as Class III milk pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) (i) and (ii) of this section by its average butterfat content, (ii) multiplying the milk, skim milk, or cream used to produce each of the several items of Class III milk pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) (iii) of this section by its average butterfat content, (iii) adding together the resulting amounts, and (iv) adding the amount of butterfat allowed as plant shrinkage pursuant to subparagraph (8) of this paragraph;

(7) Compute the total pounds of skim milk in Class III by (i) computing the pounds of skim milk in each of the several items disposed of pursuant to paragraphs (b) (3) (i) and (ii), (ii) computing the total pounds of skim milk used to produce each of the several items disposed of pursuant to paragraphs (b) (3) (iii), (iii) adding together the resulting amounts, (iv) subtracting the weight of the flavoring materials used in flavored milk drinks, and (v) adding the pounds of skim milk allowed as plant shrinkage pursuant to subparagraph (9) of this paragraph;

(8) The amount of butterfat to be allowed as plant shrinkage shall be the smaller of the following amounts: (i) 2 percent of the total receipts of butterfat by the handler, exclusive of receipts from other handlers, or (ii) the amount, if any, by which the sum of the pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (iii), (4) (ii), and (6) (iii) of this paragraph is less than the total receipts of butterfat by the handler; and

(9) The amount of skim milk to be allowed as plant shrinkage shall be the smaller of the following amounts: (i) 2 percent of the total receipts of skim milk by the handler, exclusive of receipts from other handlers, or (ii) the amount, if any, by which the sum of the pounds of skim milk computed pursuant to subparagraphs (3) (ii), (5) (ii), and (7) (iv) of this paragraph are less than the total receipts of skim milk by the handler.

(f) Computation of the classification of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk for each handler. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute for each handler the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat of producer milk in each class by making the following computations in the order specified:

(1) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in Class III the pounds of actual plant shrinkage allocated to producer milk computed by multiplying the respective amounts of plant shrinkage computed pursuant to paragraphs (e) (9) and (e) (8) of this section by the percentages that skim milk and butterfat in receipts of producer milk are to total receipts of skim milk and butterfat by the handler, exclusive of the receipts from other handlers;

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat, in series beginning with the lowest-priced class, the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received as other source milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class, the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received from other handlers and stated by the receiving handler to have been used in such class: Provided, That if the skim milk or butterfat allocated by such statements to Class III or Class II is in excess of the amount of skim milk or butterfat remaining in such class, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the next higher-priced available class;

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class III the pounds of actual plant shrinkage allocated to producer milk and subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the sum of the amounts of skim milk or butterfat remaining in all classes, after making the above computations is greater than the handler's receipts of skim milk or butterfat in producer milk, decrease the amount of skim milk or butterfat in the lowest-priced available class or classes by the amount of such excess.

§ 948.5 Minimum prices—(a) Basic formula price to be used in computing class prices. The basic formula price to be used in computing the minimum prices per hundredweight for Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for each delivery period shall be the higher of the prices calculated by the market administrator pursuant to subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

(1) The average, adjusted to the nearest cent, of the basic (or field) prices reported to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received during the next preceding delivery period at the following plants for which prices are reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture:

Concern and Location of Plant
Amboy Milk Products Co., Amboy, Ill.
Borden Co., Dixon, Ill.
Borden Co., Sterling, Ill.
Carnation Milk Co., Northfield, Minn.
Carnation Milk Co., Oregon, Ill.

(2) The price adjusted to the nearest cent, calculated by the market administrator as follows: (i) To the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, add or subtract one-fourth cent for each cent that such price is above or below 20 cents, (ii) multiply the result by 3.5, (iii) add 21 cents, and (iv) add 3 cents for each full one-half cent that the price of nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption is above 7 cents per pound. The price per pound for nonfat dry milk solids to be used shall be the arithmetical average of the carlot prices, both spray and roller process, for human consumption delivered at Chicago, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period, including in such average the quotations for any part of the preceding delivery period which were not published and available for the determination of the price of such nonfat dry milk solids for the previous delivery period. In the event the Department of Agriculture does not publish carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption delivered at Chicago, the average of carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plant as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the Chicago area, shall be used, and 3 cents shall be added for each full one-half cent that the latter price is above 6 cents per pound.

(b) Class prices. Each handler shall pay at the time and in the manner set forth in § 948.7 not less than the prices set forth in this paragraph for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received during the delivery period at such handler's plant.

(1) Class I. The price per hundredweight for Class I milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, plus 80 cents:

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class I milk shall be computed by adding $16.00 to the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph for butterfat in Class III milk; and

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class I milk shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.5 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph (c) dividing the result by 0.965, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(2) Class II. The price per hundredweight for Class II milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, plus 50 cents:

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class II milk shall be computed by adding $16.00 to the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph for butterfat in Class III milk; and

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class II milk shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.5 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph, (c) dividing the result by 0.965, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(3) Class III. The price per hundredweight for Class III milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section:

(i) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class III shall be computed by (a) adding to or subtracting from the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, one-fourth cent for each cent that such price is above or below 20 cents per pound, (b) adjusting to the nearest cent, and (c) multiplying the result by 100.

(ii) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class III shall be computed by (a) multiplying by 3.5 percent the price computed pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, (b) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to this subparagraph, (c) dividing the resulting sum by 0.965, and (d) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(c) Emergency price provision. Whenever the provisions hereof require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining minimum class prices or for any other purpose, the market administrator shall add to the specified price the amount of any subsidy, or other similar payment, being made by any Federal agency in connection with the milk, or product, associated with the price specified: Provided, That if for any reason the price specified is not reported or published as indicated, the market administrator shall use the applicable maximum uniform price established by regulations of any Federal agency plus the amount of any such subsidy or other similar payment: Provided further, That if the specified price is not reported or published and there is no applicable maximum uniform price, or if the specified price is not reported or published and the Secretary determines that the market price is below the applicable maximum uniform price, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

§ 948.6 Determination of uniform price to producers—(a) Computation of the total value of milk received from producers by each handler. The value of the milk received by each handler from producers and cooperative associations during each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class computed pursuant to § 948.4 (f) by the applicable class prices, adding together the resulting amounts, and adding any amounts owed by the handler pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(1) If a handler, after subtracting all receipts of other source milk and receipts of producer milk from other handlers, has disposed of skim milk or butterfat in excess of the skim milk or butterfat reported to have been received by him from producers, the market administrator in computing the value of the milk of such handler in accordance with this paragraph shall add an amount computed by multiplying the amounts of skim milk and butterfat subtracted pursuant to § 948.4 (f) (5) by the applicable class prices.

(b) Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute a uniform price per hundredweight for producer milk by:

(1) Combining into one total the values computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section for all handlers who filed the reports pursuant to § 948.3 and who made the payments required pursuant to § 948.7 for the previous delivery period;

(2) Subtracting for each of the delivery periods of May and June an amount, equal to 20 cents per hundredweight of the total amount of milk received by handlers from producers and cooperative associations and included in these computations, to be retained in the producer-settlement fund for the purpose specified in § 948.7 (b) (2) (ii) and (iii);

(3) Adding an amount equal to not less than one-half the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(4) Subtracting, if the average butterfat content of all milk included in these computations is greater than 3.5 percent, or adding, if the average butterfat content of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 948.7 (a) (3) and multiplying the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations;

(5) Dividing the resulting amount by the hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations; and

(6) Subtracting not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the "uniform price" per hundredweight for producer milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content.

(c) Notification of handlers. On or before the 9th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(1) The amount and value of his milk in each class computed pursuant to § 948.4 (f) and (a) of this section, respectively, and the totals of such amounts and values;

(2) The uniform price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section;

(3) The amount, if any, due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund; and

(4) The total amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to § 948.7 and § 948.8.

§ 948.7 Payment for milk—(a) Time and method of payment to producers. Each handler shall make payment for milk which he received from producers or cooperative associations during each delivery period as follows:

(1) Final payment. On or before the 12th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall make payment, subject to the butterfat differential in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph and less the payment made pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (i) to each producer for milk purchased or received by such handler an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk by the price computed pursuant to § 948.6 (b), and (ii) to a cooperative association for milk which it caused to be delivered to a handler from producers and for which such cooperative association collects payments, a total amount equal to not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(2) Mid-delivery period payment. On or before the 27th day of each delivery period each handler shall make payment (i) to each producer an amount not less than the amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk received by such handler during the first 15 days of the current delivery period, by the uniform price which was announced by the market administrator for the next preceding delivery period, and (ii) to a cooperative association for milk which it caused to be delivered to a handler from producers and for which such cooperative association collects payments, a total amount equal to not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(3) Butterfat differential to producers. If, during the delivery period, any handler has received from any producer or from a cooperative association, milk having an average butterfat content other than 3.5 percent, such handler, in making the payments prescribed in paragraph (a) (1) of this section, shall add to the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent not less than, or shall deduct from the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent not more than an amount computed by the market administrator as follows: To the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, add 20 percent, divide the result obtained by 10, and adjust to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

(4) Adjustment of errors in payment to producers. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or to a cooperative associaton discloses payment of an amount less than is required by paragraph (a) (1) of this section, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payment next following such disclosure.

(b) Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (3) of this paragraph and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers and producers pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (i) and (3) of this paragraph: Provided, That the market administrator shall offset any such payment due to any handler against payments due from such handler: And provided further, That the amount received pursuant to § 948.6 (b) (2) shall be expended pursuant to subparagraphs (2) (ii) and (iii) of this paragraph.

(1) Payment to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall pay to the market administrator for payment to producers through the producer-settlement fund the amount, if any, by which the total value computed for him pursuant to § 948.6 (a) for such delivery period is greater than the sum required to be paid by such handler pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. (i) On or before the 11th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, for payment to producers, the amount, if any, by which the sum required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section is greater than the total value computed for him pursuant to § 948.6 (a).

(ii) On or before the 12th day after the end of each of the delivery periods of September, October, and November the market administrator shall pay to each producer from whom milk was received by a handler during such delivery period an amount computed as follows: Divide one-third of the total amount held pursuant to § 948.6 (b) (2) by the total hundredweight of milk received from producers by handlers during the delivery period involved (September, October, and November, as above) and multiply the resulting rate (computed to the nearest full cent per hundredweight) by the milk received from each producer during such delivery period.

(iii) On or before the 10th day after the end of each of the delivery periods of September, October, and November the market administrator shall pay to a cooperative association for milk it caused to be delivered to a handler from producers and for which such cooperative association collects payments, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers under subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph.

(3) Adjustments of errors in payments. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors in payments to or from the producer-settlement fund made pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 5 days of such billing, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the market administrator shall, within 5 days make such payment to such handler.

§ 948.8 Expense of administration—(a) Payment by handlers. As his prorata share of the expense of administration hereof, each handler, with respect to all milk purchased or received from producers or cooperative associations during the delivery period, shall pay to the market administrator, on or before the 10th day after the end of such delivery period, an amount not to exceed 4 cents per hundredweight, the exact amount to be determined by the market administrator, subject to review by the Secretary.

§ 948.9 Effective time, suspension, and termination—(a) Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated, pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Suspension and termination. Any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment hereto, shall be suspended or terminated as to any or all handlers after such reasonable notice as the Secretary may give, and shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

(c) Continuing power and duty. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations arising hereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any handlers, by the market administrator, or by any other person, the power and duty to perform such further acts shall continue notwithstanding such suspension or termination: Provided, That any such acts required to be performed by the market administrator shall, if the Secretary so directs, be performed by such other person, persons, or agency as the Secretary may designate.

(d) Liquidation after suspension or termination. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator, or such person as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under his control, together with claims for any funds which are unpaid and owing at the time of such suspension or termination. Any funds collected pursuant to the provisions of this part, over and above the amounts necessary to meet outstanding obligations and the expenses necessarily incurred by the market administrator or such person in liquidating and distributing such funds, shall be distributed to the contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 849.10 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States, or name any bureau or division in the United States Department of Agriculture, to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., March 30, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 6, 1947, is hereby fixed at 350 carloads, or an equivalent quantity.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 03-2]

PART 03—AIRPLANE AIRWORTHINESS; NORMAL, UTILITY, ACROBATIC, AND RESTRICTED PURPOSE CATEGORIES

FLIGHT TESTS FOR AIRCRAFT; CHANGING EFFECTIVE DATE FOR COMPLIANCE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of March 1947.

Section 03.0421 of the Civil Air Regulations, Flight tests, was amended by the Board on February 4, 1947, to become effective March 15, 1947. In substance the effect of the amendment is that at the conclusion of the official flight tests which the Administrator finds necessary to determine compliance with §§ 03.1 through 03.632 there shall be conducted such additional flight tests as the Administrator finds necessary to ascertain whether there is reasonable assurance that the airplane, its components, and equipment are reliable and function properly. It is found that the period between the adopted date and the effective date of this regulation is not sufficient to permit the establishment of uniform procedures in the degree necessary to provide for equal application to the aircraft manufacturing industry by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has recommended a postponement of the effective date of compliance with the provisions of § 03.6421 until May 15, 1947. The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that this postponement is in the public interest, that it is not a restrictive change in the Civil Air Regulations and that compliance with sections 4 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary in the public interest.

Now, therefore: Effective March 21, 1947, § 03.0421 of the Civil Air Regulations is amended by changing the date therein from "March 15, 1947" to "May 15, 1947".

(53 Stat. 984, 1007; 49 U. S. C. 425, 551)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

FLIGHT TESTS FOR AIRCRAFT; CHANGING EFFECTIVE DATE FOR COMPLIANCE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of March 1947.

Section 04a.040 of the Civil Air Regulations, Flight tests, was adopted by the Board on February 4, 1947, to become effective March 15, 1947. In substance the effect of the amendment is that at the conclusion of the official flight tests which the Administrator finds necessary to determine compliance with §§ 04a.2 through 04a.91 there shall be conducted such additional flight tests as the Administrator finds necessary to ascertain whether there is reasonable assurance that the airplane, its components, and equipment are reliable and function properly. It is found that the period between the adopted date and the effective date of this regulation is not sufficient to permit the establishment of uniform procedures in the degree necessary to provide for equal application to the aircraft manufacturing industry by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has recommended a postponement of the effective date of compliance with the provisions of § 04a.040 until May 15, 1947. The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that this postponement is in the public interest, that it is not a restrictive change in the Civil Air Regulations, and that compliance with sections 4 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary in the public interest.

Now, therefore: Effective March 21, 1947, § 04a.040 of the Civil Air Regulations is amended by changing the date therein from "March 15, 1947" to "May 15, 1947".

PART 04b—AIRPLANE AIRWORTHINESS REGULATIONS, EFFECTIVE ON NOVEMBER 9, 1945

FLIGHT TESTS FOR AIRCRAFT; CHANGING EFFECTIVE DATE FOR COMPLIANCE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of March 1947.

Section 04b.0321 of the Civil Air Regulations, Flight tests, was amended by the Board on February 4, 1947, to become effective March 15, 1947. In substance the effect of the amendment is that at the conclusion of the official flight tests which the Administrator finds necessary to determine compliance with §§ 04b.1 through 04b.622 there shall be conducted such additional flight tests as the Administrator finds accessary to ascertain whether there is reasonable assurance that the airplane, its components, and equipment are reliable and function properly. It is found that the period between the adopted date and the effective date of this regulation is not sufficient to permit the establishment of uniform procedures in the degree necessary to provide for equal application to the aircraft manufacturing industry by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has recommended a postponement of the effective date of compliance with the provisions of § 04b.0321 until May 15, 1947. The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that this postponement is in the public interest, that it is not a restrictive change in the Civil Air Regulations, and that compliance with sections 4 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary in the public interest.

Now, therefore: Effective March 21, 1947, § 04b.0321 of the Civil Air Regulations is amended by changing the date therein from "March 15, 1947" to "May 15, 1947."

§ 751.4 Methods. (a) Recognizing that the several agencies have full operating responsibility for the programs assigned to them by the Congress, the basic approach of the Office of Administrator in working toward these objectives shall be the development of the greatest possible degree of common understanding and collaboration among the various agencies concerned. For this purpose the Office of the Administrator shall:

(1) Collaborate with the constituent units and other interested agencies in a continuing survey of the field of housing, to identify the most important problem areas and to inventory the activities, resources and information of the agencies involved, in order to provide a current and comprehensive picture of national housing problems and the existing means for aiding in their solution.

(2) Assume leadership with the constituent units and other participating agencies in formulating joint programs to make the most effective use of resources, and to serve as a clearing house so that each agency may get maximum benefit from the experience and knowledge of the others.

(3) Take the initiative in establishing and assisting permanent and project committees representative of private industry and the various agencies of government to explore specific problems of common concern, and make the findings and recommendations of such committees available to the participating agencies and groups.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR, Part 41]

ISSUANCE OF AIR CARRIER OPERATING CERTIFICATE FOR ALASKAN AIR CARRIER OPERATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

MARCH 25, 1947.

Air carriers presently conducting scheduled or regular air service operations in the Territory of Alaska have certificates of convenience and necessity issued by the Board covering their operations, but the majority of these carriers do not hold air carrier operating certificates issued by the Administrator as required by Part 41 of the Civil Air Regulations. The principal reason for the lack of air carrier operating certificates is that those carriers cannot fully comply with all of the requirements of Part 41 necessary for the issuance of such certificates. This is especially true concerning the requirements for airport spacing, communication facilities, weather reporting stations, and navigational facilities. The development of these facilities has been retarded by the war and not through any lack of initiative on the part of the air carrier operators. These operators are and have been conducting their operations with an acceptable degree of safety and are rendering the Territory of Alaska a much needed transportation service. It appears necessary and desirable in the public interest that the requirements of Part 41 should be adjusted so that Alaskan operations which do not fully meet the requirements of this part may be conducted under such circumstances as to provide a safe level of operation at least until such time as the required facilities are established so that the carriers can meet the presently prescribed air carrier rules.

The most effective manner in which this objective can be accomplished is by the promulgation of a Special Civil Air Regulation giving the Administrator authority to issue air carrier operating certificates whenever he finds the carrier can meet a reasonable level of operational safety, although not fully meeting the requirements of Part 41. Such certificates would be valid only for the periods specified, unless the holder within that time shows compliance with the applicable rules.

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act the Safety Bureau of the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby gives notice that the Bureau will propose to the Board the following Special Civil Air Regulation 30 days after the date of this public notice:

Whenever upon investigation the Administrator finds that the general standards of safety required for air carrier operations within the Territory of Alaska require or permit a deviation from any specific requirement of Part 41 for a particular operation or a class of operations for which an application for an air carrier operating certificate has been made, he may issue an air carrier operating certificate with appropriate changes specifying therein the period for which such deviations may be permitted. The Administrator shall promptly notify the Board of any deviations included in the air carrier operating certificates and the reasons therefor.

This regulation shall terminate October 31, 1948.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

(52 Stat. 984, 1007; 49 U. S. C. 425, 551)

WHEREAS these disputes have not heretofore been adjusted under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act, as amended; and

C. 160), I hereby create a board of three members, to be appointed by me, to investigate the said disputes. No member of the said board shall be pecuniarily or otherwise interested in any organization of railway employees or any carrier.

The board shall report its findings to the President with respect to the said disputes within thirty days from the date of this order.

As provided by section 10 of the Railway Labor Act, as amended, from this date and for thirty days after the board has made its report to the President, no change, except by agreement, shall be made by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Company, the Pere Marquette Railway Company, the Wabash Railroad Company, and the Ann Arbor Railroad Company or their employees in the conditions out of which the said disputes arose.

tine on the Dutch elm disease as a means of preventing or retarding the spread of this introduced disease. This review has included consideration of the subject with all State plant quarantine officials and with others interested through correspondence and otherwise and a full discussion at two conferences attended by interested State regulatory officials and representatives of industries which distribute products regulated by the quarantine.

It has been determined that the continuation of the Federal domestic quarantine does not provide practical means for preventing spread of the disease. It has also been determined that the movement of commodities which may contribute to long-distance, artificial spread into areas where the disease might be considered to be of economic significance can be safeguarded with equal effectiveness by action of individual States.

The introduced bark beetle, which serves as the principal carrier of the fungus causing this disease, has been found to be much more widespread than was known when the quarantine was last revised effective October 1, 1941. This bark beetle and related carriers of the disease move considerable distances by natural means and are now known to occur well beyond the known limits of the disease. Quarantine action cannot prevent the natural spread of the disease through the flight of these insects.

Observations over a period of years have disclosed no instances of spread of either the disease or its insect-carriers through the transportation of nursery stock, one of the principal products controlled by the quarantine. Elm logs and fire-wood are probably the most favorable means of artificial spread of either infection or infestation. The transportation of these is largely local and within the range of natural movement of the insect carriers. The limited long-distance shipment of these commodities is of a nature that can be safeguarded more effectively by State action in the knowledge of where appreciable risk may occur.

In some areas where the disease is now established the aggressive, cooperative, suppressive program carried on for some years after presence of the disease was discovered has been discontinued. This has resulted in the intensification of the infection and the infestation of insect carriers and has reduced the possible benefits from the control of short-distance spread by artificial means.

The proposal to revoke this quarantine has been discussed at conferences to which all State plant pest regulatory officials were invited and at which representatives of industries affected were given an opportunity to present their views. The conferences were preceded by voluminous correspondence with those officials and representatives commencing in April, 1946, months before the passage of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238), and it developed that the majority opinion was that the Federal quarantine was no longer practical. Moreover, the movement of commodities apt to contribute to the spread of the disease can be controlled adequately by individual State action. Accordingly, it is determined that compliance with the rule-making procedure of section 4 (a) of the said act is unnecessary.

Now, therefore, under authority conferred by the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20, 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 151 et seq.), I, Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby remove and revoke the quarantine placed by §§ 301.71 to 301.71–4, inclusive (Notice of Quarantine No. 71 (7 CFR Cum. Sup. 301.71 [B. E. P. Q.—Q. 71])) upon the States of Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania on account of the Dutch elm disease, and do also revoke the rules and regulations supplemental thereto, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Sup., 301.71–1 et seq.), such removal and revocation to take effect on May 1, 1947.

(Sec. 8, 39 Stat. 1165, 44 Stat. 250; 7 U. S. C., 161)

Effective on and after May 1, 1947.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of March 1947.

Witness my hand and the seal of the United States Department of Agriculture.

[SEAL] CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

TITLE 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

PART 150—ARREST AND DEPORTATION

VOLUNTARY DEPARTURE PERMITTED BY OFFICERS IN CHARGE

MARCH 11, 1947.

Part 150, Chapter I, Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations is amended by inserting the following new section between §§ 150.11 and 150.12:

§ 150.11a Special procedure; voluntary departure permitted by officers in charge. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, the authority conferred upon the Attorney General by subsection (c) (1) of section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended (39 Stat. 889, 54 Stat. 671; 8 U. S. C. 155 (c)), to permit certain deportable aliens to depart from the United States to any country of their choice at their own expense in lieu of deportation, may be exercised by any officer in charge of a district or suboffice: Provided, (a) That the alien concerned is a citizen of either Canada or Mexico and desires to depart immediately from the United States for whichever of such countries he is a citizen; (b) That the alien is willing and able to pay his own transportation expenses and will apparently be admitted to the country of destination with little or no delay; and (c) That the immediate departure of the alien without the issuance of a warrant of arrest or without the completion of proceedings on a warrant of arrest will be advantageous to the Government.

This order shall become effective on the day of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 238) relative to notice of proposed rule making and delayed effective date are inapplicable for the reason that the rule promulgated by this order pertains to organization—more particularly to delegation of authority.

Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

PART 801—PRIORITIES ORDERS UNDER VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING ACT OF 1946

TRANSFER OF CPA REGULATIONS AND ORDERS TO THE HOUSING EXPEDITER

§ 801.5 Transfer of CPA regulations and orders to the Housing Expediter—(a) What this section does. By Executive Order 9836 issued March 22, 1947, effective April 1, 1947, the President has transferred to the Housing Expediter all functions of the Temporary Controls Administrator and of the Office of Temporary Controls with respect to the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program which have previously been administered by the Civilian Production Administration in the Office of Temporary Controls. By the same Executive Order, the President has delegated to the Housing Expediter, to the extent necessary for the proper exercise of the functions which were transferred, the powers and authority vested in the President by Title III of the Second War Powers Act, 1942, as amended. As it is not practicable at this time to reissue these regulations and orders in the name of the Housing Expediter, this section provides for this adoption in a single document and sets forth the effect of the adoption.

§ 803.6 Prefabricated housing under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program—(a) What this section provides. Under this section, Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 6, and previously under Direction 8 to CPA Priorities Regulation 33, priorities assistance was issued to prefabricators for certain materials to be used in the factory production of prefabricated sections, panels, and packages, under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. Since December 24, 1946 priorities assistance has no longer been granted under this section.

However, unless expressly provided otherwise by the Housing Expediter, all the conditions and restrictions imposed on prefabricators and dealers by this section and other applicable OHE regulations are still in effect. This section explains the rules concerning (1) the prefabricator's use of an HH rating under authorizations previously granted, (2) the materials which may be obtained with their use, (3) the use of materials so obtained, and (4) prefabricators' and dealers' sales of prefabricated houses, sections, panels, and packages. Many of these rules were formerly established by certain CPA regulations and orders which are being transferred to the Housing Expediter (simultaneously with this amendment of April 1, 1947) by the issuance of Housing Expediter Priorities Order 5.

DEFINITIONS

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section:

(1) "Prefabricator" means a person engaged in the business of manufacturing prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages.

(2) "Prefabricated house" means a house of which at least the exterior walls are formed by the assembly of prefabricated panels or sections as defined below. The term "prefabricated house" does not include house trailers.

(3) "Prefabricated section" means a house section which encloses living, storage or utility space on at least two sides, is manufactured in a factory, is transported to the building site without being taken apart, and is designed to be used in combination with one or more prefabricated sections, prefabricated panels or conventionally constructed elements to produce housing accommodations.

(4) "Prefabricated panel" means a floor, wall, partition, ceiling, roof or truss panel which is manufactured in a factory, is designed to be used in combination with one or more prefabricated sections, prefabricated panels, or conventionally constructed elements to produce a prefabricated house, and meets whichever of the following standards of minimum prefabrication is applicable:

(i) Wood panels. A prefabricated exterior wall panel constructed principally of wood shall consist of at least a completely assembled structural wood frame or panel core, with surfacing material or wall sheathing attached to at least one side.

A prefabricated partition, ceiling or truss panel constructed principally of wood shall consist of at least a completely assembled structural wood frame or panel core.

A prefabricated floor or roof panel constructed principally of wood shall consist of at least a completely assembled structural wood frame or panel core with surfacing material, subfloor or roof sheathing attached to at least one side.

(ii) Metal panels. A prefabricated exterior wall panel constructed principally of metal shall consist of at least (a) a completely assembled panel frame or core with surfacing material or wall sheathing attached to at least one side, (b) a specially fabricated sheet of metal designed to serve both sheathing and structural purposes, or (c) a combination of specially fabricated metal sheets and structural frame (or core) members, either assembled or unassembled, designed and fabricated for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design.

A prefabricated floor, partition, ceiling, roof or truss panel constructed principally of metal shall consist of at least (a) a completely assembled panel frame or core, (b) a specially fabricated metal sheet designed and fabricated for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design, (c) specially fabricated structural frame (or core) members designed and fabricated for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design, or (d) a combination of (b) and (c), either assembled or unassembled.

(iii) Concrete panels. A prefabricated exterior wall panel constructed principally of concrete shall consist of at least (a) a precast concrete slab having an area of 15 square feet or more on one surface or (b) a combination of such a precast concrete slab and structural framing members, either assembled or unassembled, designed and manufactured for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design.

A prefabricated floor, partition, ceiling, roof or truss panel constructed principally of concrete shall consist of at least (a) a precast concrete slab having an area of 15 square feet or more on one surface, or (b) precast concrete structural panel frame (or core) members designed and manufactured for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design, or (c) a combination of (a) and (b), either assembled or unassembled, designed and manufactured for incorporation in a prefabricated house of a specific design.

A prefabricated panel may, but need not, incorporate such items as window and door frames, sash, doors, builders' hardware, wiring, piping, etc.

(5) The terms "prefabricated section" and "prefabricated panel" do not include: (i) fabricated structural steel such as standard columns and standard beams or stock metal siding or roofing, etc., primarily designed for use in conventional construction, (ii) concrete blocks, precast joists, precast concrete panels and similar concrete items primarily designed for use in conventional construction, (iii) millwork, including kitchen cabinets, (iv) items of furniture and equipment not designed to be permanently attached to and made a part of a house, or (v) building materials cut to size and shape for assembly at the building site, if not specifically covered by the definitions in subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph.

(6) "Prefabricated package" means the aggregation of prefabricated sections and panels, building materials, and equipment which is shipped in a lot by a prefabricator, to be incorporated in a prefabricated house. (See paragraph (h) of this section on authorizations for loose materials and equipment to be included in a prefabricated package.)

(7) "Loose materials and equipment" included in a prefabricated package means the materials and equipment in the package which are not permanently attached to or incorporated in the prefabricated sections and panels comprising the rest of the package. "Loose materials and equipment" shipped with a prefabricated section means those which are not permanently attached to or incorporated in the prefabricated section at the time it is shipped.

(8) "Schedule A materials" means the items listed in Schedule A to Priorities Regulation 33. These are the items for which priorities assistance was given to prefabricators on or before December 24, 1946.

(9) A prefabricator's "approved production" for a particular quarter means the number of units which he can produce with the amount of the materials listed in paragraph (l) (1) of this section for which priorities assistance was authorized by the National Housing Agency for that quarter.

(10) "NHA" means the National Housing Agency.

(11) "CPA" means the Civilian Production Administration.

(12) "OHE" means the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(13) "This section" means this regulation, Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 6.

PREFABRICATORS' APPLICATIONS FOR PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE

(c) Filing of applications. Priorities assistance for "Schedule A materials" was issued under this section to prefabricators who made quarterly applications on Form NHA 14-53. The applications were filed with the National Housing Agency, Washington, D. C., which considered the applications for approval as explained in paragraphs (e) through (j) of this section. Applications for priorities assistance may no longer be filed under this section. However, authorizations given on or before December 24, 1946, remain valid for the period covered by them.

(d) [Deleted January 10, 1947.]

NHA CONSIDERATION OF APPLICATIONS

(e) VEHP use. Priorities assistance was given under this section only for quantities of Schedule A materials to be used fully in prefabricated housing under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

(f) Technical standards. Priorities assistance was given under this section for Schedule A materials to be used for the following purposes only:

(1) The manufacture of prefabricated panels designed to be incorporated in prefabricated houses found by the National Housing Agency to meet standards of space, arrangement, and construction known as "HH Minimum Property Requirements."

(2) The making up of prefabricated packages designed to be incorporated in prefabricated houses found by the National Housing Agency to meet the HH Minimum Property Requirements.

(3) The manufacture and installation of prefabricated sections designed to be incorporated in houses (whether prefabricated or not) found by the National Housing Agency to meet the HH Minimum Property Requirements.

The findings by the National Housing Agency referred to in this paragraph were based upon information submitted by the prefabricator on Form NHA 14-54 or in such other manner as required by the National Housing Agency. Information regarding the HH Minimum Property Requirements is available at the Office of the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C., and at all State and District Offices of the Federal Housing Administration.

(g) Prefabricated panels. Priorities assistance for Schedule A materials to be incorporated in prefabricated panels was given under this section only to those prefabricators who met one of the following tests:

(1) The prefabricator ships, to each purchaser, all the prefabricated exterior wall panels (as defined in paragraph (b) (4) of this section) of a prefabricated house.

(2) The prefabricator (i) submitted evidence of an agreement he had entered into with one or more prefabricators dividing among them the production responsibility for the manufacture of prefabricated elements designed to be incorporated in a prefabricated house, and (ii) together, these prefabricators ship, to each purchaser, all the prefabricated exterior wall panels of a prefabricated house.

(h) Prefabricated packages. The following are special rules on priorities assistance for Schedule A materials to be incorporated in prefabricated packages:

(1) In addition to prefabricated sections and panels, a prefabricated package produced under this section may contain, in the amount provided for in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the following "loose materials and equipment":

(i) Mechanical, plumbing, heating, and electrical material and equipment; cooking, refrigeration, and laundry equipment; kitchen cabinets; and

(ii) Other loose materials and equipment.

(2) Priorities assistance was given under this section for Schedule A materials to be included in a prefabricated package as loose materials and equipment only if the dollar value of all loose materials and equipment not listed in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph which are contained in the package is less than one half of the following amount: the dollar value of the entire prefabricated package minus the dollar value of all materials and equipment in the package—whether "loose" or not—listed in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph.

(i) Prefabricated sections. Priorities assistance was given under this section for Schedule A materials to be shipped with a prefabricated section to be incorporated in a house whether or not the house is prefabricated. However, such assistance was given only for Schedule A materials listed in paragraph (h) (1) (i) of this section required for installation in or attachment to the prefabricated section, and for the minimum quantities of other loose materials and equipment required for the installation of the prefabricated section.

(j) Production standards. Priorities assistance was given under this section only after the National Housing Agency took into consideration the following factors:

(1) The prefabricator's use of scarce materials,

(2) The suitability of his product for low and moderate cost housing under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program, and

(3) The prefabricator's apparent ability to produce, based upon plant facilities and methods, general experience, distribution facilities and methods, and other relevant considerations.

GRANTING OF AUTHORIZATIONS

(k) Nature of authorizations. Priorities assistance granted on Form NHA 14-53 was in the form of authority to place HH rated orders or certified orders for approved quantities of "Schedule A materials" (see paragraph (b) (8) of this section). The authorization covers quantities to be so ordered for delivery in a particular quarter. It may also include an advance authorization enabling the prefabricator (subject to the delivery date restrictions referred to in paragraph (o) of this section) to place such orders for a part of his requirements to be delivered in the next quarter, pending receipt of his regular authorization for that quarter.

(l) Quantities authorized. Form NHA 14-53 authorizations are for the following quantities of Schedule A materials:

(1) For the following materials, the permitted quantities are the quantities numerically expressed in the authorization: housing construction lumber, millwork (other than built-in kitchen cabinets), hardwood flooring (all grades), gypsum board and lath, building board, and construction plywood (softwood).

(2) For the other Schedule A materials (excluding those listed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, but including built-in kitchen cabinets), the permitted quantities are the minimum quantities needed to meet the prefabricator's "approved production" requirements (see paragraph (b) (9) of this section).

PREFABRICATORS' USE OF PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE

(m) Extending customers' ratings. In accordance with Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, a prefabricator must not extend (pass on to his supplier) an HH rating which he receives from a customer.

(n) Placing orders. A prefabricator who has been granted priorities assistance on Form NHA 14-53 may place orders for the approved quantities of Schedule A materials (for delivery during the quarter covered by the authorization), as follows:

(1) Certified orders for construction plywood (softwood). For construction plywood (softwood), he was permitted to place certified orders through March 31, 1947, as explained in CPA Order L-358, which expired on that date.

(2) HH rated orders for other Schedule A materials. For the other Schedule A materials, he may use an HH rating on his purchase orders. The HH rating may be applied to a purchase order by placing on the order a written certificate as explained in Schedule A to Priorities Regulation 33. This certificate is as set out below:

VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING PROGRAM
APPLICATION SERIAL NUMBER —

I certify to the U. S. Government that an HH rating has been assigned for the materials covered by this order. The materials will be used only for housing accommodations as authorized.

Purchaser

(3) Former rule for some Schedule A materials. Before January 1, 1947, CPA Order L-359 provided that prefabricators could place "certified orders," rather than HH rated orders, for housing construction lumber, residential hardwood flooring, and millwork. To place a certified order, a prefabricator used the certificate previously shown in Order L-359, rather than the Schedule A certificate now shown in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. Purchase orders which have already been placed with the former L-359 certificate need not be re-certified. However, after January 1, 1947, they will be treated as rated orders rather than certified orders.

In accordance with Schedule A to PR 33, a prefabricator may not place HH rated orders after April 15, 1947. Orders placed by that date must meet the delivery date restrictions of paragraph (o) of this section.

(o) Delivery date restrictions. In accordance with Schedule A to Priorities Regulation 33, a prefabricator placing certified or HH rated orders under this section must not specify a delivery date which is (1) more than 30 days before the time the materials are to be used by him or (2) later than the end of the third calendar month after the month in which the order is placed. "Delivery date" means the date of delivery at the prefabricator's plant or warehouse.

(p) Effect of orders placed by prefabricator. The effect of HH rated and certified orders is controlled by Priorities Regulation 1 and certain other regulations and orders. For construction plywood (softwood), the other applicable order (through March 31, 1947) is CPA Order L-358. For lumber, hardwood flooring, and millwork, it is CPA Order L-359 (through March 31, 1947). For the latter materials after March 31, 1947, and for all other Schedule A materials, the other applicable regulation is Schedule B to PR 33.

(q) Use of materials. Materials obtained with priorities assistance may be used only for the purposes for which that assistance was granted, and, in accordance with Priorities Regulation 1, must if possible be used for that purpose. This rule applies to materials obtained under this section or under Direction 8 to CPA Priorities Regulation 33. The rule will continue to apply after December 24, 1946 even though no additional priorities assistance will be granted after that date.

(r) Disposal of materials. If a prefabricator is unable to use materials obtained with priorities assistance under this section, or under Direction 8 to CPA Priorities Regulation 33, for the purposes for which the assistance was granted, he may use or dispose of them only as follows:

(1) By "special sale," in accordance with Schedule A to Priorities Regulation 33.

(2) By such other use as may be authorized in writing by the Housing Expediter, upon written application from the prefabricator.

SALES AND PURCHASE RESTRICTIONS

(s) Prefabricators' and dealers' sales. In accordance with Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, a prefabricator or a dealer (wholesale or retail) must observe the following rules:

(1) Unerected sales. In selling unerected prefabricated sections, panels, or packages produced under this section or Direction 8, a prefabricator or dealer must accept and fill rated orders in preference to unrated orders in accordance with the rules of Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) Erected sales. In selling erected prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages produced under this section or Direction 8, a prefabricator or dealer must comply with the rules of Priorities Regulation 33, Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5, or the Housing Permit Regulation, whichever is applicable. (See paragraphs (u) and (v) of this section.)

(t) Dealers' purchases. In accordance with Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, a dealer who receives an HH or HHH rated order from a customer for a prefabricated section, panel, or package produced under this section or Direction 8 may extend the rating to get the item for sale to that customer, or to replace an item sold out of inventory to that customer. A dealer may also place unrated orders.

(u) Application by builder under HEPR 5. On or before December 24, 1946 a person eligible under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program to erect a prefabricated house or section could apply under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 (§ 803.5) for an authorization to construct and an HH rating. (Before September 10, 1946, such applications were made under CPA Priorities Regulation 33.)

If his application was approved and he begins construction under the authorization issued to him, the builder is subject to all the requirements of the priorities regulation under which his application was approved, including restrictions on sales price and rents, and requirements for preference to veterans, where applicable. When the application was approved, the builder was assigned an HH rating, which he may use to get a prefabricated section, panel, or package and the necessary quantities of the other Schedule A materials. This rating may be applied in accordance with, and subject to, the limitations of Schedule A to PR 33 and other applicable regulations. (If the builder has not begun construction under an authorization issued under HEPR 5 or PR 33, see paragraph (v) of this section.)

A prefabricator or a dealer could apply in the same way as any other builder, on or before December 24, 1946, if he wished to erect a prefabricated house or section. A prefabricator acting as an erector is subject to the same requirements of HEPR 5 (or PR 33) as a builder.

(v) Application by builder under Housing Permit Regulation. On or after December 24, 1946, a person eligible under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program to erect a prefabricated house or section may apply under the Housing Permit Regulation for an authorization to erect, called a "construction permit." No priorities assistance will be given, however, with a construction permit. Therefore, such a builder may not place rated orders for prefabricated sections, panels, or packages produced under Direction 8 to CPA Priorities Regulation 33 or under this section.

If a builder's application under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 or Priorities Regulation 33 was approved, but he has not begun construction under the authorization issued to him, he may elect to surrender his authorization and his HH rating and re-apply for a construction permit under the Housing Permit Regulation. In this case he is subject to the requirements of the latter regulation and not HEPR 5 or PR 33, and also may not place HH rated orders.

OTHER PROVISIONS

(w) Communications and appeals. Communications regarding the provisions of this section should be addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C. Any person who considers that compliance with any provision in this section would result in an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. An appeal shall be in the form of a letter in triplicate, addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C., clearly stating the specific provision appealed from and the grounds for claiming an exceptional and unreasonable hardship.

(x) Record-keeping requirements. Each person subject to this section must keep and preserve for at least two years records showing quantities of all Schedule A materials (including prefabricated sections and panels) received and dates of receipt. In addition, each person participating in any transaction to which any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration or the Housing Expediter applies must keep and preserve for at least two years the records described in Priorities Regulation 1. The record-keeping requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(y) Reporting requirements. Information and reports relating to matters covered by this section, or by Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, may be required from time to time by the Housing Expediter (or person or agency authorized by the Housing Expediter to make such requests), subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. The reporting requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(z) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this section and any person who knowingly makes any statement to any department or agency of the United States, as to any matter within its jurisdiction, which is false in any respect, or who wilfully conceals a material fact in any certificate required to be filed under this section, or who wilfully falsifies any records required to be kept under this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to fine or imprisonment or both, under the Second War Powers Act of 1942, Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946, and other applicable Federal Statutes. Any person who violates any provision of this section may be prohibited from making or obtaining any further deliveries of, or from using, any materials or facilities suitable for housing construction, and may be deprived of priorities assistance for such materials or facilities.

Issued this 31st day of March 1947, to become effective April 1, 1947.

Housing Expediter.

PART 803—PRIORITIES REGULATIONS UNDER VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING ACT OF 1946

RESTRICTED PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE

§ 803.8 Restricted priorities assistance—(a) What this section does. This section provides for the filing of applications for RR ratings under Supplement I to this section. Persons eligible to apply include producers of critical building materials listed in Table I to this section.

Supplement I and Table I to this section, formerly Supplement I and Table I to Priorities Regulation 28 of the Civilian Production Administration, are adopted, ratified, confirmed, and issued by Housing Expediter Priorities Order 5 simultaneously with the issuance of this section.

(b) Existing RR ratings. Nothing in this section affects the validity or duration of RR ratings granted or converted before April 1, 1947.

(c) Filing of applications. Applications for an RR rating under Supplement I to this section should be made on Form CPA-541A, addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C. Since ratings are no longer given to support a minimum economic rate of production or to give special help to small business or the business needs of veterans, no questions on Form CPA-541A need be answered which were designed for such cases. For this reason, Questions 7b, 13 and 16 on Form CPA-541A (as revised 4-23-46) may be left unanswered. On the other hand, supporting data required by Item 14 are of major importance and should clearly show how the application qualifies under paragraph (b) of Supplement I to this section.

(d) Reports. The reporting requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(e) Effective date. This section shall become effective on April 1, 1947.

(60 Stat. 207; 56 Stat. 177, as amended; E. O. 9836, 12 F. R. 1939)

PURPOSE

§ 803.9 Inventories—(a) What this section provides. The purpose of this section, Priorities Regulation 32, is to prevent excessive inventories by restricting ordering, deliveries, receipts and processing of certain building materials, which are listed in Table 1 at the end of this section. These materials are covered by this section whether or not they are acquired with priorities assistance.

This section applies to all persons buying for use or for resale, whether established firms or newcomers. Certain exceptions to the inventory limitations are stated in paragraphs (h) and (i) of this section.

This section replaces Priorities Regulation 32 of the Civilian Production Administration, which is being revoked by CPA simultaneously with the issuance of this section. This section covers only certain building materials required in the VEHP and therefore is of narrower scope than the former CPA PR-32.

DEFINITIONS

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section:

(1) "Table 1 materials" means the materials listed in the table at the end of this section.

(2) "Users" or "persons buying for use" means persons (including Government operated consuming establishments) who use a material for production, operating supplies, maintenance and repair, or for construction, whether for their own account or for the account of another.

(3) A person's "practicable minimum working inventory" means the inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries, or to supply his services, on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation.

(4) "OHE" means Office of the Housing Expediter.

(5) "This section" means this Priorities Regulation 32.

GENERAL RESTRICTIONS

(c) Restriction on delivery. No person may deliver any Table 1 material if he knows or has reason to believe that acceptance of the delivery would be in violation of this section.

NOTE: For rule on making or delivering Table 1 materials earlier than required by customers, see Interpretation 3.

(d) Restrictions on receipts. This section places the following restrictions on receipts of Table 1 materials:

(1) Users. No person buying for use may accept delivery of any Table 1 material if his inventory of that material is, or will be, larger than the smaller of the following two amounts:

(i) A "practicable minimum working inventory" (see definition in paragraph (b) (3) of this section).

(ii) The amount he needs, on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation, during the period specified in the table at the end of this section, if such period is specified. (This restriction (ii) applies only within the 48 States and the District of Columbia.)

NOTE: For rule on when material is considered to be in inventory, see Interpretation 4; for rule as to seasonal industries, see Interpretation 1.

(2) Resellers. No person buying for resale may accept delivery of any Table 1 material if his inventory of that material is, or will be, more than a "practicable minimum working inventory."

(3) VHP–1 builders. No person may receive any Table 1 material for use in a construction project for which an authorization under VHP–1 is necessary, unless an authorization for the project has already been obtained.

(e) Restriction on ordering more than needed. A person may not place any order, whether rated or unrated, calling for delivery of any Table 1 material in larger amounts than he would be permitted to receive under this section, or on an earlier date than permitted under other applicable OHE regulations or orders (such as Schedule A to PR 33 or HEPR 6).

Orders totalling more than he is allowed to receive may not be placed with different suppliers even though he intends to cancel one or more of them before delivery. The restriction does not forbid the placing of orders for delivery under the conditions explained in Interpretation 11 to Priorities Regulation 1, but such orders may not be scheduled for production by the supplier as long as this restriction is effective.

(f) Adjusting outstanding orders when requirements change. A person who has ordered any Table 1 material for future delivery must promptly adjust his outstanding orders, and if necessary postpone or cancel them, if his requirements change so that he would exceed the limits prescribed by this section if he accepted delivery on the date specified. Such a change in his requirements might occur because of a change in his operations, slowing or stoppage of production, delayed delivery by another supplier, or other reasons.

(g) Restriction on processing. No person may process any Table 1 material if his inventory of the material in its processed form (including the form in which he sells it) is, or will be, more than a "practicable minimum working inventory." The term "process" includes fabricating, or otherwise altering the shape or form of the material.

This limitation applies whether the manufacturer does his own processing or has it done for his account by others. He may not exceed it by causing or permitting avoidable delays in transportation, storage, or processing.

EXCEPTIONS

(h) General exceptions. This paragraph states general exceptions to the restrictions on acceptance of delivery described in paragraph (d) of this section, and to all other inventory restrictions on delivery and acceptance of delivery in applicable OHE regulations and orders unless they contain specific provisions to the contrary. None of these or any other exceptions to OHE inventory restrictions on receipts permit a supplier to disregard any applicable OHE regulation or order which restricts production or delivery.

(1) Imported materials. A person may import any material without regard to OHE inventory restrictions. However, if his inventory of it thereby becomes in excess of the amount permitted by this section, he may not receive further deliveries of it from domestic sources until his inventory is reduced to permitted levels. The inventory restrictions of this section do apply to any deliveries of the imported material that any person accepting delivery from him may receive.

(2) Advance stockpiling for new production. A person may receive, in anticipation of starting or resuming production, the minimum amount of material or equipment he would need during the first 30 days of such production, provided no priorities assistance is used to get the material or equipment. Records of such receipts and the basis on which they were computed must be preserved as required by Priorities Regulation 1. This 30-day amount is a ceiling as far as advance stockpiling is concerned, and may not be considered as a "bonus" to be added to the amount of any material which a producer expects to have available for making his new product. This paragraph relates to production only and does not permit the advance stockpiling of building materials for construction purposes.

(3) Minimum sale quantities. Minimum sale quantities and production runs may be accepted to the extent permitted by Interpretation 2 to this regulation. However, after receiving a minimum sale quantity of any material, a person may not accept delivery of any additional quantities until his inventory of it is within applicable limits.

(i) Receipts permitted after adjustment of orders. Where a person has promptly adjusted his outstanding orders with his supplier as required by paragraph (f) of this section, and the supplier is not otherwise prohibited from producing or delivering any material involved, delivery of it may be made and accepted and the inventory restrictions of paragraph (d) of this section exceeded to the following extent, but no further:

(1) Delivery may be made and accepted if the supplier has shipped the material or loaded it for shipment before the receipt of the instruction to adjust.

(2) Delivery may be made and accepted of (i) any special item which the supplier actually has in stock or in production, or (ii) special components or special materials which he has acquired for the purpose of filling the order. A special item means one that the supplier does not usually make, stock, or sell, and which cannot readily be disposed of to others.

(3) Even if the material is not a special item, delivery may be made by, and accepted from a producer, if it has already been produced or is in production before receipt of the instruction to adjust, and it cannot be used to fill other orders on the producer's books.

NOTE: For effect of reduction in consumption rate on permitted inventories, see Interpretation 5.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

(j) Separate inventories. (1) In figuring his inventory, a person must include all material in his possession and all material held for his account by another person, but not material held by him for the account of another person.

(2) In the case of a person who on August 28, 1945, had more than one operating unit and kept separate inventory records for them, this section applies to each such operating unit or division independently. A person may not make any further separation or consolidation of such operating units without special written approval of the Housing Expediter unless it is purely incidental to a separation or consolidation which is made primarily for other than inventory purposes.

(k) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this section, or who, in connection with this section, willfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. Any person who violates any provision of this section may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control.

(l) Communications and appeals. Communications regarding the provisions of this section should be addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. PR 32. Any person who considers that compliance with any provision in this section would result in an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. An appeal shall be in the form of a letter in triplicate, addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. PR 32, clearly stating the specific provision appealed from and the grounds for claiming an exceptional and unreasonable hardship.

(m) Reporting requirements approved. The reporting requirements of this section have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(n) Effective date. The effective date of this section is April 1, 1947.

(60 Stat. 207; 56 Stat. 177, as amended; E. O. 9836, 12 F. R. 1939)

Housing Expediter.

TABLE 1—MATERIALS SUBJECT TO THIS SECTION

Explanation. Receipts by "users" of materials listed in Column 1 are subject to the specific inventory provisions shown in Column 2, or a "practicable minimum working inventory," whichever is less. (See paragraph (d) (1) of this section.) If no specific provision is shown in Column 2, the "practicable minimum working inventory" restriction of paragraph (d) (1) (i) of this section controls.

Receipts by resellers are subject to the restriction of paragraph (d) (2) of this section.

Ordering and processing restrictions are in paragraphs (e) and (g) of this section.

Only residential types of the items listed in the table are covered by this section. The fact that a residential type may also be suitable for nonresidential use does not take it out of the "residential" class.

[1] The inventory limitations of this section apply to the total amount of lumber in usable condition in the user's inventory rather than item by item. The restrictions do not apply to receipts of green lumber which must be seasoned by the user before it is usable for the purpose for which it was purchased. However, no such receipts may be accepted if the user's inventory of insufficiently seasoned green lumber is, or will be, in excess of a practicable minimum working inventory. Moreover, when such lumber is sufficiently seasoned for use it must be counted in determining whether or not the person is eligible to accept any further deliveries of lumber in usable condition under the limitations of this Table 1.

INVENTORIES IN SEASONAL INDUSTRIES

Paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibit any person from accepting a delivery which will give him more than a "practicable minimum working inventory" reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation. This does not prevent a person engaged in a seasonal industry who normally stocks up inventory in advance of the season from accepting delivery of his requirements of the inventory in question: Provided, (a) That he is not guilty of hoarding, and (b) That the deliveries accepted are no greater and no further in advance than those which he would normally accept in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated requirements. (Issued March 31, 1947.)

MINIMUM SALE QUANTITIES AND PRODUCTION RUNS

(a) Applicable provisions of the regulations. Priorities Regulation 32 forbids the making or acceptance of a delivery which will give the customer more than the "practicable minimum working inventory" reasonably necessary for him to make his own deliveries. A similar provision in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 says that a customer who is applying a rating for which no specific quantities have been authorized may use it only to get the "minimum amount needed."

(b) Factors to be considered in determining how much can be ordered and delivered. In determining a customer's minimum inventory "reasonably necessary" under Priorities Regulation 32 or his "minimum amount needed" under Priorities Regulation No. 3, it is proper in some cases to consider not only the immediate needs of the customer's plant but also whether the amount which he orders will be a minimum production run for his supplier. The customer may order and receive (and the supplier may deliver) the customer's requirements for a longer period in advance than he actually needs at the time of delivery if, but only if, it is not practicable for him to get the item from any supplier in the smaller quantities which he presently needs. The supplier may reject his customer's order if it is less than the minimum which he regularly sells or less than his minimum production run of a product which is mass-produced under the conditions explained in Interpretation 3 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(c) Relief in exceptional cases. If the conditions stated in paragraph (b) above cannot be satisfied but the customer wants to order or accept delivery of more than his actual needs at the time of delivery, he should apply to the Housing Expediter for permission, stating the facts and why it is not practicable to satisfy the condition of paragraph (b).

(d) Specific limits on ratings may not be exceeded. This interpretation does not apply to the use of a rating where a specific quantity is stated in the instrument assigning the rating. If a person is assigned a rating for a specific amount of material, he may not use it to get more. If he finds that he can only get the material in larger quantities, he should apply for a modification of the rating.

(e) No effect on contractual rights. The times and amounts in which deliveries are to be made are to be determined by agreement between the supplier and the customer. Nothing in this interpretation relieves a supplier from fulfilling a contract to make deliveries at specified time in specified amounts. For example, if a customer has agreed to buy and a supplier has agreed to furnish 100 units a month for six months, this interpretation does not obligate the buyer to accept 600 units delivered during the first month, although it permits him to do so under the conditions described in paragraph (b). (Issued March 31, 1947.)

MAKING OR DELIVERING MATERIAL EARLIER THAN REQUIRED BY CUSTOMERS

(a) Paragraph (c) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from knowingly making a delivery which will give his customer more than the latter is permitted to receive under the regulation. Paragraph (g) of that regulation prohibits a person from processing or fabricating material if his inventory of the material in its processed or fabricated form will be more than a practicable minimum working inventory. These two restrictions should be borne in mind by any supplier who wants to make or deliver any material to his customer earlier or in greater quantities than required by the customer.

(b) For example: A supplier has accepted his customer's order of a product to be delivered at the rate of 100 a month for six months. The supplier would like to ship 200 a month for three months, or perhaps the entire 600 in the first month. Since the customer's requirements of 100 a month are presumably all he could accept within the inventory limitations of paragraph (d) of the regulation, the requirement that the supplier may not knowingly ship more than this would prevent him from delivering earlier than required by his customer, unless he received notice from his customer that the receipt of the larger amount would not cause him to have an excess inventory.

(c) Thus, before delivering a material or product substantially earlier or in greater quantities than is called for by his customer's order a supplier is requested to satisfy himself that the receipt by the customer of the changed quantities will be within the permissible inventory limitations applicable to the customer. The supplier may rely on any statement or notice to this effect from his customer, unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

(d) Similarly, assuming his customer would not be permitted to receive the larger quantities, the supplier should take this into account in his plans for processing the material or product so that he himself will not have an inventory greater than permitted by paragraph (g) of the regulation.

(e) This interpretation, of course, does not change the rule on delivery or acceptance of minimum sale quantities or production runs to the extent described in Interpretation 2 to this regulation. (Issued March 31, 1947.)

INTERPRETATION 4

INVENTORY MATERIAL

(a) Paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from accepting delivery of material if his inventory of it is, or will be, greater than the maximum prescribed. For the purpose of this regulation, material is considered to be inventory until it is actually put into process or is actually installed or assembled. Putting into process does not include minor initial operations such as painting, and does not include any shearing, cutting, trimming or other operation unless such initial operations are part of a continuous fabricating or assembling operation. Nor does it include operations such as inspection, testing and ageing nor segregation or earmarking for a specific job or operation.

(b) For example, if a manufacturer who uses lumber cuts a sufficient quantity of it to length at one time to maintain his operations for a considerable period of time, the cut pieces remain as inventory until processed into another form or until assembled or installed. (Issued March 31, 1947.)

EFFECT OF REDUCTION IN CONSUMPTION RATE ON PERMITTED INVENTORIES

(a) Paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits the acceptance of delivery of material if a person's inventory of it is or will be, more than the amount permitted by the regulation. If material is acquired within these restrictions the regulation does not prohibit the mere possession of an inventory if a change in circumstances makes it greater than the amount permitted. For instance, if based upon current rate of production a manufacturer's permitted inventory of a certain item is 100 and he has in inventory 60, he may receive a further delivery of 40. If after receiving the delivery of 40 his rate of consumption, because of contract cancellation or the like, is reduced drastically the mere fact that he has an inventory of 100, although his permitted inventory may be only 10, is not a violation of the regulation. He may not, of course, accept any further deliveries of that item until his inventory has been reduced below 10 (except as provided in paragraph (i) of Priorities Regulation 32 relating to material already shipped, special items, etc.).

(b) Similarly, the regulation does not affect the liability of a customer for material in inventory when the customer cancels his contract. Such liability is controlled by the provisions of the contract between the customer and his supplier and by contract law. (Issued March 31, 1947.)

[Priorities Reg. 33, Schedule A, as Amended March 3, 1947, Amdt. 1]

PART 803—PRIORITIES REGULATIONS UNDER VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING ACT OF 1946

Section 803.11a, Schedule A to Priorities Regulation 33, is amended as follows:

1. Add the following subparagraph at the end of paragraph (c):

(6) Cut-off date. No order bearing an HH rating may be placed by a builder, contractor, sub-contractor, or prefabricator after April 15, 1947. The placing of such orders is subject to the 30-day and three-month time restrictions of paragraph (c) (2) of this section. An HH rated order which conforms with the specifications of this paragraph remains valid until filled.

However, a builder, contractor, subcontractor, or prefabricator who is authorized to place HH rated orders may request relief from the restrictions of this paragraph (c) (6) if (i) for reasons beyond his control, he is unable to place his order by April 15, 1947, or (ii) he is not entitled to specify a delivery date which meets the time restrictions of paragraph (c) (2) of this section. He may request relief by sending in an explanatory letter, in triplicate, no later than June 1, 1947, to the appropriate local office of the Federal Housing Administration in all cases except those in which his original application for priorities assistance was filed with the Federal Public Housing Authority. In such cases, he should address his request to the appropriate FPHA Regional Office. In general, relief will be granted only where it is shown that exceptional and unreasonable hardship will otherwise result to the applicant.

A person to whom such relief is granted may apply an HH rating by placing on his order the certificate specified in paragraph (c) (5) of this section, adding to that certificate the following sentence: "Use of HH rating after April 15, 1947 authorized under Schedule A to PR 33."

This paragraph (c) (6) does not apply to certified HH and HHH rated orders, since they are covered by Direction 11 to PR 33.

2. Renumber the present paragraph (d) as "(e)" and insert the following as paragraph (d):

(d) Use of materials: "Special sales." Under PR 1, materials obtained with priorities assistance must, if possible, be used for the purposes for which the assistance was given. Rules for "special sales" of such materials in cases where it was not possible to use them for the original purposes have been set out in PR 13. Due to revocation of PR 13, effective April 1, 1947, this Schedule A now contains the rules for "special sales" of certain materials after April 1, 1947.

(1) Permitted sales. These rules apply only to materials obtained with priorities assistance for the housing program (HHH ratings, HH ratings, or certified orders authorized under PR 33, directions to PR 33, HEPR-5, or HEPR-6). A person who has such material which he is unable to use for the authorized purposes may sell it as follows. If all the material of the same kind that he has at any one location did not cost him more than $100, he may sell it free of the restrictions of this paragraph. If, however, the material cost him more than $100, he may sell it only to any of the following persons, upon the basis of a buyer's certificate as set out in paragraph (d) (2) of this section:

(i) A builder, contractor, or sub-contractor, for his use in housing accommodations specifically authorized under PR 33, HEPR-5, or HPR;

(ii) A prefabricator who has received an authorization under Direction 8 to PR 33 or HEPR-6, for his use in making prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages;

(iii) A builder, contractor, or sub-contractor, for his use in the Veterans' Administration Construction Program;

(iv) A distributor or dealer, for resale to any person who is listed in (i), (ii), or (iii), or in this subparagraph (iv), who gives the certificate specified in paragraph (d) (2) of this section:

(v) A producer, or reprocessor, of the same kind of material, for resale to any person who is listed in (i), (ii), (iii), or (iv) and who gives the certificate specified in paragraph (d) (2) of this section.

(2) Buyer's certificate. The buyer's certificate required in paragraph (d) (1) of this section must be in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned certifies to the U. S. Government, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he is eligible, under Schedule A to FR 33, to buy the materials covered by this order and that he will use or dispose of them only as permitted by that Schedule.
> Buyer's signature

Any person giving this certificate may use or dispose of the materials which he gets with it only in accordance with this Schedule A. Any person who has given the certificate previously specified in PR 13 for the class of materials referred to in paragraph (d) (1) of this section may use or dispose of those materials only in accordance with the certificate he gave or in accordance with this Schedule A.

[Priorities Reg. 33, Dir. 8, as Amended March 31, 1947]

PART 803—PRIORITIES REGULATIONS UNDER VETERANS' EMERGENCY HOUSING ACT OF 1946

PREFABRICATED HOUSING

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 33:

(a) What this section does. This section, Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33, explains the restrictions on prefabricators' and dealers' (wholesale and retail) sales of prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages. The sales restrictions in this section apply to all such items (as defined below) regardless of whether or not they were produced with priorities assistance under this section.

Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 6 explains how priorities assistance was issued to qualified prefabricators prior to December 24, 1946. It sets out the rules governing prefabricators' use of priorities assistance, and explains how prefabricators may use materials obtained with such assistance.

This section was formerly issued by the Civilian Production Administration. As of April 1, 1947, it has been transferred to the Housing Expediter, and adopted by him through Housing Expediter Priorities Order 5.

DEFINITIONS

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section:

(1) "Prefabricator" means a person engaged in the business of manufacturing prefabricated houses, sections, or panels.

(2) "Prefabricated house" means a house of which at least the exterior walls are formed by the assembly of prefabricated sections or panels as defined below. The term "prefabricated house" does not include house trailers.

(3) "Prefabricated section" means a house section which is manufactured in a factory, is transported without being taken apart, and is designed to be used in combination with one or more prefabricated sections, prefabricated panels, or conventionally constructed elements to produce housing accommodations.

(4) "Prefabricated panel" means a floor, wall, partition, ceiling, roof, or truss panel which is manufactured in a factory and is designed to be used in combination with one or more prefabricated sections, prefabricated panels, or conventionally constructed elements to produce housing accommodations. Prefabricated panels may, but need not, incorporate such items as window and door frames, sash, doors, builders' hardware, wiring, piping, etc.

(5) "Prefabricated package" means the aggregation of prefabricated sections or panels and building materials and equipment shipped, in a lot, by a prefabricator.

(6) The terms "prefabricated panel" and "prefabricated section" do not include: (i) fabricated structural steel such as columns or beams, (ii) millwork, (iii) items of furniture and equipment not to be permanently attached to and made a part of a house, or (iv) building materials cut to size and shape for assembly at the building site (unless shipped by the prefabricator as part of the prefabricated package he supplies).

(7) Any prefabricated house, section, panel, or package containing materials obtained with priorities assistance given on Forms CPA-4415 or NHA-14-53, under this section or under HEPR 6, is "produced" or "manufactured" under this section.

(8) "This section" means this Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33.

PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE FOR PREFABRICATORS

(c) Prefabricators' applications for priorities assistance. After December 24, 1946, no priorities assistance will be given to prefabricators, under this section (or under HEPR 6), for the manufacture of prefabricated houses, sections, panels, and packages. However, authorizations given before that date remain valid for the periods covered by them.

(d) Prefabricators' use of priorities assistance. Prefabricators to whom priorities assistance has been given may use that assistance, and material obtained with the assistance, only in accordance with applicable regulations (including the provisions of paragraph (c) of Schedule A to PR 33). In addition, any conditions and limitations placed under HEPR 6 must be complied with.

SALES PROVISIONS

(e) Unerected sales. In selling unerected prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages, a prefabricator or a dealer must accept and fill rated orders in preference to unrated orders in accordance with the rules of PR 1. This applies regardless of whether or not the items were produced under this section.

(f) Erected sales. In selling erected prefabricated houses, sections, panels, or packages, a prefabricator or dealer must comply with the rules of PR 33, HEPR 5 or the Housing Permit Regulation (whichever is applicable). This applies regardless of whether or not the items were produced under this section.

(g) Applicability of VHP 1. Erection of a prefabricated house, section, panel, or package is "construction" under Order VHP 1. Consequently, such construction must be authorized unless any of the exemptions in VHP 1 are applicable. A person wishing to erect, for his own use or for sale, may apply under the Housing Permit Regulation for authorization by the Federal Housing Administration (or, in appropriate cases, by the Federal Public Housing Authority).

(h) Extending customers' HH ratings—(1) Extension by prefabricators prohibited. A prefabricator must not extend an HH rating which he receives from a customer.

(2) Extension by dealers permitted. A dealer who receives an HH or HHH rated order from a customer for a prefabricated house, section, panel, or package may extend the rating to get the item for sale to that customer or to replace an item sold out of inventory to that customer on the rated order.

DISPOSAL OF MATERIALS

(i) Disposal of materials. In accordance with Priorities Regulation 1, materials obtained by a prefabricator with priorities assistance under this section or HEPR 6 may be used by him only for the purposes for which the assistance was given. If he is unable to use the materials for those purposes, he may use or dispose of them only as follows:

(1) By "special sale" in accordance with Schedule A to PR 33.

(2) By such other use as may be authorized in writing by the Housing Expediter.

PART 851—ORGANIZATION DESCRIPTION, INCLUDING DELEGATIONS OF FINAL AUTHORITY [1]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By Executive Order 9836 issued March 22, 1947, effective April 1, 1947, the President has transferred to the Housing Expediter all functions of the Temporary Controls Administrator and of the Office of Temporary Controls with respect to the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program which have previously been administered by the Civilian Production Administration in the Office of Temporary Controls. By the same Executive order the President has delegated to the Housing Expediter, to the extent necessary for the proper exercise of the functions which were transferred, the powers and authority vested in the President by Title III of the Second War Powers Act, 1942, as amended. These powers and this authority are in addition to those vested in the Housing Expediter by the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946. To permit the carrying out of the functions transferred to the Housing Expediter by this Executive order, the Organization Description, including Delegations of Final Authority, of the Office of the Housing Expediter, Part 851 of this chapter, is amended to include the following sections:

SUBPART A—CENTRAL OFFICE

§ 851.8a Office of Compliance Commissioners. The following organizational and procedural documents of the Civilian Production Administration, or parts of such documents, relating to the Office of Compliance Commissioners are hereby adopted, ratified and confirmed for the Office of the Housing Expediter and shall remain in full force and effect until revoked or amended by the Housing Expediter:

(a) § 903.204, Organizational Document 1, Civilian Production Administration, 11 F. R. 177A-372.

(c) Procedural Document 6, Civilian Production Administration, 11 F. R. 177A-372.

§ 851.8b Compliance Division. The following organizational and procedural documents of the Civilian Production Administration, or parts of such documents, relating to the Compliance Division are hereby adopted, ratified and confirmed for the Office of the Housing Expediter and shall remain in full force and effect until revoked or amended by the Housing Expediter:

(a) § 903.210 (i), Organizational Document 1, Civilian Production Administration, 11 F. R. 177A-372.

(c) Procedural Document 6, Civilian Production Administration, 11 F. R. 177A-372.

§ 851.8c Division of Non-Residential Construction. The Division of Non-Residential Construction is responsible for the conservation of scarce building materials necessary for the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program and other essential construction.

The conservation of building materials is accomplished primarily through the administration of the Veterans' Housing Program Order (VHP-1) which restricts construction. The Division of Non-Residential Construction processes applications for all types of non-housing construction.

The Division of Non-Residential Construction is comprised of the Office of the Director, the Field Operations Section which directs the District Construction Offices, the Project Processing Section and the Facilities Review Committee.

(a) The Field Operations Section directs the activities of the District Construction Offices listed in § 851.15a that are established in principal cities throughout the country and in Honolulu and Puerto Rico.

(b) The District Construction Offices receive all non-housing applications submitted under VHP-1. The managers and assistant managers of the District Construction Offices are authorized to take action with respect to these applications as provided below under "Delegations of Authority."

Certain applications may be referred to the Washington Office for administrative action even though ordinarily within the scope of the District Construction Manager or Assistant Manager's authority. These include cases where considerations of national policy are involved or where additional special information is available only to the Washington Office.

A District Construction Committee, composed of a group of public advisers representative of the major economic interests of the locality assists each District Construction Manager in the review of the applications. Each committee generally includes a representative from an industrial interest, such as manufacturing, mining, lumber, etc., from the construction materials distribution industry, from the construction industry, from construction labor, from commercial interests, from the press, from state or civic government, and a representative of veterans of World War II. The committee acts in an advisory capacity to the District Construction Manager who has sole authority to approve or deny the applications coming within his jurisdiction.

(c) The Project Processing Section is responsible for the approval or denial of applications for construction projects under the following circumstances:

(1) When the application is beyond the scope of field authority.

(2) When the application is on appeal from a decision rendered by the District Construction Manager or Assistant Manager.

(3) When the project requires consideration on a national scale.

The Project Processing Section refers to the Facilities Review Committee appeals on all cases which it has previously denied unless the decision of denial is reversed and the case approved. It may, however, refer any case which it elects to the Facilities Review Committee.

(d) The Facilities Review Committee is composed of a chairman designated by the Director of the Division of Non-Residential Construction and in addition representatives of the Labor Advisory Service, the Review and Analysis Branch, and the Project Processing Section. This committee reviews applications for construction projects that are referred to it by the Project Processing Section. The committee acts in an advisory capacity to the chairman who has authority to approve or deny applications.

§ 853.1 Appeals procedure—(a) What this section does. This section, the Housing Expediter Appeals Order, explains the procedure for appealing from:

(1) Any regulation or order of the Housing Expediter (except Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 and those regulations and orders which provide for appeals to be addressed elsewhere than to the Housing Expediter or the National Housing Agency), and

(2) Administrative actions of the Housing Expediter, or of persons or offices acting under a delegation from him (except issuance of suspension orders, other compliance actions, denial of applications for construction authorizations, and actions taken upon an appeal).

DEFINITIONS

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this section:

(1) "Regulation" or "order" means a published document which is applicable generally to all persons or to a class of persons described in such document.

(2) "Administrative action" means any action, in connection with a regulation or order, taken with respect to a particular person.

(3) "Appeal" means a request for relief from the provision of a regulation or order or from an administrative action.

(5) "Appellant" means a person filing an appeal as provided in this section.

(6) "This section" means this Housing Expediter Appeals Order.

FILING OF APPEALS

(c) Who may file. Any person affected by a regulation, order, or administrative action of the kind described in paragraph (a) of this section may file an appeal on the ground:

(1) That the regulation, order, or administrative action works an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him,

(2) That the regulation, order, or administrative action improperly discriminates against him, or

(3) That administrative action taken under a regulation or order is based on an incorrect interpretation thereof.

Any person filing an appeal may request an oral hearing.

(d) Preparation of appeals. Appeals must be in writing. Unless otherwise provided in a regulation or order appealed from, all appeals and accompanying material shall be filed in triplicate. (If the submission of three copies of all accompanying documents or exhibits would place an undue burden on the appellant, waiver of this rule may be requested at the time the appeal is filed.) An appeal must be clearly marked as such and shall be in letter form unless a regulation or order appealed from provides otherwise.

All appeals must state clearly (1) the provision of the regulation or order, or the administrative action, appealed from, (2) the grounds for the appeal, and (3) the relief requested by the appellant. The various grounds for the appeal shall be separately stated and numbered, with a clear and concise statement of all facts alleged in support of each ground.

If a request for an oral hearing is made, it must be in writing and should be filed with the appeal.

(e) Where to file. All appeals shall be addressed to the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C. They shall be marked "Ref: Appeals", except if otherwise provided in the regulation or order in connection with which the appeal is filed.

PROCESSING OF APPEALS

(f) Consideration of appeals by the Appeals Board. The Appeals Board of the Office of the Housing Expediter has been established as an impartial body to consider appeals. The Board consists of three members appointed by the Housing Expediter, or their alternates, one of whom acts as Chairman.

(g) Oral hearings. If an oral hearing is requested, it will be held at Washington, D. C. A date will be set and notice of the time and place of the hearing will be given the appellant by the Appeals Board at least five days before the date set for the hearing.

Such hearings will be informal, and the appellant need not be represented by counsel unless he so wishes. The Board shall not be bound by the rules of evidence. No oath will be administered to witnesses, but misrepresentations are punishable under the Federal statutes.

(h) Records. Complete records concerning each appeal will be kept by the Appeals Board and will be available to inspection by persons properly and directly concerned, unless the records contain confidential business information or are considered confidential for reasons of administrative privacy.

DISPOSITION OF APPEALS

(i) Appeals incorrectly made. An appeal not prepared or filed substantially as provided in this section, or in the applicable regulation or order in connection with which the appeal is filed, may be returned to the appellant without action.

(j) Decisions. All appeals will be considered and decided within a reasonable time after they are filed. An appeal may be granted or denied, in whole or in part, by the Appeals Board. Before reaching a decision, the Board may provide an opportunity for the appellant to present additional evidence. Determinations by a majority of the Appeals Board shall be final. The determination of an appeal will be communicated to the appellant in writing.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Paragraph (a) Committee on Practice of § 10.1 Committee established, is hereby amended to delete the last sentence.

2. Paragraph (b) of § 10.1 is hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Duties of the Committee. The Committee shall receive and act upon applications to be recognized as attorneys or agents before the Treasury Department; receive and act upon applications for reenrollment from attorneys or agents who have been disbarred; conduct hearings; make inquiries; and perform other duties as prescribed herein.

3. Paragraph (d) of § 10.1 is hereby amended to read as follows:

(d) Attorney for the Government. The Secretary of the Treasury shall appoint an attorney not a member of the Committee as Attorney for the Government to prepare and present all formal statements of charges against enrolled attorneys or agents, to supervise the gathering of evidence in support of such charges, including the taking of depositions, to represent the Government in all proceedings before the Committee, to represent the Government in all proceedings pursuant to § 10.7, and to perform other duties incident to his position.

4. Paragraph (b) of § 10.7 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 10.7 Proceedings for disbarment, suspension, and reinstatement. • • •

(b) Rules of procedure. The Attorney for the Government may, either on the basis of such information or upon his own motion where he has cause to believe that any enrolled attorney or agent has violated any provision of the laws or regulations governing practice before the Treasury Department, institute proceedings for suspension or disbarment against any enrolled attorney or agent, hereinafter called the respondent in this paragraph, by filing with the Committee a statement of charges signed by the Attorney for the Government. Subject to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), such proceedings shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Opportunity to avoid proceeding. The Attorney for the Government shall, before a proceeding is instituted, give to the respondent notice in writing that:

(i) Transmits a copy of the proposed statement of charges, or a specification of the substance thereof:

(ii) Cites sections 5 (b) and 9 (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act;

(iii) Calls upon the respondent to show cause why the proceeding should not be instituted;

(iv) Informs the respondent that the notice affords him opportunity to make submissions and demonstrations of the character contemplated by the cited statutory provisions;

(v) Invites any negotiation that the respondent deems it desirable to enter into; and

(vi) Specifies a reasonable time for response to such notice: Provided, That, if prior to institution of the proceeding, the Attorney for the Government determines that the case is one in which such notice would be improper and unnecessary, he shall file his findings and his reasons therefor in the record, and such proceeding may be instituted without first giving notice. [Rule 1]

(2) Service—(i) Service of notice and statement of charges. Notice of a proceeding for suspension or disbarment, signed by the Secretary or a member of the Committee, shall be served upon the respondent in the following manner:

(a) By delivery to the respondent personally, or

(b) By registered mail, with demand for a return card signed by the respondent: Provided, That, if an enrolled attorney or agent shall have signed and filed with the Committee on Practice his written consent to be served in some other manner it shall be sufficient if service is made in that manner. Where the service is by registered mail, the receipt of the return card duly signed shall be satisfactory evidence of service.

The notice shall give the place and time within which the respondent shall file his answer, which time shall be not less than 20 days from the date of service of the notice, and shall contain or be accompanied by a statement of charges, which statement shall be signed by the Attorney for the Government.

(ii) Service of papers other than notice and statement of charges. Papers other than the original notice and statement of charges shall be served on the respondent as follows:

(a) By delivering the same to the respondent personally, or by registered mail; or

(b) By leaving them at his office with his clerk or with a person in charge thereof; or

(c) By depositing them in a United States post office or post office box, enclosed in a sealed envelope, plainly addressed to such respondent at the address under which he is enrolled or at his last address known to the Committee.

(d) When the respondent is represented by attorney, by service upon the attorney in the same manner as provided in subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) of this subdivision for service on the respondent. [Rule 2]

(3) Examiner. There shall preside at the reception of the evidence an examiner, appointed as provided in the Administrative Procedure Act: Provided, however, That until examiners are appointed as provided in said act (but in no case initiated after June 10, 1947), the Committee shall act as examiner, and its action shall be taken by majority vote. [Rule 3]

(4) Filing of papers. Whenever under this paragraph the filing of a paper in a proceeding is required or permitted, and the place of filing is not specified either by rule of the examiner in the particular proceeding or pursuant to this paragraph, the paper shall be filed with the Committee on Practice, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. [Rule 4]

(5) Extension of time. In any case in which the time for filing, pleading, making a submittal, or making an appeal, shall have expired, or shall be about to expire, to the prejudice of a party, the examiner shall have the power in his discretion and upon appropriate application and showing by the party prejudiced, to extend the time, as justice may be deemed to require. [Rule 5]

(6) Negotiation. At any time prior to hearing by the examiner, the Attorney for the Government is authorized, in his sound discretion, to negotiate with the respondent for the purposes contemplated by sections 5 (b) and 9 (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act. The parties may at any time during the hearing limit the issues by stipulation. Any stipulations resulting from such negotiation shall be entered in the record. [Rule 6]

(7) Resignation to avoid disbarment. If pursuant to negotiation (or otherwise) the respondent resigns to avoid possible institution of disbarment proceedings, or to avoid possible disbarment or suspension in a pending proceeding, the Committee may, upon motion of the Attorney for the Government, accept the resignation. If the Committee overrules the motion it shall enter a formal order which shall recite the findings of fact and conclusions of the Committee and which shall be made of record in the proceeding, if any, against the respondent before the examiner. [Rule 7]

(8) Statement of charges. The statement of charges shall give a plain and concise description of the facts which it is claimed constitute grounds for suspension or disbarment, without a detailed description of such facts. A statement of charges which fairly informs the respondent of the charges against him so that he is able to prepare his defense shall be deemed sufficient. Different means by which a purpose may have been accomplished or different intents with which acts may have been committed may be alleged in the statement of charges in a single count in the alternative. [Rule 8]

(9) Bill of particulars. If, in order to prepare his defense, the respondent desires additional information as to the time and place of the alleged misconduct, or the means by which it was committed, or any other more specific information concerning the alleged misconduct, he may present a motion in writing to the examiner asking that the statement of charges be made more specific, setting forth in such motion in specific manner in what respect the statement of charges leaves him in doubt and describing the particular language of the statement of charges as to which additional information is needed. If in the opinion of the examiner such information is reasonably necessary to enable the respondent to prepare his defense, the examiner shall direct the Attorney for the Government to furnish the respondent with an amended statement of charges giving the needed information. [Rule 9]

(10) Answer. The respondent's answer shall be filed in writing within the time specified in the original notice unless on application the time is extended pursuant to subparagraph (5) of this paragraph. The answer shall be made under oath before a notary public or other officer authorized to administer oaths and shall be filed in duplicate with the Committee on Practice. [Rule 10]

(11) Content of answer. In this answer the respondent should specifically admit or deny every material allegation of fact in the statement of charges. Every allegation in the statement of charges not denied shall be deemed admitted, unless the respondent shall state in his answer that he has no knowledge thereof sufficient to form a belief, which statement shall be considered a denial. In answer to a statement of charges, no enrolled person shall deny a material allegation of fact which he knows to be true, or state in such answer that he is without sufficient information to form a belief when in fact he possesses such information. [Rule 11]

(12) Affirmative defense. In his answer the respondent may also state affirmatively special matters of defense, and shall not give in evidence any matters in avoidance or of defense, consistent with the truth of the allegations of the statement of charges, unless in his answer he states such matters specifically. [Rule 12]

(13) Complaining witness. The Attorney for the Government may in his discretion furnish a complaining witness with a copy of the answer if in his opinion such action will aid in ascertaining the truth or falsity of the charges. The term "complaining witness" for the purposes of this provision shall include any officer or employee of the Treasury Department or any enrolled attorney or agent who may have reported the alleged misconduct to the Attorney for the Government, or any other person upon whose information the Attorney for the Government has instituted the proceeding. [Rule 13]

(14) Reply to answer. If the answer contains affirmative matter in avoidance, consistent with the truth of the material allegations in the statement of charges, a reply by the Attorney for the Government admitting or denying the new matter set forth in the answer shall be filed and served upon the respondent. [Rule 14]

(15) Supplemental charges. If it appears that a denial of a material allegation of fact in the statement of charges, or a statement that the respondent has no knowledge sufficient to form a belief, was made in bad faith in the answer; or that the respondent has knowingly introduced false testimony during proceedings against him for suspension or disbarment, the Attorney for the Government may thereupon file supplemental charges, which charges may be tried with the other charges in the case, provided the respondent shall be given due notice thereof and afforded an opportunity for preparing a defense thereto. [Rule 15]

(16) Sufficiency of the pleadings. The examiner shall have authority to pass upon the sufficiency of the statement of charges, the answer, and all other pleadings. The parties may be heard upon the sufficiency of any pleadings whenever in the opinion of the Examiner a hearing thereon is necessary or desirable. [Rule 16]

(17) Immaterial mistakes. The Examiner shall disregard an immaterial misnomer of a third person, an immaterial mistake in the description of any person, thing, or place or the ownership of any property, a failure to prove immaterial allegations in the description of the respondent's conduct, or any other immaterial mistake in the pleadings. [Rule 17]

(18) Hearings. Subject to this paragraph the examiner may determine the time, place, and manner in which hearings shall be conducted; the form in which evidence shall be received; and may adopt rules of procedure and modify the same from time to time as occasion requires for the orderly disposition of suspension, disbarment, and reinstatement cases. Written notice of the time and place of all hearings shall be given the respondent in the manner provided in this paragraph for the service of papers. No hearing shall be held in less than 10 days from the date of service on the respondent of the notice of such hearing, except that the Examiner may postpone or adjourn hearings when necessary or desirable, on notice to the parties. [Rule 18]

(19) Testimony. Unless the examiner shall otherwise direct, the testimony of witnesses at all hearings will be taken under oath and stenographically recorded and transcribed. [Rule 19]

(20) Depositions. Depositions for use at a hearing may, with the written approval of the examiner, be taken by either the Attorney for the Government or the respondent, or their duly authorized representatives, upon oral or written interrogatories, before any officer duly authorized to administer an oath for general purposes, or an officer of the Internal Revenue Bureau authorized to administer an oath in internal revenue matters, upon not less than 10 days' written notice to the other party. Such notice shall state the names of the witnesses, and the time and place where such depositions are to be taken: Provided, That when depositions are taken as aforesaid, if both parties are present or represented at the time and place specified for the taking of the depositions, either party may, after the examination of the witnesses produced under the order of the Examiner, be entitled to produce and examine other witnesses; but in such case one day's notice must be given to the other party or his duly authorized representative there present, unless such notice is waived: And provided further, That the parties or their duly authorized representatives may agree in writing upon a time when and place at which depositions are to be taken, without formal notice. When a deposition is taken upon written interrogatories, any cross-examination shall be upon written interrogatories. Copies of such written interrogatories shall be served with the notice, and copies of any written cross-interrogatories shall be mailed or delivered to the opposing party or his duly authorized representative at least 5 days before the time of taking the depositions. [Rule 20]

(21) Documents. Whenever any book, document or paper is introduced as an exhibit in a proceeding, the examiner may authorize, upon such conditions as he may deem proper, the withdrawal of such exhibit upon the request of the Attorney for the Government, or of the respondent or his attorney. [Rule 21]

(22) Proof; partial. If the examiner finds that a part of the charges in the statement or charges is not sufficiently proved but that the residue thereof is so proved, he may base his findings on any facts established by the evidence which are grounds for suspension or disbarment and which are substantially charged by the said residue of the statement of charges. [Rule 22]

(23) Proof; variance. In the case of a variance between the allegations in the statement of charges and the evidence, the examiner shall have power to base his findings on any facts established by the evidence which are grounds for suspension or disbarment, and to order the amendment of the statement of charges to conform to the evidence: Provided, That the respondent has had or is given reasonable opportunity to present his defense to such amended charges, with such postponements of the hearing as may be reasonably necessary to permit the respondent to present such defense. [Rule 23]

(24) Submittals. After the reception of evidence has been concluded, the Examiner shall by rule afford the parties a reasonable opportunity to submit proposed findings and conclusions and supporting reasons therefor. In the event that depositions are introduced on behalf of the Government at the hearing or in the event that oral testimony in support of the charges is produced by the Government at the hearing, the Attorney for the Government, as soon as possible after the hearing, shall prepare and file with the examiner proposed findings of fact based upon all the evidence in the case. [Rule 24]

(25) Exceptions to proposed findings. Upon receipt of proposed findings and conclusions submitted by a party pursuant to subparagraph (24) of this paragraph, the Examiner shall forward to the other parties in the case or their attorneys a copy thereof together with a copy of the transcript of such oral testimony and depositions as may have been introduced. Such parties shall have not less than 10 days after receipt of such papers in which to submit in writing to the Examiner their exceptions, if any, to such proposed findings and conclusions. Neither such parties nor their attorneys shall have the right to receive any copies of exhibits introduced at the hearing or at the taking of the depositions. Such parties or their attorneys, however, shall have the right to examine all exhibits. Upon receipt of such exceptions, or after the time for filing such exceptions has expired if no such exceptions are filed, the examiner shall make his findings and conclusions as required by subparagraph (26) of this paragraph. [Rule 25]

(26) Decision by the examiner. After the parties rest, the examiner shall make his decision in the case, which decision shall include (i) findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record and (ii) a recommended order of suspension or disbarment or his order to dismiss the charges, as the case may require.

In making his findings and conclusions as to the truth of any charges which are duly put in issue by the papers in any case and upon which a hearing is had, the examiner shall be guided by the preponderance of reliable, probative, and substantial evidence. If at any hearing upon issues of fact raised by the papers in the case the respondent falls to put in any evidence, the examiner may base his findings upon the evidence submitted by the attorney for the Government. [Rule 26]

(27) Effect of initial decision. If the decision of the examiner does not contemplate the suspension or disbarment of the respondent, such initial decision in the absence of an appeal pursuant to subparagraph (28) of this paragraph shall without further proceedings become the decision of the Secretary of the Treasury. [Rule 27]

(28) Appeal. Any party adversely affected or aggrieved, within 30 days after the decision is filed with the Committee, has the right to appeal from such initial decision of the Examiner by filing notice of appeal and to submit exceptions to the decision and supporting reasons therefor, which submittals shall be included in the record of the case. Upon the expiration of said period, the entire record shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury. [Rule 28]

(29) Submittals on recommended decision. If the recommended decision of the Examiner contemplates the suspension or disbarment of the respondent, any party has the right, within 30 days after the decision is filed with the Committee, to submit exceptions to such recommended decision and supporting reasons therefor, which submittals shall be included in the record of the case. Upon the expiration of said period, the entire record shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury. [Rule 29]

(30) Decision by Secretary of the Treasury. The Secretary of the Treasury will make the agency decision in each case in which an appeal has been taken from the initial decision of the Examiner as provided in subparagraph (28) of this paragraph and in each case in which the decision of the Examiner contemplates the suspension or disbarment of the respondent. In making such decision, the Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act, will review the whole record or such portions thereof as may be cited by any party to permit limiting of the issues. [Rule 30]

(31) Notice of decisions. Each decision (initial, recommended, or agency) shall promptly be filed in the record, and the Committee shall thereupon give notice thereof to the parties in the manner prescribed for the service of papers. [Rule 31]

(32) Notice of suspension or disbarment. Upon issuance of an order of suspension or disbarment of an attorney or agent by the Secretary of the Treasury notice thereof shall be given by the Committee to the heads of all interested bureaus, offices, and divisions of the Treasury Department and to other interested departments and agencies of the Government in such manner as the Committee may determine. Such person will not thereafter be recognized during the period of suspension or disbarment as an attorney or agent in any matter before the Treasury Department. Notice in such manner as the Committee may determine may be given to the proper authorities in the State from which an enrolled attorney, certified public accountant, or public accountant derives his license to practice in the event that such attorney, certified public accountant, or public accountant is suspended or disbarred. [Rule 32.]

(33) Reopening. Any attorney or agent who has been suspended or disbarred may make written application to the Committee to have the order of suspension or disbarment vacated or modified upon the ground (i) of newly discovered evidence, or (ii) that important evidence is now available which the applicant was unable to produce at the original hearing by the exercise of due diligence. Every application for reinstatement shall be filed with the Committee in duplicate. Such application must set forth specifically the precise character of the evidence to be relied upon in its support and shall state the reasons why the applicant was unable to produce it when the original charges were heard. If the Examiner after due consideration of the application shall deem it sufficiently meritorious to warrant a hearing, he shall so advise the Committee, who shall set a time and place for such hearing and give due notice thereof to the applicant. Upon the conclusion of the hearing the Committee shall transmit the recommended decision of the Examiner to the Secretary of the Treasury for his approval or disapproval.

In the event that the Secretary shall issue an order vacating or modifying the prior order of suspension or disbarment, notice thereof shall be given by the Committee to all those to whom notice of the original order of suspension or disbarment was sent.

In all cases not covered by the foregoing provisions, a disbarred attorney or agent who desires to be restored to the roll must file a new application for enrollment and otherwise comply with the requirements of § 10.3. [Rule 33]

(34) Saving provision. The regulations governing suspension, disbarment and reinstatement that were in force and effect March 31, 1947, are referred to in this subparagraph as the old rules. This paragraph as amended effective April 1, 1947, is referred to in this subparagraph as the new rules. The old rules shall continue to govern any proceeding that was instituted prior to March 31, 1947: Provided, however, That if in the course of the proceeding there is taken any action that is authorized by the old rules but that is not authorized by the new rules, said action shall not constitute grounds for disturbing any order thereafter made in the proceeding: (i) Unless it is shown that the action was in derogation of substantive rights, and not merely procedural rights; and (ii) unless upon occurrence of the action the respondent made timely objection supported by his reasons, and the objection was overruled: Provided further, That adherence may be had to the new rules pursuant to stipulation of the parties. [Rule 34]

5. Paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of § 10.7 are hereby revoked.

6. These amendments shall take effect on April 1, 1947.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 10—INSURANCE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments are made to Part 10:

§ 10.3156 Assignment of armed forces leave bonds for insurance purposes. No change in (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) or (g).

A new paragraph (h) is added, as follows:

(h) The assignment may be made by the veteran's agent when acting under a special power of attorney or letter of authority containing definite and specific instructions regarding the use of the proceeds of the bond. If the veteran is incompetent the assignment may be made by his legal guardian or if there be no legal guardian and such veteran is hospitalized or receiving domiciliary care at a field station of the Veterans Administration or a State hospital or other institution, the assignment may be made by the manager of the field station or head of the State hospital or institution, as would be appropriate in the particular case, provided there are no funds available for payment of the premiums. The manager of the field station or head of a State hospital or other institution may make such assignment only for the purpose of paying premiums on the existing insurance. The guardian may make the assignment for the purpose of paying premiums on the existing insurance, repaying a loan with interest on such insurance, and, if authorized to do so by the court, when converting to a permanent plan. (60 Stat. 963)

§ 10.3400 Applications by persons in active service. (a) Persons in the active service in the land or naval forces of the United States on October 8, 1940, and persons entering such service after that date (including those selected for training and service in the land or naval forces of the United States under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940) under orders to active duty for a period of not less than thirty-one days, upon written application by any such person and payment of premiums while in such active service, shall be granted National Service Life Insurance, on one or more of the following plans, in an amount of not more than $10,000 or less than $1,000 in multiples of $500, in accordance with subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph: Five-year level premium term, ordinary life, twenty-payment life, thirty-payment life, twenty-year endowment, endowment at age sixty, and endowment at age sixty-five: Provided, That no policy may be issued for less than $1,000. Such insurance must become effective while the applicant is in active service and in accordance with the provisions of § 10.3402 (a). No person may carry at any one time a combined amount of insurance in excess of $10,000 under the War Risk Insurance Act, as amended, the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended, and the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended. Application for National Service Life Insurance should be made on forms prescribed by the Administrator, but any statement in writing which in substance meets the requirements of this regulation shall be considered as an application provided that the first monthly premium is paid, advanced or authorized to be deducted or allotted from pay at time of such application.

No change in (1) or (2).

(b) Applications for insurance under section 602 (c) (2) of the National Service Life Insurance Act, as amended August 1, 1946. Persons who were in the active service between October 8, 1940, and September 2, 1945, both dates inclusive, may be granted National Service Life Insurance on one or more of the plans specified in paragraph (a) of this section, in an amount of not more than $10,000 nor less than $1,000, in multiples of $500, upon compliance with the conditions stated below: Provided, That no policy may be issued for less than $1,000.

(1) Written application therefor by any such person.

(2) Payment of the first monthly premium.

(3) Proof, satisfactory to the Administrator, that the applicant is in good health.

(4) The amount of insurance here granted plus the amount of any other insurance (National Service Life—United States Government Life—War Risk) in force under premium-paying conditions or as extended insurance, shall not exceed $10,000.

(5) No person who has surrendered his National Service Life Insurance for a cash value or for paid-up insurance shall be entitled to apply for insurance under this paragraph to the extent of the amount of insurance so surrendered.

Service in the Philippine Commonwealth Army during the period stated above shall not be considered active service for the purpose of granting new insurance under section 602 (c) (2) of the act, as amended.

Where application is made prior to January 1, 1950, the application will not be denied on the ground that the applicant is not in good health by reason of any disability, less than total in degree, resulting from or aggravated by active service between October 8, 1940, and September 2, 1945.

An application for insurance hereunder should be made on the form prescribed therefor, but any written statement which in substance meets the requirements of this paragraph may be considered an application.

(Secs. 601–618, 54 Stat. 1008–1014, 60 Stat. 781, Pub. Law 5, 80th Cong.; 38 U. S. C. 801–818)

§ 10.3423 Health requirements. National Service Life Insurance on any plan may be reinstated if application and tender of premiums are made:

(a) On or before August 1, 1947, or within three months after lapse, whichever is later, provided the applicant be in as good health on the date of application and tender of premiums as he was on the due date of the premium in default and furnished evidence thereof satisfactory to the Administrator.

(b) Subsequent to August 1, 1947, and after expiration of the three-month period mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section provided applicant is in good health (see § 10.3401) on the date of application and tender of premiums, and furnishes evidence thereof satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs.

(Secs. 601–618, 54 Stat. 1008–1014, 60 Stat. 781, Pub. Law 5, 80th Cong.; 38 U. S. C. 801–818)

§ 10.3426 Dividends. A National Service Life Insurance policy shall participate in and receive such dividends from gains and savings as may be determined by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs. Dividends will be paid in cash except that at the request of the insured they may be left to accumulate on deposit provided the policy is in force on a basis other than extended term insurance or level premium term insurance. Interest on dividend accumulations will be credited annually at such rate as the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs may determine. Dividend accumulations shall not be available for the payment of insurance premiums, but will be used in addition to the reserve on the policy for the purpose of computing the period of extended term insurance or the amount of paid-up insurance as provided in §§ 10.3429 and 10.3430, respectively. Any dividend accumulations not previously withdrawn will be payable at the maturity of the policy to the person entitled to its proceeds.

§ 10.3428 Policy loan; other than five-year level premium term policy. (a) At any time after the expiration of the first policy year and before default in payment of any subsequent premium, and upon the execution of a loan agreement satisfactory to the Administrator, the United States will lend to the insured on the security of his National Service Life Insurance policy, on any plan other than five-year level premium term, any amount which will not exceed 94 percent of the reserve, and any indebtedness on the policy shall be deducted from the amount advanced on such loan. Except as prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section the loan shall bear interest at the rate of 5 per centum per annum, payable annually; and at any time before default in the payment of the premium, the loan may be repaid in full or in amounts of $5 or any multiple thereof. Failure to pay either the amount of the loan or the interest thereon shall not avoid the policy unless the total indebtedness shall equal or exceed the cash value thereof. When the amount of the indebtedness equals or exceeds the cash value the policy shall cease and become void.

No change in (b).

§ 10.3433 Exchange of a five-year level premium term policy as of a current effective date. National Service Life Insurance on the level premium term plan which is in force may be exchanged, effective as of the date any premium becomes due within the term period, for insurance of the same amount on any other plan issued by the Veterans Administration under the National Service Life Insurance Act, 1940, as amended, upon payment by the insured (except where premium waiver is effective) of the current monthly premium at the attained age of the insured for the plan of insurance selected. The reserve (if any) on the policy will be allowed as a credit on the current monthly premium except where premium waiver is effective: Provided, That conversion to an endowment plan may not be made while the insured is totally disabled. The exchange will be made without medical examination except when deemed necessary to determine whether an applicant for exchange to an endowment plan is totally disabled, and upon complete surrender of the policy while in force by payment or waiver of premiums. Except as provided in § 10.3484, conversion of the term policy must be effected within the five-year term period, and if not exchanged or converted prior to the expiration of such period all protection thereunder shall cease.

§ 10.3434 Exchange of a level premium term policy, as of a date prior to the current month. National Service Life Insurance on the level premium term plan which is in force may be exchanged effective as of the date any premium has become due within the term period, for insurance of the same amount on any other plan issued by the Veterans' Administration under the National Service Life Insurance Act, 1940, as amended, upon payment by the insured of the difference between the reserve on the new policy and the reserve on the old policy and payment by the insured (except where premium waiver is effective) of the current monthly premium at the attained age of the insured as of the effective date of the new policy: Provided, That conversion to an endowment plan may not be made while the insured is totally disabled. The exchange will be made without medical examination except when deemed necessary to determine whether an applicant for exchange to an endowment plan is totally disabled, and upon complete surrender of the policy while in force by payment or waiver of premiums: Provided waiver of the premiums on the new policy shall not be effective prior to the date such policy change was made. Except as provided in § 10.3484, conversion of the term policy must be effected within the five-year term period, and if not exchanged or converted prior to the expiration of such period all protection thereunder shall cease.

§ 10.3437 Automatic conversion at the expiration of term period. If the insured is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Administrator to have been continuously totally disabled commencing prior to and extending beyond the expiration of the level premium term period of his insurance and under conditions which, but for such expiration, would entitle him to continued insurance protection under the provision for waiver of premiums in §§ 10.3440, 10.3441 and 10.3442, or for maturity of insurance by death during total disability of less than six months duration in § 10.3481, such term insurance shall be automatically converted to insurance on the ordinary life plan, effective at the expiration of the term period, unless the insured theretofore elected insurance on some other available plan. (Secs. 601–618, 54 Stat. 1008–1014, Pub. Law 5, 80th Cong.; 34 U. S. C. 801–810)

§ 10.3484 Five-year level premium term insurance as extended by Public Law 118, 79th Congress. National Service Life Insurance on the five-year level premium term plan issued on or before December 31, 1945, and not exchanged or converted to another plan may be continued for an additional three-year period dating from the expiration of the original five-year term, and the premiums the insured is required to pay for term insurance during such additional period shall be the same as were required during the original five-year term; insurance will be deemed to have been issued on or before December 31, 1945, if such insurance was applied for and made effective on or before that date: Provided, That such term insurance may be exchanged or converted effective as of the date any premium becomes or has become due during the five-year term period as extended by Public Law 118, 79th Congress, but in all other respects conversion will be effected in accordance with the requirements of §§ 10.3433, 10.3434 or 10.3437, whichever may be applicable: Provided further, That any such term insurance which has lapsed or may hereafter lapse may be reinstated at any time prior to the expiration of the five-year term period as extended, but in all other respects reinstatement will be effected in accordance with the requirements of §§ 10.3422, 10.3423 and 10.3424: And provided further, That if any such policy be not exchanged or converted to a permanent plan prior to the expiration of the five-year term period as extended, all protection thereunder shall cease. (59 Stat. 315)

§ 10.3498 Total disability income provision for National Service Life Insurance authorized by the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended August 1, 1946. No change in first through seventh paragraphs, inclusive.

Paragraph eight:

This provision shall terminate and be of no further force and effect if any premium on the policy or on this provision be not paid when due or within the grace period of thirty-one days thereafter. If a premium be not paid as stipulated then this provision shall cease and terminate, but may be reinstated upon evidence of good health satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, and upon payment of the premiums as stated below. In event the applicant for reinstatement while not totally disabled and prior to January 1, 1950, furnishes proof satisfactory to the Administrator that his inability to furnish proof of good health is the result of an actually service-incurred injury or disability, the requirement of proof of good health shall be waived.

(Reference to amendment of "eleventh paragraph," § 10.3498, 12 F. R. 15, should read "ninth paragraph.")

Paragraph nine:

This provision, if attached to term insurance, may be reinstated upon evidence satisfactory to the Administrator showing the applicant to be in as good health as he was on the due date of the premium in default provided application and two monthly premiums are submitted on or before August 1, 1947, or within three months after the due date of the premium in default, whichever is later; if it be attached to insurance on any other plan reinstatement may be effected on the basis of comparative health provided application and all premiums in arrears with interest are submitted on or before August 1, 1947, or within three months after the due date of the premium in default, whichever is later.

No change in remainder of section.

(Secs. 601–618, 54 Stat. 1008–1014, Pub. Law 5, 80th Cong.; 34 U. S. C. 801–810)

§ 10.3504 Assignment of armed forces leave bonds for insurance purposes. No change in (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) or (g).

A new paragraph (h) is added, as follows:

(h) The assignment may be made by the veteran's agent when acting under a special power of attorney or letter of authority containing definite and specific instructions regarding the use of the proceeds of the bond. If the veteran is incompetent the assignment may be made by his legal guardian or if there be no legal guardian and such veteran is hospitalized or receiving domiciliary care at a field station of the Veterans' Administration, or a State hospital or other institution, the assignment may be made by the manager of the field station or head of the State hospital or institution, as would be appropriate in the particular case, provided there are no other funds available for payment of the premiums. The manager of the field station or head of a State hospital or other institution may make such assignment only for the purpose of paying premiums on the existing insurance. The guardian may make the assignment for the purpose of paying premiums on the existing insurance, repaying a loan with interest on such insurance, and, if authorized to do so by the court, when converting to a permanent plan. PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR

Office of Indian Affairs

[25 CFR, Part 130]

NAVAJO INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act approved June 11, 1946 (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 238), authority of the acts of Congress approved August 1, 1914 and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583; 45 Stat. 210, 25 U. S. C. 385, 387), and by virtue of authority delegated by the Secretary of the Interior to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs September 14, 1946 (11 F. R. 10297), this notice is published of intention (1) to repeal §§ 130.44 to 130.46 inclusive; (2) to transfer the prescribed annual rate of assessments for the Fruitland Unit of the Navajo Indian irrigation project from § 130.105 to § 130.41; and (3) to amend §§ 130.41 to 130.43 inclusive, to read as follows:

§ 130.41 Charges. Pursuant to the acts of August 1, 1914 and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 45 Stat. 210; 25 U. S. C. 385, 387), a part of the reimbursable cost of operating and maintaining the Navajo irrigation project is apportioned on a per-acre basis against the irrigable lands of the respective units for the calendar year 1947 and for each succeeding calendar year until further order, in the amounts designated below for each unit, and there is assessed against each acre of irrigable land to which water can be delivered through the constructed works of the respective unit.

Navajo project	Agency	Per acre per annum
Fruitland unit	Navajo	$1.00
Ganado unit	do	1.00
Hogback unit	do	1.00
Many Farms unit	do	1.00
Lower Rock Point unit	do	.80

For domestic water delivered through the project canal and lateral system to permittees on the reservation lands, $5.00 for each cistern.

For tribal lands operated by the Shiprock High School, $3.00 per acre.

§ 130.42 Payment. The annual charges fixed in § 130.41 shall become due on April 1 of each year; are payable on or before that date, and any charges that remain unpaid after the due date shall stand as a first lien against the land until paid.

The delivery of water shall be refused to all tracts of land for which the charges have not been paid when due, except in instances where the lands are in Indian assignment, and the Indian assignee shall have made the necessary arrangements with the Superintendent as hereafter provided. When any Indian assignee of land is financially unable to pay the operation and maintenance charges on the due date from cash on hand, arrangements may be made by prior agreement with the Superintendent whereby the Indian will perform labor on the project works and pay from the proceeds received from such work at least an amount equal to $1.00 per acre per annum; or the Superintendent may make the necessary arrangements for such Indian assignee to pay the operation and maintenance charges from the proceeds of the crops grown on the land when harvested and marketed within that calendar year, provided written statements to that effect are furnished by the Indian assignee on or before the due date.

In any instance where the Superintendent is convinced that an Indian assignee, is financially unable to pay his operation and maintenance charges from proceeds of labor performed on the project works, or from the proceeds of the crops being grown on the land, or from any other source, the delivery of water may be continued if a written certificate is issued by the Superintendent stating that such Indian is not able to pay his charges and copies thereof forwarded to the District Office Director for approval or rejection. In such cases the unpaid charges shall be entered on the accounts and will stand as a first lien against the land until paid but without penalty for delinquency.

§ 130.43 Water users responsible for water after delivery. It is the duty of the Indian irrigation service to furnish available water for beneficial irrigation use only. It is the duty of all water users of the project to aid in the prevention of the waste of water and of damage to adjacent lands. The water users are responsible for the water after it has been delivered to their lands, and are required to have their field ditches of proper capacity and in suitable condition for the use of economical heads of water.

The proposed changes are to be effective for the calendar year 1947 and until further notice.

Interested persons are hereby given opportunity to participate in preparing the proposed amendments by submitting their views and data or argument in writing to William Zeh, District Director, U. S. Indian Service, 4100 Rhoads Circle, Phoenix, Arizona, within 30 days from the date of the publication of this notice of intention in the daily issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

TELEPHONE RECORDING DEVICES

NOTICE OF ENGINEERING CONFERENCE

MARCH 24, 1947.

In accordance with the final report adopted on March 24, 1947, by the Federal Communications Commission in its proceeding "In the Matter of Use of Recording Devices in Connection with Telephone Service" (Docket No. 6787), notice is hereby given that a public engineering conference will be held at the Commission's offices in Washington, D. C., beginning on April 21, 1947, at 10 a. m. The purpose of this conference will be to consider specific engineering questions presented by the conclusions of the Commission in its report regarding the use and operation of telephone recording devices in connection with interstate and foreign message toll telephone service. As outlined in the report these questions include the following matters:

1. How the physically connected type of recorder should be connected to the telephone line.

2. What safeguards, if any, are required to prevent use of the inductive type of recorder from impairing the telephone circuit.

3. The development of an adequate automatic tone warning signal, which is sufficiently audible to be heard distinctly but which will not unduly interrupt the telephone conversation, which will be uniform in sound throughout the United States, and which will recur at proper intervals.

4. How the automatic tone warning device should be installed and maintained.

On the basis of such findings and recommendations as result from this conference, the Commission will give consideration to the adoption of engineering standards to govern the installation, use, and operation of telephone recorders and automatic tone warning devices in connection with interstate and foreign message toll telephone service.

All telephone companies and manufacturers of telephone recording devices are requested to send qualified representatives to this engineering conference and the State telephone regulatory Commissions and all other interested persons are invited to participate.

All interested parties should advise the Commission in writing no later than April 14, 1947, of their intention to participate in this conference.

CHARGES FOR COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND OVERSEAS FOR FOREIGN POINTS [1]

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 12th day of March 1947;

The Commission, having under consideration earnings reports from the carriers subject to its jurisdiction which are engaged in the furnishing of telegraph communications services between the United States and overseas and foreign points, and it appearing therefrom that the net earnings of the carriers have declined, and that certain carriers may be operating at a loss;

It is ordered, Pursuant to sections 201, 202, 205 and 403 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that an investigation is instituted into the earnings, and the rates and charges, divisions of charges with other carriers, and the related practices, classifications, regulations, and services, of all carriers subject to the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, for or in connection with communications services between the United States and overseas and foreign points;

It is further ordered, That the following carriers are made parties respondent in this proceeding: RCA Communications, Inc., Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc., The Commercial Cable Company, All America Cables and Radio, Inc., The Cuban All America Cables, Inc., The Western Union Telegraph Company, Mexican Telegraph Company, Tropical Radio Telegraph Company, Press Wireless, Inc., United States-Liberia Radio Corporation, South Porto Rico Sugar Company, Globe Wireless, Ltd., Cable and Wireless (W. I.), Ltd., and The French Telegraph Cable Company;

It is further ordered, That, without in any way limiting the scope of the investigation herein, it shall include inquiry into the following matters:

(1) The gross and net earnings of each of the respondent carriers from communications services furnished by them between the United States and overseas and foreign points, including the current level of these earnings, the trends thereof, and the factors presently affecting such earnings; and what regulatory action, if any, is called for;

(2) The lawfulness under sections 201 and 202 of the Communications Act of the present charges of the respondent carriers for and in connection with all classes of communications service between the United States and overseas and foreign points, including each and every class of telegraph service in the commercial, government, and press classifications; facsimile and photo services; program transmission and reception services; and scheduled transmission and reception services; and whether the Commission should determine and prescribe any different charges for such services than those which are now in effect;

(3) The operating expenses which each of the respondent carriers claims should be deducted from gross operating revenues in order to arrive at net operating income to be considered in a determination of charges to the users for the communications services furnished by the carriers between the United States and overseas and foreign points, the trends of such expenses, and the reasonableness of such expenses;

(4) The effect on the earnings of the respondent carriers of their present arrangements for divisions with other carriers, United States and foreign, of charges for and in connection with communications service between the United States and overseas and foreign points;

(5) The amount of gross and net book cost of plant and equipment, and the amount of working capital requirement, of each of the respondent carriers claimed to be devoted to the rendition of communications service between the United States and overseas and foreign points;

(6) The amount of return which is fair and reasonable for each of the respondent carriers; whether it is necessary, or appropriate, under the Communications Act that charges for communications services between the United States and overseas and foreign points should be determined or prescribed on the basis of the revenue requirements of the carrier or carriers having the highest level of net earnings from such service, or on some other basis; and the consideration that should be given in this connection to the relative needs of the cable carriers as compared with those of the radio carriers;

(7) The volume and classes of traffic handled by each of the respondent carriers; the relationship between such traffic volumes and the cost of handling the traffic; and whether, and to what extent, each of the respondent carriers can profitably handle any additional traffic;

(8) The extent to which duplication of service to the same overseas and foreign points by the respondent carriers may be unjustified, uneconomic, and not in the public interest; the effects of such duplication on the earnings of respondent carriers; and what measures, if any, should be undertaken to eliminate such duplication;

It is further ordered, That hearings be held in this proceeding in the offices of the Commission at Washington, D. C., to begin at 10 a. m. on the 14th day of April 1947;

It is further ordered, That the Commission's Telegraph Committee, composed of Commissioners Ray C. Wakefield, Paul A. Walker and C. J. Durr or one or more members thereof, are authorized to preside at the hearings, and otherwise to conduct the proceedings herein.

Notice is hereby given, that § 1.857 of the Commission's rules and regulations is inapplicable to this proceeding.

NON-GOVERNMENT FIXED AND MOBILE SERVICES IN THE BAND 152-162 MC

FREQUENCY SERVICE-ALLOCATIONS

MARCH 21, 1947.

The frequency service-allocations set forth herein have been adopted by the Commission and affect the frequencies available to the following services, proposed services or classes of stations:

Developmental broadcast.
Experimental.
Fixed.
Forestry-conservation.
Geophysical.
Maritime mobile.
Motion picture.
Police.
Power utility, petroleum, etc.
Provisional.
Railroad.
Relay press.
Remote pickup (relay) broadcast.
Rural subscriber telephone.
Short distance toll telephone.
Urban mobile.

Based upon the estimated future needs of each service and the data presented at the hearings and oral argument on frequency service-allocations held in 1944-45, the Commission determined the number of channels to be allocated to each service in this band. The Commission's findings were published in its report of May 25, 1945. Since then the Commission has proposed specific assignable frequencies for these services and, on February 3, 1947, heard oral argument on its proposal set forth in public notice 98709 (October 1, 1946) and revised in public notice 2255 (January 10, 1947). Those who submitted briefs or statements and those personally represented at the oral argument were as follows:

American Broadcasting Company, Inc.
American Taxicab Association.
American Telephone and Telegraph Company.
American Transit Association.
Association of American Railroads.
Association of Police Communications Officers, Inc.
Boston Police Department.
Chicago Park District.
Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.
Committee 2, Panel 13, Radio Technical Planning Board.
Committee 4, Panel 13, Radio Technical Planning Board.
Eastern States Police Radio League, Inc.
Forestry Conservation Communications Association.
Galvin Manufacturing Corporation.
General Telephone Corporation.
International Association of Chiefs of Police.
International Association of Fire Chiefs.
Lorain County Radio Corporation.
Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, Inc.
Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association.
Mutual Broadcasting System, Inc.
National Broadcasting Company, Inc.
National Bus Communications, Inc.
National Federation of American Shipping.
Police Committee, Panel 13, Radio Technical Planning Board.
Radiomarine Corporation of America.
Raytheon Manufacturing Company.
RCA Communications, Inc.
Western Union Telegraph Company.

While much data and testimony were presented regarding the importance of the various services and their lack of adequate spectrum space, only one concrete objection to the Commission's proposal of October 1, 1946, as amended January 10, 1947, was presented. The four major networks, in a joint brief, in addition to their request for additional channels, objected to the sharing of the same channels by remote pickup (relay) broadcast and relay press stations. This is a matter of continuing study by the Commission and may be decided at a later date after the scope of service of the relay press stations has been determined.

In consideration of the testimony presented at the oral argument of February 3, 1947, the Commission has made certain changes in its proposal of October 1, 1946. These changes are embodied in the attached frequency service-allocation plan and affect the following services:

1. Maritime mobile.
2. Provisional, experimental.
3. Power, petroleum, etc.
4. Railroads.
5. Short-distance toll telephone.

The existing congestion in the 2000 kc portion of the spectrum on radiotelephone frequencies available to the maritime mobile service indicates the desirability of using VHF for short-range communications wherever possible. VHF may provide a variety of important uses, such as:

1. Calling, safety, and distress.
2. General inter-ship communications.
3. Ship-shore-ship operational communications.
4. Harbor traffic control communications.
5. Ship-shore common carrier public correspondence.

It appears that the communication needs tabulated above may be met for the most part through the simplex method of operation. However, provision has been made for some duplex operation and consideration will be given to an expansion of this method of operation wherever it is shown to be necessary. The frequency 156.81 Mc has been recommended by the United States for universal standardization to be available exclusively for intercommunication in the maritime mobile service.

Additional facilities for maritime mobile service uses may be provided by:

1. General (urban) mobile radio service.
2. Maritime mobile service frequencies in the 30–44 Mc band.
3. General (highway) mobile radio service in the 30–44 Mc band.
4. The possible assignment of additional frequencies in the 152–162 Mc band to be used in the maritime mobile service on a shared basis with other services, with appropriate geographical separation.

This is believed to provide the greatest possible utility of the available maritime mobile service frequencies for safety and operation purposes, without preventing duplex operation, where required, and the expansion of the maritime mobile service where it is feasible. The number of channels available to the provisional and experimental services has been reduced from four to three to provide this total of nine channels for the maritime mobile service. In addition, the block of five channels for the power, petroleum, etc., services has been shifted upward but remains intact. Similarly, the sixty railroad frequencies have been consolidated into one block. In the case of short-distance toll telephone stations, there has been added a provision limiting operation to those stations currently authorized, and providing the authorization of new short-distance toll telephone stations in this band only where an adequate showing of need can be made.

Since equipment in this band is immediately available, all applicants for new municipal police and municipal fire radio systems will be required to operate on frequencies in the 152–162 Mc band except in those instances where the applicant furnishes a satisfactory factual showing of need for some other frequency in order to provide adequate radio communication facilities. An applicant requesting replacement of an entire or major part of an existing municipal police or municipal fire system will also be required to adhere to the frequency utilization policy set forth herein.

The Commission's "Report of Allocations from 25,000 kilocycles to 30,000,000 kilocycles" dated May 25, 1945, stated: "Services now operating between 156 and 162 Mc may continue temporarily on a non-interfering basis in the band 152–162 Mc".

This provision, which applies only to those stations in the fixed service operating between 156 and 162 Mc prior to May 25, 1945, is continued on a temporary basis, for the use of frequencies coincident with channel center frequencies assigned by this plan, until equipment is available to permit transfer to the frequencies regularly allocated to those services. Such temporary operation may be authorized on the condition that no interference be caused to stations regularly assigned for operation in the 152–162 Mc band.

[Docket No. 6651]

MARCH 21, 1947.

The frequency service-allocations set forth herein have been adopted by the Commission and affect the frequencies available to the following services, proposed services or classes of stations, except those operating in the territories and possessions of the United States:

Fixed.
Provisional.
Experimental.
General highway mobile.
Geophysical.
Power, petroleum, etc.
Urban transit.
Fire.
Police.
Forestry and conservation.
Highway maintenance.
Remote pickup broadcast.
Special services.
Relay press.
Motion picture.
Aviation.
Maritime mobile.

On February 3, 1947, the Commission heard oral argument on its proposed frequency service-allocations to the non-government services in the 30–40 Mc band as proposed in Public Notice 99168 (October 21, 1946) and later revised in Public Notice 2201 (January 7, 1947). Those who submitted briefs or statements and those personally represented at the oral argument were as follows:

Forestry Conservation Communications Association.
Association of State Foresters.
American Telephone & Telegraph Company.
National Bus Communications, Inc.
Boston Police Department.
Chicago Park District.
Eastern States Police Radio League, Inc.
New England Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc.
International Association of Chiefs of Police.
State of Florida Highway Patrol.
Committee 4, Panel 13, R. T. P. B. (Power Utilities).
American Association of State Highway Officials.
American Road Builders Association.
American Transit Association.
Columbia Broadcasting System.
American Broadcasting Company.
Mutual Broadcasting Company.
National Broadcasting Company.
Galvin Manufacturing Company.
General Telephone Corporation.
Raytheon Manufacturing Company.
United States Independent Telephone Association.

In consideration of the testimony presented at the oral argument on February 3, 1947, the Commission has made certain changes in its proposal of January 7, 1947. These changes are embodied in the attached frequency service-allocation plan and affect the following services, proposed services, or classes of stations:

Forestry-conservation. Urban transit.
Highway maintenance. Highway mobile.
Maritime mobile.

Forestry-conservation representatives requested that a portion of their block of frequencies in the low frequency end of the band be shifted to the high frequency end of the band. Since four channels previously shared with the Maritime Mobile Service have been allocated exclusively to Forestry-Conservation and since two channels previously shared with the Maritime Mobile Service are now shared with Urban Transit, the Commission believes that the needs of Forestry-Conservation have been met. Assignment of additional channels would impinge on the needs of the other emergency services.

The Urban Transit representative expressed the only opposition to the Commission's allocation of blocks of channels to each service. This opposition was based on the belief that under a block allocation system fewer channels would be usable than under an interspersed allocation plan for the same number of channels. Two additional channels shared with Forestry-Conservation have been provided this service as already explained.

State Highway Maintenance representatives requested that Highway Maintenance be established as a separate service with two exclusive channels, and be permitted to utilize radio facilities for routine as well as emergency communications. County Highway Maintenance representatives concurred in the recommendation that Highway Maintenance be recognized as a separate service. The Commission believes that Highway Maintenance radio has not yet developed to an extent which merits its establishment as a separate service. The plan adopted, however, specifically indicates Highway Maintenance as a group potentially eligible for a new class of station in the Emergency Service. The question of use of radio facilities permitted Highway Maintenance stations will be handled as a separate matter in connection with a revision of the Rules and Regulations governing the Emergency Services.

The six channels proposed to have been allocated on a shared basis to the Maritime Mobile and Forestry-Conservation Services in the 31 Mc band have been reallocated so that two of these are shared by Urban Transit and Forestry-Conservation and four become available to Forestry-Conservation exclusively. Ship and coastal stations requiring VHF in addition to those provided in the 152–162 Mc band may be authorized to use the Maritime Mobile Service frequencies in the 35–44 Mc band. Duplex systems, if authorized within this band, will normally use the lower frequency portion of the band for the coastal stations.

There is at the present time an acute shortage of channels in the 30–40 Mc band. It is the Commission's belief that the use of narrower channel widths offers the only means of obtaining additional channels in this band. As a result of an Engineering Conference held in Washington, D. C., on December 2 and 3, 1946, a committee is to be set up by Panel 13 of the RTPB to study the feasibility of manufacturing on a commercial basis 20 kc channel width equipment which will meet the operational requirements of the various services as demonstrated by actual field tests. This committee will make a preliminary report to the Commission on or before August 1, 1947, and a final report on or before February 1, 1948. The Commission is deferring further consideration of this problem pending the receipt of data from this committee. If the Commission should find a change of a 20 kc channeling system necessary or desirable, that change will be announced by the Commission with ample opportunity for conversion by the services and with due allowances for equipment obsolescense problems. It is anticipated that at least one year will be required to complete a study of the 20 kc channeling problem. In the meantime frequencies will continue to be assigned on the 40 kc channeling basis.

Data furnished the Commission by industry representatives indicate in general that during the first three years of operation of mobile radio equipment, the major replacements consist of tubes; beginning with the fifth year of operation, components other than tubes require replacement; and beginning with the seventh year, the cost of maintenance of equipment is greater than the depreciation on new equipment; and further, that beginning with the fifth year, the service rendered from an operational standpoint begins to be unsatisfactory. This is an especially important consideration in the case of the safety and emergency services.

The former frequency assignments were interpersed; that is, in general, no one service was assigned two or more consecutive channels. A block system of service-allocations whereby each service is allocated its channels in one or two blocks of consecutive channels has been discussed by the Radio Technical Planning Board but has heretofore been impracticable, according to that group, because certain government frequencies were interspersed in the non-government blocks. This situation has now been alleviated by a recent action of the interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee at the request of the Commission. Ten additional channels now are available for allocation to the non-government services in the 30–40 Mc band, and there are no longer any single government channels in the non-government blocks of frequencies above 30.540 Mc. This now permits, for the first time, a technically sound service-allocation plan based on the block system.

To permit maximum utilization of the readjusted spectrum space, the Commission has provided the various services with blocks of frequencies. Those services for which duplex operation may prove to be justifiable have been provided two blocks of frequencies with appropriate frequency separation. All other services in general have been provided with but one block of frequencies, except in those cases where the over-all limits of the non-government blocks make this impracticable.

The service-allocations plan presented herein will become effective on April 1, 1947. Representatives of the services operating in this band have expressed a desire to shift frequency as soon as possible and have indicated that three years should be sufficient to allow all users to change to a new allocation plan. Accordingly, all services for which channels have been provided in this band will be required to shift no later than July 1, 1950 to frequencies which are in accord with this plan, and stations in those services for which no provision has been made in this band will be required to vacate this band as soon as practicable but in no case later than July 1, 1950. A committee is to be set up by Panel 13, RTPB to study the problem of conversion from the present interspersed service-allocation plan to this block plan and advise the Commission of its findings on or before August 1, 1947. The purpose of this study is to present recommendations for the transition in order that the conversion can be completed by no later than July 1, 1950 in an orderly and equitable manner. When all recommendations have been received and studied the Commission will implement a plan for transition to these new block service-allocations.

Licenses of stations, except fixed public and remote pick-up broadcast stations, operated in services for which no provisions have been made in this band will not be renewed after July 1, 1947 for operation in the band 30–40 Mc. Remote pickup broadcast stations currently licensed will be allowed to continue operations in this band for a reasonable period after the allocation of frequencies to these stations in the 25–30 Mc band has been made final, in order to allow for conversion of equipment.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF INDIANA, INC. AND MIDDLE WEST CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING, ORDER OF CONSOLIDATION AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 25th day of March 1947.

Notice is hereby given that separate applications have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by The Middle West Corporation ("Middle West"), a registered holding company, and by its subsidiary, Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc. ("Public Service"). Public Service has designated section 6 (b) of the act and the exemptive provisions of Rule U-42 (b) (2) as applicable to the transactions proposed by it.

All interested persons are referred to said applications, which are on file in the offices of this Commission for statements of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

Public Service proposes to issue $11,077,800 aggregate principal amount of Fifteen Year 2¾% Convertible Debentures, due May 1, 1962, to be issued in denominations of $200 and $1,000. Such debentures will be offered to the common stockholders of Public Service through the issuance of subscription warrants to subscribe for and purchase debentures on the basis of $10 principal amount for each share of common stock held. The warrants will be issued as full and fractional subscription warrants. Full subscription warrants will entitle the holder thereof to subscribe for a $200 debenture. Fractional warrants may be exercised when combined with other fractional warrants in amounts sufficient to subscribe for a $200 debenture.

The debentures will be convertible, up to and including April 30, 1959, into shares of common stock of Public Service on the basis of five shares for each $200 face amount of debentures, and will be issued pursuant to an indenture which, among other things, provides for protection against future dilution due to the issuance of additional common stock.

The company contemplates that the subscription period will run for apropximately twenty days from the date of the warrants and that, thereafter, the company will file a further application with this Commission for approval of the disposition, by public or private sale, of such debentures as are not taken by subscription.

Public Service proposes to use the net proceeds from the sale of such debentures, together with general treasury funds, to prepay $11,500,000 aggregate principal amount of 2¼% bank loan notes, maturing serially to September 1, 1955, which are now outstanding.

Middle West, the owner of 224,586 shares (approximately 20.27%) of the common stock of Public Service, requests approval of the acquisition of such warrants as may be issued to it and approval of the exercise or sale of such warrants. The application further states that in the event Middle West elects to sell such warrants, an amendment setting forth the terms and conditions of such sale will be filed herein.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the matters set forth in said applications, and that said applications shall not be granted except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and

It further appearing to the Commission that said applications contain related matters and may involve common questions of law or fact and should be consolidated and heard together;

It is ordered, That said applications be consolidated for the purpose of hearing thereon, without prejudice, however, to the right to separate for hearing, either in whole or in part, or for disposition, either in whole or in part, any of the issues or questions which may arise in these proceedings or to take such other action as may appear necessary to the orderly and economical disposition of the matters involved.

It is further ordered, That a hearing on said consolidated applications, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, be held on April 4, 1947 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of this Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pa. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing shall be held.

Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in this proceeding shall file with the Secretary of this Commission, on or before April 2, 1947, a written request relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift, or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the applications and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice, however, to the presentation of additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the proposed issue and sale of warrants, debentures and common stock by Public Service are solely for the purpose of financing its business and have been expressly authorized by the State Commission of the state in which Public Service is organized and doing business.

2. Whether the terms and conditions of the proposed issue and sale of warrants, debentures and common stock are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

3. Whether the proposed acquisition by Middle West of additional securities of Public Service meets the applicable requirements of section 10 and whether, in the event Middle West elects to sell the warrants, any terms and conditions should be imposed for the protection of security holders of Middle West.

4. Whether the proposed accounting treatment of the transactions is proper and in conformity with sound accounting principles.

5. Whether the fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactons are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount.

6. Generally, whether it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers to impose terms and conditions in respect of the proposed transactions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this order by registered mail on Public Service, Middle West, the Federal Power Commission and the Public Service Commission of Indiana; and that notice of said hearing shall be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by general release distributed to the press.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

DELAWARE POWER & LIGHT CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 24th day of March 1947.

Delaware Power & Light Company (Delaware), a registered holding company and public utility company, having filed an application-declaration, with amendments thereto, under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 with respect to the issuance and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50 of 50,000 shares of ____% Cumulative Preferred Stock of a par value of $100 per share; and

The Commission having by order dated March 13, 1947, granted said application and permitted said declaration to become effective, except as to the price to be received for said stock, the dividend rate thereon, the underwriters spread and its allocation, and all legal fees and the fee of Delaware's financial adviser, as to which matters jurisdiction was reserved; and

Delaware having filed a further amendment to the application-declaration in which it is stated that, in accordance with the permission granted by the said order of the Commission dated March 13, 1947, it offered such preferred stock for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and received the following bids:

Bidder	Price to company	Dividend rate	Cost to company
The First Boston Corp. and Blyth & Co., Inc	101.52	3.70	3.6446
Shields & Co. and White, Weld & Co	100.13999	3.65	3.6449
W. C. Langley & Co	100.10	3.65	3.6461
Lazard Freres & Co	100.7799	3.70	3.6714
Morgan Stanley & Co	100.71	3.70	3.6730
Otis & Co	100.047	3.75	3.7251

The said amendment having further stated that Delaware has accepted the bid of The First Boston Corp. and Blyth & Co., Inc. for the Preferred Stock, as set out above, and that such stock will be offered for sale to the public at a price of 102.77 resulting in an underwriters' spread of 1.25; and

The Commission now having been furnished with information in respect of the services of: (a) Ballard, Spahr, Andrews & Ingersoll and Southerland, Berl & Potter, as counsel for Delaware, for which services' fees in the amount of $8,000 and $2,500 are claimed, respectively; and (b) Drexel & Co. as financial adviser to Delaware for which service a fee of $5,000 is claimed; and (c) Townsend, Elliott & Munson as counsel for underwriters, for which services a fee of $6,500 is claimed; and

The Commission having examined such amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be received for said Preferred Stock, the dividend rate thereon, the underwriters' spread and its allocation, and it appearing that the legal fees and the fee of Delaware's financial adviser are not unreasonable under the circumstances of this case:

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the price to be received for said Preferred Stock, the dividend rate thereon, the underwriters spread and its allocation and all legal fees and the fee of Delaware's financial adviser, be, and the same hereby is, released and said application-declaration be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

§ 945.1 Purpose and scope of this regulation; definitions. This regulation states the basic rules of the Civilian Production Administration which apply to business transactions after March 31, 1947, unless they are covered by more specific regulations or orders of the Civilian Production Administration which are inconsistent with this regulation.

It continues in effect certain of the general rules previously contained in CPA Priorities Regulations 1, 3, 7, 7A and 8. Those regulations were among the regulations and orders adopted by the Housing Expediter by Housing Expediter Priorities Order 5 and transferred to him by the Civilian Production Administration, effective April 1, 1947. CPA is continuing in simplified form only those rules deemed necessary in the administration of its functions which continue after March 31, 1947.

The following definitions apply for purposes of this regulation and any other regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, unless otherwise indicated.

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organizer group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(b) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

§ 945.2 Certifications on purchase orders and other documents.—(a) How to use a certificate on a purchase order. When a person uses a certificate required or permitted under any CPA order, regulation or direction, he must place it on the purchase or delivery order which is being certified, or on a separate piece of paper either attached to the purchase order or clearly identifying it. A signature on the purchase order shall apply to the certificate on an attached or unattached piece of paper only where the words above the signature clearly make it include the certificate.

The certificate must be verified by the signature of the person placing the order, or of a responsible individual who is duly authorized to sign for that purpose. The signature must be either by hand or in the form of a rubber stamp or other facsimile reproduction of a handwritten signature; however, if a facsimile signature is used, the individual who uses it must be duly authorized in writing to use it by the person whose signature it is, and a written record of the authorization must be kept.

When a purchase order is placed by telegram and the certificate is used, the certificate must be set out in full in the telegram. It will be sufficient if the file copy of the outgoing telegram is signed in the manner required for certification by this regulation.

(b) Signature on other documents. The above rules for signing certificates on purchase orders also apply to the signature on reports, applications for authorizations to use a certificate, and other documents that are required to be filed under orders and regulations of the Civilian Production Administration.

(c) Responsibility for truth of certification. The person who places the certified order or makes the application, report or other document the individual whose signature is used, and the individual who approves the use of the signature shall each be considered to be making a representation to the Civilian Production Administration that the statements contained in the certificate or other document are true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

The person receiving the certification and other information required to be included with it shall be entitled to rely on it as a representation of the buyer unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

§ 945.3 Effect of other regulations and orders. Specific allocations or other directions of the Civilian Production Administration for delivery of material or the use of facilities must be complied with regardless of certificates, unless otherwise specified.

§ 945.4 Effect of revocation of orders and regulations. (a) When an order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration is revoked, all published amendments, schedules, appendices, and directions to that order or regulation are revoked, unless otherwise stated in the instrument revoking the order or regulation.

(b) Whenever an order or regulation of the CPA is revoked, all directions, authorizations, allocations, production or delivery schedules and other instruments addressed to named persons pursuant to that order or regulation are revoked, unless otherwise stated in the instrument of revocation.

(c) "Suspension orders" and "consent orders" issued on the basis of a violation of orders and regulations of the Civilian Production Administration remain in effect after revocation of such orders and regulations, unless otherwise provided. If you are subject to a suspension order or consent order which you think should be lifted or modified because of the lifting of the restriction on which the violation was based, you may address a request for relief to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 945.5 Use or disposition of material acquired with allocations assistance. (a) Any person who gets material with allocations assistance must, if possible, use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. This restriction applies to material obtained by means of a certificate, allocation, specific direction, or any other action of the Civilian Production Administration. Physical segregation is not required as long as the restrictions applicable to any specific lot of material or product are observed with respect to an equivalent amount of the same material or product. The above restriction does not apply in the following two cases, but the rules on further use or disposition in paragraph (b) below must be observed: (1) When a material, or a product into which it has been incorporated, can no longer be used for the purpose for which the assistance was given (for example, when the assistance was given to fill a particular contract or purchase order and the material or product does not meet the customer's specifications or the contract or order is canceled); (2) When the material was obtained by means of any order, regulation, allocation, specific direction or other action of the CPA which has been revoked or cancelled, unless otherwise stated in the instrument of revocation or in any other action of the CPA.

(b) The holder of a material or product subject to paragraph (a) (1) or (2) above may sell it as long as he complies with all requirements of other applicable sections of this regulation and of other orders and regulations of the Civilian Production Administration, or he may use it himself in any manner or for any purpose as long as he complies with such orders and regulations. If the intended use is prohibited or restricted, he must appeal or otherwise apply for permission under the applicable order or regulation.

§ 945.6 Intra-company deliveries. When any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration prohibits or restricts deliveries of any material by any person, such prohibition or restriction shall, in the absence of a contrary direction, apply not only to deliveries to other persons, including affiliates and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

§ 945.7 Scope of regulations and orders. All regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration (including directions, directives and other instructions) apply to all subsequent transactions even though they are covered by previous contracts. Regulations and orders apply to transactions in the territories or insular possessions of the United States unless the regulation or order specifically states that it is limited to the continental United States or to the 48 states and the District of Columbia. However, restrictions of Civilian Production Administration orders or regulations on the use of material or on the amount of inventory shall not apply when the material is used or the inventory is held directly by the Army or Navy outside the 48 states and the District of Columbia, unless otherwise specifically provided. Exports and deliveries of material to be exported may be made regardless of any CPA order or regulation restricting inventories of material or uses thereof in manufacture or otherwise, or requiring certificates with respect to such inventories or uses, insofar as such inventories are maintained or such uses occur in the country to which such material is to be exported, but shall be subject to such restrictions with respect to inventories maintained or uses occurring within the United States prior to export.

§ 945.8 Defense against claims for damages. No persons shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under any contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, notwithstanding that any such rule, regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

§ 945.9 Inventory restrictions. No person may deliver or receive into inventory more of any material than is permitted under applicable CPA orders.

§ 945.10 Delivery for unlawful purposes prohibited. No person shall deliver any material which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted, redelivered, held or used in violation of any order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration.

§ 945.11 Records. Each person participating in any transaction to which any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration in force on or after April 1, 1947 applies shall keep and preserve for at least two years accurate and complete records of the details of each such transaction and of his inventories of the material involved. Such records shall include the dates of all contracts or purchase orders accepted, the delivery dates specified in such contracts or purchase orders, and in any certificates accompanying them, the dates of actual deliveries thereunder, description of the material covered by such contracts or purchase orders, description of deliveries by classes, types, quantities, weights and values, the parties involved in each transaction, the certificates, if any, assigned to deliveries under such contracts or purchase orders, details of certified orders (or other orders required by the Civilian Production Administration to be filled) either accepted or offered and rejected, and other pertinent information. Records kept by any person pursuant to this section shall be kept either separately from the other records of such person and chronologically according to daily deliveries by such person, or in such form that such a separate chronological record can be promptly compiled therefrom. Whenever a regulation or order requires a person to restrict his operations in proportion to his operations in a base period (for example, an order may forbid him to use more of a certain kind of material than he used in the fourth quarter of 1942) he must determine, as accurately as is reasonably possible, his base period operations and preserve a written record of any figures and work sheets showing how he made his calculations for inspection by Civilian Production Administration officials as long as the regulation or order remains in force and for two years after that. Whenever a person is restricted as to the quantity of material he may use in production or the amount he may produce, under quota restrictions, limitation orders, authorized production schedules, special directions or similar provisions he must keep reasonably adequate records of the material consumed and of production to show whether he is complying with the restrictions. This record-keeping requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 945.12 Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this regulation or by any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by its duly authorized representatives.

§ 945.13 Reports. (a) Every person shall execute and file with the Civilian Production Administration such reports and questionnaires as it shall from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(b) Reports under Civilian Production Administration orders and regulations. (1) If a published regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration requires the filing of a report by a specified class of persons you must file the report in accordance with any applicable instructions if you belong to that class. The instructions may be in the regulation or order itself, or on a form or separate instruction sheet.

(2) When a published regulation or order requiring you to file any reports is revoked, you do not need to file any more reports due after that date unless they are required by another published regulation or order or unless you are notified to continue to file them in accordance with the rules stated in paragraph (c) below. This does not, however, excuse you from filing any reports due before the regulation or order was revoked.

(c) Reports not specified in an order or regulation. The Civilian Production Administration may need information which is not required under a specific regulation or order. In such cases you must file reports when you receive or have received a written notice to do so in one of the following ways:

(1) A letter or other written instrument specifically addressed to you issued in the name of the Civilian Production Administration countersigned or attested by the Recording Secretary, or in accordance with Civilian Production Administration Regulation No. 1 (§ 903.0); or

(2) A report form or instruction sheet with an official form number in the "CPA" series bearing your name or enclosed in an envelope specifically addressed to you.

Approval of the Bureau of the Budget will be indicated on the notice or on a report form or instruction sheet referred to in the notice.

§ 945.14 Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation or any other rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, or who, by any statement or omission, wilfully falsifies any records which he is required to keep, or who otherwise wilfully furnishes false or misleading information to the Civilian Production Administration, and any person who obtains a delivery, an allocation of material or facilities, or an authorization to use a certificate by means of a material and wilful, false or misleading statement, may be prohibited by the Civilian Production Administration from making or obtaining further deliveries of material or using facilities under allocation control and may be deprived of further allocations assistance. The Civilian Production Administration may also take any other action deemed appropriate, including the making of a recommendation for prosecution under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U. S. C. sec. 80), or under other applicable statutes.

§ 945.15 Appeals for relief in exceptional cases. Any person who considers that compliance by himself or another with a rule or regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief.

§ 945.16 Notification of customers. Any person who is prohibited from or restricted in making deliveries of any material by the provisions of any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration shall, as soon as practicable, notify each of his regular customers of the requirements of such rule, regulation or order, but the failure to give notice shall not excuse any customer from the obligation of complying with any requirements applicable to him.

§ 945.17 Transfers of quotas; transfers of a business as a going concern. (a) This section explains when quotas and other rights under the allocations system may be transferred from one person to another and states the rules governing transfer of a business as a going concern.

(b) Specific provisions in orders or regulations govern. This regulation does not apply in any case where an applicable order or regulation provides a different rule.

(c) What is meant by "quota". As used in this regulation "quota" means a quantitative limit which is placed on the production or delivery of items, or on the acquisition or use of material, by an order or regulation of the CPA. Most quotas are in the form of a specified percentage of production or use during a previous base period or in the form of a specified number of items which may be produced.

(d) Quota applies to actual manufacturer. Where a manufacturer does not sell his product in his own name, but makes it for another person under whose name it is sold, and an order of the CPA imposes a quota on manufacturers of the product, that quota applies to the person who actually makes the product rather than to the one under whose name it is sold.

(e) Distribution of quota where quota holder has several establishments. Where the holder of a quota has several establishments, he may distribute his quota among them, and change the distribution in any way he wishes unless the quota was acquired on a transfer of a going business as explained in paragraph (h) (1) below.

(f) Transfer of quotas forbidden in most cases. No quota may be transferred from one person to another under any circumstances, except in connection with the transfer of a business as a going concern as explained in paragraph (h) (1) below or with the express permission of the CPA. Permission to transfer quotas may be expressly given in an order or regulation or on appeal as explained in paragraph (i) below.

(g) Transfers of specific authorizations forbidden. No person may transfer to another any right granted by specific authorization except where this is part of a transfer of a going business as explained in paragraph (h) (1) below.

(h) Transfer of business as a going concern. (1) Whenever an entire business is transferred as a going concern to a new owner who continues to operate substantially the same business in the same establishment, using substantially the same trade-mark or trade-name, if any, all rights and obligations under CPA orders and regulations which applied to the business before the transfer continue applicable after the transfer, and the old owner no longer has them. The business under the new ownership has the same quotas, specific authorizations and other rights and duties created by CPA orders and regulations as it had under the old ownership. However, the new owner may not continue to exercise any such rights if he discontinues operation of the business he acquired or operates it as a substantially different business or in another establishment, or if he uses a substantially different trademark or trade-name. He may not, at any time, use any quota of the transferred business for any other part of his business.

(2) If, on dissolution of a firm, the entire business is not transferred as a going concern to a single successor, but is divided up in any way, application must be made to the CPA for a determination of quotas and other rights and duties under CPA orders and regulations.

(3) An order or regulation of the CPA which places any restriction on the transfer of any particular material or product does not apply to a transfer which is part of a transfer of the ownership of an entire business as a going concern, and CPA approval need not be obtained for any such transfer.

(i) Permission in exceptional cases on appeal. In any case where the above rules work an exceptional hardship, specific permission may be given on appeal for the transfer of a quota, or a specific authorization or for other exceptions from the rules. An appeal for the transfer of a quota should be filed as an appeal from the order imposing the quota by the person who wishes it transferred to him. If the person from whom it is to be transferred agrees to the transfer, he should join in the appeal. It is not expected that permission will be granted for the purchase or sale of a quota for any consideration in any case where the principal purpose of the transaction is merely to transfer the quota.

Issued this 1st day of April 1947.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 945—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE ALLOCATIONS AND EXPORT PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Allocations Reg. 2]

RESTRICTED EXPORT PREFERENCE ASSISTANCE

§ 945.40 Allocations Regulation 2—(a) Purpose. This regulation describes the very limited scope of export preference assistance which may be granted in the future. When granted, such assistance will usually be in the form of authorizations to place certified export orders with a certificate entitling the order to perference, in accordance with the rules stated in this regulation.

The issuance of authorizations to place certified export orders will in general be limited to assisting the procurement in this country of minimum quantities of materials necessary to the restoration, development and maintenance of foreign sources of materials critically needed in this country and other exceptional cases necessary to meet international understandings and responsibilities of the United States Government.

For the purpose of this regulation, "certified order" means a purchase or delivery order which is certified by the purchaser by use of the standard form of export preference certificate described in paragraph (h) (7) below, or by use of any other certificate authorized and entitled to preference under another CPA order, regulation or direction for export purposes.

(b) Exceptional cases when certified export orders may be authorized. (1) If all the conditions of paragraph (b) (2) below are met, authorizations to place orders with an export preference certificate may be granted in the following limited cases:

(i) To permit the placing of certified export orders for procurement in this country of minimum quantities of materials necessary to the restoration, development or maintenance of foreign sources of materials critically needed in this country.

(ii) In other exceptional cases where necessary to meet international understandings and responsibilities. In these cases a recommendation for approval must be received by CPA from the Secretaries of State and Commerce.

(2) When effective assistance of other kinds is not practicable (CPA may locate sources able to ship without preferential aid), an authorization to use an export preference certificate may be granted for specific items and quantities of materials in the limited classes of cases described in paragraph (b) (1) above, upon determination in each instance that all the following conditions are met:

(i) The use of substitute and less scarce materials is not practicable;

(ii) Reasonable efforts have been made to get the required item without assistance; and

(iii) Preference assistance is required to obtain the item by the latest date and in the minimum quantity practicable, after taking into consideration material already acquired and material available without assistance.

(c) How to apply for an authorization to use an export preference certificate. Application for a CPA authorization to use an export preference certificate for all destinations except Canada should be made by letter in quadruplicate, addressed to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. AR–2. Application for such a certificate for Canadian destinations should be made directly to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. AR–2, also by letter in quadruplicate. Such applications should give the following information:

(1) Exact nature of applicant's business, i. e., manufacturing farm equipment, steel mill, etc.

(2) Exact description of the item for which assistance is required, stating (a) for materials the kind, quantity and unit of measure or (b) for equipment, the make, model, size, type, capacity, etc.

(3) The country of export destination, and the exact use to be made in that country of the item to be exported.

(4) Name of supplier and his present delivery promises, and his reasons for not promising satisfactory delivery dates. (Give the number and date of your purchase order.)

(5) Efforts made to obtain suitable substitutes or reasons why substitutes cannot be used.

(6) A full statement of the importance of making the export at this time from the standpoint of the interests of the United States.

(d) How applications are granted. If the application is granted, CPA will issue a written authorization to the applicant authorizing him to use an export preference certificate. He may then use the certificate described in paragraph (h) (7) below.

(e) Expiration of ratings and certificates for export: re-validation—(1) Expiration. All preference ratings assigned for materials to be exported shall expire on April 1, 1947 and all certificates used on certified orders for materials for export and required to be treated as rated orders under other CPA orders, regulations or directions shall also expire on April 1, 1947 except those for tinplate continued in effect under Direction 1 to this regulation.

(2) When and how expiring export ratings or certificates may be replaced. A person entitled to use a preference rating or a certificate entitled to be treated as a rated order for materials to be exported (including Canadian destinations), which expires on April 1, 1947, may apply to CPA for an authorization to use an export preference certificate if he can meet the conditions stated in paragraph (b) above.

If a new authorization is granted, it may be used by forwarding his supplier the export preference certificate described in paragraph (h) (7) below, signed in accordance with Allocations Regulation 1, together with any additional information needed to enable the person receiving it to know exactly the items to which it applies, the original purchase order referred to (if already placed), and the old rating or certificate.

(f) Rules for acceptance and rejection of certified orders. Every certified order must be accepted and filled regardless of existing contracts and orders except in the following cases:

(1) A person must not accept a certified order for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery on other certified orders which he has already accepted, or if delivery of the material ordered would interfere with delivery on an order which the Civilian Production Administration has directed him to fill for that material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(2) A person must not accept a certified order for delivery on a date which can be met only by using material which was specifically produced for delivery on another certified order, and which is completed or is in production and scheduled for completion within 15 days.

(3) If a person, when receiving a certified order bearing a specific delivery date, does not expect to be able to fill it by the time requested, he must not accept it for delivery at that time. He must either (i) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (ii) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date. He may adopt either of these two courses, depending on his understanding of which his customer would prefer.

(4) A certified order need not be (but may be) accepted in the following cases, but there must be no discrimination in such cases against certified order, or between certified orders of different customers:

(i) If the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment. (When a person who has a certificate asks a supplier to quote his regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment or the earliest date on which he could make delivery on that certificate, the supplier must do so, except that if this would require detailed engineering or accounting work, he may give his best estimate without such work and state that it is not binding. However, the supplier need not quote if he is not required to accept the certified order and knows that he will not do so if he receives it. Any quotation as to delivery date to a person whose order has not been received will be subject to the effect on the supplier's deliveries of certified orders received by him after making the quotation and before he receives the firm order from the person making the inquiry).

(ii) If the order is for the manufacture of a product or the performance of a service of a kind which the person to whom the order is offered has not usually made or performed, and in addition if either (a) he cannot fill the order without substantially altering or adding to his facilities or (b) the order can readily be performed by someone else who has usually accepted and performed such orders.

(iii) If the order is for material which the person to whom the order is offered produces or acquires for his own use only, and he has not filled any orders for that material within the past two years. If he has, but the certified order would take more than the excess over his own needs, he may not reject the certified order unless filling it would interfere with other certified orders already on hand, or orders which the Civilian Production Administration has directed him to fill, for the material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(iv) If filling the order would stop or interrupt his production or operations during the next 40 days in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations.

(5) Any person who fails or refuses to accept an order bearing a certificate provided for under this regulation shall, upon written request of the person placing the order, promptly give his reasons in writing for his failure or refusal.

(6) Some orders or directions of the Civilian Production Administration provide special rules as to the acceptance and rejection of orders for particular materials. In such cases, the rules stated above in this section are inapplicable to the extent that they are inconsistent with the applicable order or direction of the Civilian Production Administration. In addition, the Civilian Production Administration may specifically direct a person in writing to fill a particular purchase order or orders. In such cases he must do so without regard to any of the above rules in this paragraph (f), except that he may insist upon compliance with regularly established prices and terms of payment.

(g) Report to Civilian Production Administration of improperly rejected orders. When a certified order is rejected in violation of this regulation, the person who wants to place it may file a report of the relevant facts with the Civilian Production Administration, which will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person rejecting the order.

(h) Description of certificates and how they are used—(1) How authorized. The standard export preference certificate provided for under this regulation is described in (h) (7) below. Other orders or directions of the Civilian Production Administration may also permit the use of other special forms of certificates entitled to preference, such as that for the use of the symbol CXS on certain orders for tinplate, described in Direction 1 to this regulation. The standard certificate described below and certificates entitled to preference under any other Civilian Production Administration order or direction are of equal value and precedence. Authorizations to use the standard export preference certificate will be issued under the conditions described in this regulation. The use of other certificates will be authorized under the conditions stated in the Civilian Production Administration order or direction under which they are issued, which may provide that they shall be treated as export preference certificates.

(2) Kinds and quantities of materials or services obtainable with certificates. When a Civilian Production Administration order, direction, or authorization states the quantities and kinds of material or the particular services for which the certificate may be used, the person authorized to use the certificate may use it to get only that quantity and kind of material or that particular service specified in the instrument issued by CPA. If the quantities of material are not stated in the CPA order or authorization, the certificate may be used only to get the minimum amount needed. No person may place certified orders for more material than he is authorized, even if he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered. The only cases in which a certificate may be used to get services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, are when CPA authorizes a named person to use the certificate to get specified services, or when a person authorized to use a certificate to get processed material furnishes the unprocessed material to a processor and uses the certificate to get it processed.

(3) How to use a certificate. The certificate with a certified order must be filled in, signed and delivered to the supplier in accordance with the rules stated in Allocations Regulation 1, and with any special rules which may be stated in any other CPA order or direction permitting the use of any special form of certificate other than the standard export preference certificate.

(4) Certificates not extendible. A person receiving a certified order may not extend the certificate to any of his suppliers.

(5) Relation of certificates to preference ratings. The certificate on a certified order, and an RR (or CC) preference rating assigned by CPA before April 1, 1947, or by the Housing Expediter, are equal in precedence, unless otherwise directed in writing by the Civilian Production Administration.

(6) Time limit on certificates. An export preference certificate, or other certificate permitted under another CPA order or direction for export purposes and entitled to preference expires if not used on an order accepted by a supplier within 6 months of the date the use of the certificate was authorized. If the holder of an authorization to use an export preference certificate has been unable to use it before its expiration, he may apply to CPA for renewal. However, if the purpose for which use of the certificate was authorized should no longer exist, the certificate may not be used even though the time limit stated above has not elapsed.

(7) Form of standard export preference certificate. The standard export preference certificate must be in substantially the following form:

EXPORT PREFERENCE CERTIFICATE

The undersigned certifies to the seller and to the CPA, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (a) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he is authorized to use this certificate for the materials described, in accordance with CPA Allocations Regulation 2. My authorization number is ____ (insert the CPA authorization number).

(8) Report to Civilian Production Administration of improper delay of orders. When delivery or performance of a certified order is unreasonable or improperly delayed, the customer may file a report of the relevant facts with the Civilian Production Administration, which will take such action as it consider appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person with whom the order is placed.

(i) Sequence of filling certified orders. (1) Every person who has certified orders on hand must schedule his operations, if possible, so as to fill each certified order by the required delivery or performance date (determined as explained in paragraph (j) below). If this is not possible for any reason, he must give precedence to all certified over uncertified orders.

(2) As between conflicting certified orders, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the certificate. As between conflicting certified orders received on the same date, precedence must be given to the order which has the earlier required delivery or performance date.

(3) If a certified order or the certificate applicable to an order is cancelled when the supplier has materials in production to fill it, he need not immediately stop to put other certified orders into production if doing so would cause a substantial loss of total production. He may continue to process that material which he had put into production for the cancelled order to a stage of completion which would avoid a substantial loss of total production, but he may not incorporate any material which he needs to fill any certified order on hand. He may not, however, delay putting other certified orders into production for more than 15 days.

(j) Delivery or performance dates. (1) Every certified order must specify delivery or performance on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of not more than 31 days each, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. Any order which fails to comply with this rule must be treated as an uncertified order. The words "immediately" or "as soon as possible", or other words to that effect, are not sufficient for this purpose.

(2) The required delivery or performance date, for purposes of determining the sequence of deliveries or performance pursuant to paragraph (i), shall be the date on which delivery or performance is actually required. The person with whom the order is placed may assume that the required delivery or performance date is the date specified in the order or contract unless he knows either (1) that the date so specified was earlier than required at the time the order was placed, or (2) that delivery or performance by the date originally specified is no longer required by reason of any change of circumstances. A delay in the scheduled receipt of any other material which the person placing the order requires prior to or concurrently with the material ordered, shall be deemed a change of circumstances within the meaning of the foregoing sentence.

(3) If, after accepting a certified order which specifies the time of delivery, the person with whom it is placed finds that he cannot fill it on time or within 15 days following the specified time, for any reason, he must promptly notify the customer, telling him approximately when he expected to be able to fill the order. Inability to fill the order on time or within fifteen days following the specified time does not authorize a supplier to cancel the order.

(k) The reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 1st day of April 1947.

[Allocations Reg. 2, Direction 1]

USE AND EFFECT OF SYMBOL CXS ON CERTAIN EXPORT ORDERS FOR TINPLATE

The following direction is issued pursuant to Allocations Regulation 2:

(a) What this direction does. This direction explains how certain exporters who have been authorized by the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, to use the symbol CXS (Certified Export Steel) on purchase orders for limited quantities of tinplate should furnish that information to steel producers. Such orders when properly certified are to be treated as certified export orders under Allocations Regulation 2. The Civilian Production Administration may also establish space reservations on steel producers' schedules for the benefit of these export orders.

(b) Identification of certified export orders. Any person who has been authorized in writing by the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, to use the symbol CXS on purchase orders for limited quantities of tinplate should, in addition to marking his purchase order with the symbol, specify the period in which shipment has been designated, and furnish the steel producer with a certificate, signed manually or as described in Allocations Regulation 1, in substantially the following form:

I certify, subject to the penalties of section 35A of the United States Criminal Code, that the tinplate covered by this purchase order is within the quantity which I have been authorized by the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, to purchase by orders identified with the symbol CXS.

(c) Requests for authorization to use the symbol CXS. All requests for authorization to use the symbol CXS should be addressed to the Steel Section, Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.

(d) Certified orders entitled to preference. Unless the CPA directs otherwise, any purchase order certified under this Direction must be treated as a certified export order under Allocations Regulation 2, and be accepted, scheduled, and delivered accordingly. The rules of Allocations Regulation 2 will apply, except to the extent that this Direction is inconsistent with them. Tinplate obtained on certified orders must be used in accordance with § 945.5 of Allocations Regulation 1.

(e) Refusal of certified orders. (1) CXS orders may only be placed with steel producers for mill shipments. They may not be placed with distributors for shipment from warehouses.

(2) Steel producers need not accept a CXS certification on a previously accepted purchase order, or a new purchase order, which was received less than 45 days before the beginning of the month in which delivery is requested.

(f) Other distribution of steel for export. The provisions of this direction do not restrict acceptance, scheduling or shipment of noncertified orders for export, if this does not interfere with shipments of certified orders.

(g) Direction 10 to Order M–21 superseded. This direction supersedes former Direction 10 to Order M–21. Certificates for tinplate authorized under Direction 10 shall have the same force and effect under this Direction 1 as if authorized under it, and do not require revalidation.

Certificates authorized under Direction 10 to Order M–21 for steel products other than tinplate expire at the end of March 1947, under Allocations Regulation 2, although some may upon application be replaced with the new export preference certificate, as explained in that regulation.

Issued this 1st day of April 1947.

SPECIAL RULES FOR PLACING AND SCHEDULING CERTIFIED ORDERS FOR STEEL, COPPER AND ALUMINUM

The following direction is issued pursuant to Allocations Regulation 2:

(a) What this direction does. This direction explains some special rules for placing, accepting, and scheduling certified orders for steel, copper and aluminum. These rules supersede some of the provisions of Allocations Regulation 2 concerning the ordinary use of certificates, but only those rules of Allocations Regulation 2 which are contradictory to this direction are superseded, and all other rules in that regulation continue to apply.

(b) Required delivery dates. A certified order for steel, copper or aluminum in the forms listed below must specify delivery on a particular date or a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. A producer of steel, copper or aluminum must schedule the order for delivery within the requested month as close to the requested delivery date as is practicable in view of the need for maximum production.

(c) Rejection of certified orders. A producer of steel, copper or aluminum in the forms listed below need not accept a certified order which is received less than 30 days (45 days in the case of tinplate) prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested, unless specifically directed to accept the order by the Civilian Production Administration.

(d) Forms of steel, copper and aluminum to which this direction applies. This direction applies to the following forms of steel, copper and aluminum:

PART 1334—SUGAR

[MPR 16,[2] Amdt. 6]

RAW CANE SUGAR

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 16 is amended in the following respects:

In sections 8 (a) (1) (i) and 8 (b) (1) the figure "4.7556" is substituted for the figure "4.755".

This amendment shall become effective 12:01 a. m. March 30, 1947.

Issued this 28th day of March 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Approved: March 28, 1947.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Statement of the Considerations Involved in the Issuance of Amendment No. 6 to Maximum Price Regulation 16

The accompanying amendment to Maximum Price Regulation 16 increases the maximum prices of raw cane sugars (except direct consumption raw cane sugars) 6 cents per hundredweight.

This action is made necessary by the increase of 6 cents per hundredweight in the ocean freight rates for shipping raw cane sugar from northside Cuban ports to New York City to be effective March 30, 1947. Under the agreement which it has with the Cuban government for the purchase of most of the 1947 Cuban raw sugar crop, the Commodity Credit Corporation cannot force the Cuban government to bear this increased shipping cost. Nor can the Commodity Credit Corporation itself absorb this additional cost, for it has no legal authority to do so. Accordingly, the Secretary of Agriculture has recommended that the maximum selling price in this country of raw cane sugars be increased by 6 cents per hundredweight, the amount of the ocean freight rate increase, so that the Commodity Credit Corporation can, within its legal limitations, continue to import and sell sugar and thus insure a supply of that commodity adequate for this country's needs.

In order not to disrupt customary and historical differentials between the price of sugars from off-shore areas and those produced in this country, the increase is made applicable to all raw cane sugars covered under Maximum Price Regulation 16.

DIRECT CONSUMPTION SUGAR

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 60 is amended in the following respects:

1. The table of maximum basis prices in section 2 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(i) For sales of fine granulated cane sugar refined in Continental United States, $6.25.
(ii) For sales of fine granulated beet sugar processed in Continental United States, $6.15.
(iii) For sales of fine granulated cane sugar from off-shore areas, domestic or foreign, duty paid, $6.20.
(iv) For sales of turbinado, washed-white or similar sugar from off-shore areas, domestic or foreign, duty paid, for direct consumption, $5.90.
(v) For sales of plantation granulated sugar processed from United States mainland sugar cane, $6.15.
(vi) For sales of direct-consumption sugars other than those provided for above, in this section, processed from United States mainland sugar cane including but not limited to turbinado, plantation white and high-washed sugars, $6.05.

2. Section 2 (a) (3) (ii) is amended by the addition of the following sentence: For sales of liquid sugar, if the seller had no such cartage rates on December 1, 1941, he shall add a delivery charge based on the December 1, 1941 liquid sugar cartage rates of the primary distributor located nearest freightwise to him who had such cartage rates.

3. In section 2 (b) (1) the figure "$5.20" is substituted for the figure "$5.15."

This amendment shall become effective 11:59 p. m., March 31, 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Approved: March 31, 1947.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Statement of the Considerations Involved in the Issuance of Amendment No. 10 to Maximum Price Regulation 60

The accompanying amendment to Maximum Price Regulation 60 increases the maximum basis price of all direct consumption sugars 5 cents per hundredweight.

An increase in ocean freight rates from Cuba necessitated an increase of six cents per hundredweight in the maximum selling price of raw cane sugar which became effective March 30, 1947. After examination and consideration of the effect of the resulting increased cost of raw sugar to refiners, occasioned by the increase in freight rates, it is the opinion of the Administrator that part of this increased cost can be absorbed by refiners. This is made possible by the recent adjustment in packaging differentials and the expected increase in melt for the year 1947. Data available to the Administrator indicates that some increases have also taken place in refiners' costs which will to some extent offset the increased earnings due to the increased volume. It is believed that an increase of five cents per hundredweight in the maximum price of refined sugar will provide a proper return to the refining industry and, at the same time, permit the continuance of the customary practice of pricing in five cent intervals.

Moreover, it is the opinion of the Administrator that to require an absorption beyond this figure would so reduce refiners' margins that a disruption of distribution with an ensuing shortage of sugars in certain areas might result.

Although the March 30th increase in prices applies only to raw cane sugars, it is deemed necessary to make the increase in direct consumption sugar prices apply to beet sugar as well in order to maintain the customary and historical differentials applying to these various sugars.

The Administrator has determined that this five cent increase for direct consumption sugars is necessary in order to help promote an effective transition to a peacetime economy.

In addition, the amendment establishes a method whereby primary distributors who did not have cartage rates for liquid sugar on December 1, 1941 can determine maximum delivered prices for sales of liquid sugar where the buyer's warehouse or place of business at or from which the sugar is to be used or resold is within a refinery city metropolitan area and the transportation to such place is performed by means of a motor vehicle owned, controlled or hired by the seller.

Heretofore, if the seller did not have cartage rates for liquid sugar on December 1, 1941, he would have been unable to determine a maximum delivered price for liquid sugar under section 2 (a) (3) (ii). The situation did not call for any action until now, because until very recently there were no sellers in the field who did not have cartage rates for liquid sugar on December 1, 1941. However, informal petitions and letters of request have been filed by several refiners not engaged in the production of liquid sugar in 1941, but who recently commenced manufacture of such sugars, indicating the necessity for such action at this time.

Statement To Accompany Amendment 113 to the Rent Regulation for Housing: Amendment 104 to the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts

By these amendments the application of the rent regulations is terminated in the Deming defense-rental area, consisting of Luna County in New Mexico; in a portion of the Brunswick defense-rental area, consisting of St. Simons Island in Glynn County, Georgia; in a portion of the Las Cruces defense-rental area, consisting of Sierra County, New Mexico; in a portion of the Jamestown defense-rental area, consisting of the Chautauqua Institution in Chautauqua County, New York; in a portion of the Pittsburgh defense-rental area, consisting of the Townships of Aleppo, Center, Freeport, Gilmore, Gray, Jackson, Morris, Perry, Richhill, Springhill and Wayne in Greene County, Pennsylvania; in a portion of the Columbia, South Carolina defense-rental area, consisting of the portion of Aiken County except the Townships of Chinquepin, Giddy Swamp, Hopewell, McTier, Millbrook, Rocky Grove, Rocky Springs, Shaws, Silverton, Sleepy Hollow, Tabernacle, and Windsor.

In the judgment of the Temporary Controls Administrator, these amendments are necessary and proper in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act.

No provisions which might have the effect of requiring a change in established rental practices have been included in the amendments unless such provisions have been found necessary to achieve effective rent control and to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act. To the extent that the provisions of these amendments compel or may operate to compel changes in established rental practices, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act.

PART 1388—DEFENSE-RENTAL AREAS

[Housing, Interpretation of Sec. 6 (b) (1)-VIII (§ 1388.1181)]

EVICTION FOR OCCUPANCY BY MEMBER OF LANDLORD'S FAMILY

The following is an interpretation of section 6 (b) (1) of the rent regulation for housing.

Interpretation 6 (b) (1)-VIII; Eviction for occupancy by a member of the landlord's family. Where a landlord seeks eviction of a tenant for occupancy by persons other than himself he must petition for a certificate under section 6 (b) (1). Certificates will be granted where the petition is filed in good faith for occupancy by a son, daughter, father or mother of the landlord. Certificates will not be granted for occupancy by relatives of the landlord where the relationship is other than parent and child, except in the unusual and exceptional case where it is established that the relative is a dependent or that extreme hardship to the parties is involved. In such isolated cases, eviction certificates may be granted if the landlord establishes that the eviction is sought in good faith and that evictions of the character proposed would not be inconsistent with the act or regulation or result in the circumvention or evasion thereof.

Example 1. L's daughter who lives with L marries. A certificate will be issued to L for occupancy by his daughter and her husband even though L's home is large enough to house the daughter and her husband, provided that the eviction is sought in good faith.

Example 2. L's son and his wife sell the house in which they reside. L seeks eviction of a tenant in a house owned by him for occupancy by the son and his wife. If the eviction is sought in good faith, a certificate will be granted even though the need for occupancy was self-imposed by reason of the son's sale of his home.

Example 3. L's father-in-law retired from business and he and his wife move to the city in which L lives. L owns an apartment house and seeks eviction of one of the tenants for occupancy by his father-in-law and mother-in-law. A certificate will be granted. The determination in such cases will not be based on whether title to the property is in the son's or his wife's name and evictions for fathers-in-law or mothers-in-law will be treated on the same basis as those for fathers or mothers.

Example 4. L owns an apartment house and seeks eviction for occupancy of one of the apartments for his married brother and family. The petition will be denied on the ground that evictions of the character proposed would be inconsistent with the act and regulation and would result in the circumvention and evasion thereof.

Example 5. L owns a duplex house, his son lives in Unit 1. L seeks eviction of the tenant in Unit 2 for occupancy by his son. L refuses to offer Apartment 1 to the tenant whose eviction is sought. A certificate may be denied on the ground of bad faith since L's refusal to offer the tenant the apartment vacated by the son indicates that L's real purpose is to evict the tenant rather than obtain occupancy for his son.

Example 6. L's widowed sister who has two small children is without sufficient income on which to live. L owns a duplex and occupies one-half of it with his family. L seeks occupancy of the other unit of the duplex for his sister and her two children in order that he and his family can help to look after the children while the sister is employed. A certificate may be granted on the ground that this is an unusual and exceptional case in which extreme hardship is involved.

Example 7. L is an elderly woman residing alone in a two-family house which she owns. L suffered a stroke and became bedridden. Her only near relative is a married niece who has a husband and two children. Because of L's condition, it is necessary that nursing service be available 24 hours a day. The niece is able and willing to care for her aunt. L files a certificate for a petition to evict the tenant in the house for occupancy by her niece and family so that her niece may be available at all times to help her. A certificate would normally be issued in this case on the ground that it is an unusual and exceptional case involving extreme hardship.

It is assumed in the examples given above that the landlord owned the property prior to the effective date of the regulation (or prior to October 20, 1942, in areas where the effective date of the regulation is prior to that date). If the property was acquired by the landlord on or after such date, then a certificate will not be granted to evict a tenant of the vendor for occupancy by the family member, unless the landlord has met the down-payment requirement of section 6 (b) (2), or establishes that the requirement should be waived in accordance with the provisions of that section.

In any of the above cases in which a certificate will issue, the waiting period will be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 6 (b) (1).

Issued March 28, 1947.

Associate General Counsel for Rent.

By these amendments the application of the rent regulations is terminated in the Deming defense-rental area, consisting of Luna County in New Mexico; in a portion of the Brunswick defense-rental area, consisting of St. Simons Island in Glynn County, Georgia; in a portion of the Las Cruces defense-rental area, consisting of Sierra County, New Mexico; in a portion of the Jamestown defense-rental area, consisting of the Chautauqua Institution in Chautauqua County, New York; in a portion of the Pittsburgh defense-rental area, consisting of the Townships of Aleppo, Center, Freeport, Gilmore, Gray, Jackson, Morris, Perry, Richhill, Springhill and Wayne in Greene County, Pennsylvania; in a portion of the Columbia, South Carolina defense-rental area, consisting of the portion of Aiken County except the Townships of Chinquepin, Giddy Swamp, Hopewell, McTier, Millbrook, Rocky Grove, Rocky Springs, Shaws, Silverton, Sleepy Hollow, Tabernacle, and Windsor.

In the judgment of the Temporary Controls Administrator, these amendments are necessary and proper in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act.

No provisions which might have the effect of requiring a change in established rental practices have been included in the amendments unless such provisions have been found necessary to achieve effective rent control and to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act. To the extent that the provisions of these amendments compel or may operate to compel changes in established rental practices, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the rent regulations and the act.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

SUGAR

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Third Revised Ration Order 3 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 19.8 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 19.8 Provisional allowance for manufacturing condensed milk in containers over one gallon—(a) General. On and after 11:59 p. m., March 31, 1947, an industrial user may apply for a provisional allowance of sugar to manufacture condensed milk to be packaged in containers holding more than one gallon.

(b) How to apply. Application for such provisional allowance must be made in duplicate on OPA Form R-360 and must be filed with the Washington Office of the Office of Price Administration. The applicant must give all of the information required by that form. The application may be made on and after the first day of the second month preceding the month in which the sugar is to be used. An industrial user who has not previously applied for a provisional allowance of sugar to make bulk sweetened condensed milk, must, at the time he files his first application on OPA Form R-360, file OPA Form R-361 with the Washington Office.

(c) Allowances are granted by Washington Office. The Washington Office, on such conditions as it shall require, may grant such provisional allowance of sugar in an amount which it considers necessary for the processing of milk which cannot be utilized by the applicant in non-sugar containing products and uses.

(1) Any sugar or sugar ration evidences which are issued for use during a given month and which are unused at the end of that month shall be deducted from the amount of any provisional allowance subsequently determined to be due such user.

(d) Restriction on use. Sugar obtained under this section may be used only during the month and for the purposes for which it is granted and at the rate permitted by the Washington Office.

(e) Records. An industrial user who obtains sugar under this section must keep records of his use of such sugar at his principal business office as long as this order remains in effect. (Such records shall consist of a copy of all of his applications filed on OPA Form R-360 and a copy of OPA Form R-361.)

2. Article XXIV is revoked.

This amendment shall become effective this 31st day of March 1947.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 31st day of March 1947.

PHILIP B. FLEMING,
Temporary Controls Administrator.

Rationale Accompanying Amendment No. 42 to Third Revised Ration Order 3

Proposed amendment. This amendment, by amending section 19.8, provides that any industrial user may obtain a provisional allowance of sugar for the purpose of manufacturing condensed milk to be packaged in containers holding more than one gallon. The Washington Office will grant such provisional allowance of sugar in an amount which it considers necessary for the processing of milk which cannot be utilized by the applicant in non-sugar containing products and uses. Applications for such provisional allowance of sugar are to be made to the Washington Office on OPA Form R-360.

[1] 11 F. R. 177, 14281.

Reason for amendment. Prior to November, 1946, sugar for the manufacture of bulk sweetened condensed milk was granted on a provisional allowance basis similar to the provisional allowance issuance procedure set forth in the proposed amendment. The return to the provisional allowance will permit greater flexibility in meeting current area production and market demand situations.

[Project No. 637]

WASHINGTON WATER POWER CO.

ORDER DENYING PERMISSION TO WITHDRAW APPLICATIONS AND AMENDING ORDER FIXING HEARING AND MODIFYING LICENSE TEMPORARILY

Upon notice filed March 21, 1947, on behalf of The Washington Water Power Company, licensed for Project No. 637, that licensee desires to withdraw its application filed January 22, 1947, for amendment of Article 13 of the license and its application filed March 12, 1947, for temporary modification of said article; and

It appearing that:

(a) Pursuant to the aforesaid applications the Commission by order entered March 18, 1947, modified Article 13 of the license temporarily and ordered a public hearing on the question of whether the January 22, 1947 application for amendment should be granted and whether the temporary modification of license granted by said order should be modified or rescinded;

(b) The notice of desire to withdraw the aforesaid applications states that other matters, including protracted hearings in the State of Washington, will require the exclusive attention of licensee's executive staff for the next few months; that attendance at the scheduled hearing and suitable and adequate response to the issues there to be raised are impossible; and that in view of licensee's necessities, the fairest and most practicable program is to operate the project in compliance with the provisions of Article 13 of the license and to disregard for the ensuing season the consequent waste of available electric energy and the well-nigh certain flood damages the occurrence of which is duly noted and explained in the aforesaid application filed January 22, 1947;

(c) In its order of March 18, 1947, the Commission found that it would be in the public interest to modify Article 13 of the license temporarily as therein provided. This finding was supported by substantial evidence to the effect that operation of the project from April 1, to June 30, 1947, in the manner authorized by the March 18 order should not have a substantial adverse effect on other than water users if such temporary modification continued to be subject to modification or revocation at the order of the Commission and the finding was supported by further substantial evidence to the effect that such a temporary modification of Article 13 would alleviate to some extent the power shortage in the Pacific Northwest since operation of the project in the manner permitted under Article 13 as temporarily modified would result in the production of additional power;

The Commission, having considered the aforesaid notice and the project record, finds that:

(1) It will not be consistent with the public interest to permit withdrawal of the aforesaid applications in view of the situation referred to in paragraphs (b) and (c) above;

(2) Under the circumstances it will be appropriate to postpone the public hearing previously set for April 14, 1947, to some date to be fixed by future order of the Commission; and

It is ordered, That:

(A) The licensee's request for withdrawal of the aforesaid applications filed January 22 and March 12, 1947, is hereby denied;

(B) The hearing set for April 14, 1947, in this matter is hereby postponed until some future date to be set by order of the Commission;

(C) The March 18, 1947 order shall remain in full force and effect except as herein specifically amended.

Date of issuance: March 27, 1947.

By the Commission.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 70-740, 70-741, 70-743, 70-746]

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER APPROVING CLAIM

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 25th day of March A. D. 1947.

In the matter of Utilities Employees Securities Company, File No. 70-740; Stanley Clarke, Trustee of Associated Gas and Electric Company, Dennis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, General Gas & Electric Corporation, Associated Utilities Corporation, File No. 70-741; New England Gas and Electric Association, File No. 70-743; Noel T. Dowling, James V. Gilloon, Jr., Joseph A. Shields, Trustees under Pension Trust Agreement dated December 14, 1937, as amended, File No. 70-746.

On August 12, 1943, we approved a plan for the liquidation and dissolution of Utilities Employees Securities Company (UESCO) under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (13 S. E. C. 781, 1943). In our order approving the plan we reserved jurisdiction "to approve or disapprove any claim that may be asserted for fees or expenses in connection with the liquidation and dissolution" (Holding Company Act Release No. 4492, page 38.) Subsequently, on October 12, 1944, we disposed of the claims of various persons for services and expenses but in our order we reserved jurisdiction "to hear evidence on and approve or disapprove the claim herein filed by Magill & Horrigan" (S. E. C. (1944), Holding Company Act Release No. 5349). At that time Magill and Horrigan were both in the armed services and were unable to appear and put in evidence in support of their claim. Hearings have since been held on the propriety and reasonableness of the Magill & Horrigan claim for legal services; memoranda have been filed by interested parties; and requested findings, briefs, and oral arguments have been waived.

In our opinion accompanying our order of October 12, 1944 we described generally the circumstances giving rise to claims for fees herein. The services which are the subject of the present application were rendered by Bradford S. Magill and the firm of Magill & Horrigan and cover, in the case of Magill, the period from February 2, 1940 to March 31, 1941 and, in the case of the firm, the period from April 1, 1941 to August 8, 1942. Services were rendered by Magill as a member of the firm of Warren & Magill from February 2, 1940 to August 31, 1940, as an individual practitioner from September 1, 1940 to March 31, 1941, and as a member of the firm of Magill & Horrigan from April 1, 1941 to August 8, 1942. Services were rendered by Horrigan as a member of the firm of Magill & Horrigan from April 1, 1941 to May 1, 1942.

In rendering the services for which compensation is now sought, applicants were acting in the capacity of attorneys for UESCO, for Employees Welfare Association (N. J.) (EWANJ), Employees Welfare Association (Del.) (EWADEL), and for the Pension Trustees. UESCO, a Delaware corporation, had been organized as an investment vehicle for employees of companies in the Associated Gas and Electric Company (AGECO) and Associated Gas and Electric Corporation (AGECORP) system. Initially control was vested in a voting trust but prior to the settlement the trust was dissolved and all of UESCO's voting stock was transferred to the trustees under a Pension Trust Agreement. The Pension Trust Agreement was entered into in 1937 between Joseph Shields, a representative of the AGECO–AGECORP system, and EWANJ. All of the outstanding stock of EWANJ was in turn owned by EWADEL, a corporation which administered the AGECO-AGECORP Life insurance plan.[1] Applicant's services to UESCO covered the period from February 1940 to August 1942; services to EWADEL and EWANJ from February 1940 to April 1942; and services for the Pension Trustees from March 1941 to August 1942.

It is not disputed that many of the services rendered by Magill and Horrigan for these clients had little or no relation to the ultimate settlement of UESCO problems and are not compensible here. For example, a large portion of the services were devoted to such matters as tax claims, insurance problems, Federal Power Commission proceedings, etc. Compensation is sought, however, for services such as examination and study of documents relating to the history and operations of UESCO, legal examination of the status of UESCO in the AGECO-AGECORP reorganization, examination of the position of employee and public holders of UESCO securities, examination of the position of the Pension Trust with respect to UESCO as well as that of companies which had contributed funds to UESCO; examination of documents and law bearing on the relative positions of EWANJ, EWADEL, and the Pension Trust with respect to action to be taken to establish independent Pension Trustees and consequent independent control of UESCO, counseling with the Board of Directors of UESCO with respect to preliminary plans for the liquidation of UESCO; counseling with respect to proceedings initiated by the trustees of AGECO-AGECORP to subordinate UESCO's holdings of AGECO-AGECORP; and consideration of facts and law with respect to compromise of various controversies relating to the assets of UESCO.

There is no question that certain of the foregoing services for which compensation is sought were in aid of the ultimate establishment of the welfare fund, which was created out of UESCO's residual assets, and out of which any compensation we authorize will be paid. It was testified that during the period prior to the settlement, in which the services in question were rendered, the activities of the Pension Trustees and their counsel were directed primarily to the devotion of the UESCO Surplus to employee welfare. The resulting welfare fund redounded to the benefit of all employees having an interest therein, many of whom were also beneficiaries under the Pension Trust as well. Magill points out, moreover, and he is corroborated in this regard by Henry C. Hasbrouck, president of EWADEL AND EWANJ, that he was partially responsible for the decision to have independent trustees of the Pension Trust appointed who would be in a better position than the incumbent trustees to defend the interests of employee welfare against the anticipated claim of the AGECO-AGECORP trustees to all the residential assets of UESCO. In this connection the record indicates that he was also helpful in the selection of trustees who possessed the necessary qualifications for the duties to be undertaken. Frederick L. Kane, who has acted as senior counsel to the Pension Trustees, from March 10, 1941, to date, has pointed out that Magill's services were invaluable to him because of his background of many years of experience with the AGECO-AGECORP system and in particular in handling UESCO matters. Horrigan also was familiar with the affairs of the AGECO-AGECORP system from a number of years of prior experience. Although both Magill and Horrigan had entered the armed forces some months prior to the settlement out of which the welfare fund was established (during which months the principles and details of the settlement were under active negotiation), various possible bases for that settlement had been under consideration prior to their departure. At the time Magill left, as Kane testified, "there was a good prospect of settlement."

The claim before us is for $19,500. This amount was set aside by UESCO in 1944 at the time all other claims were disposed of to cover the claim in full in the event it should be allowed.[1] In part the claim is for services which have already been compensated for by the Pension Trust, the common stockholder of UESCO, under an agreement whereby such compensation was to be returned to the extent claimant might otherwise be compensated for such services. As a consequence, and in accordance with their agreement, it has been stipulated to by and between applicants and counsel for Pension Trustees that out of any allowance made to the applicants there shall be reimbursed to Pension Trustees the sum of $4,713.63, consisting of 4,485 of fees paid by the Pension Trustees for services for which a claim is now being made against UESCO and $228.63 of expenses in connection with such services.

It is of course always difficult to appraise the contributions of various counsel in a situation such as this where numerous persons collaborated in achieving the ultimate result. Nor have the applicants been able to provide us with a detailed analysis of time devoted by them to this matter, which might aid us in our determination. They explain their failure to make available such analysis by the fact that they did not expect, at the time they performed the services in question, that their compensation would be passed upon by this Commission or by any other reviewing body and by the further fact that their practice was abruptly interrupted by a comparatively long period of service in the armed forces after which it was impossible to reconstruct a precise analysis.

In lieu of actual records, Magill in his affidavit sought to afford some basis for computing compensation here by estimating the number of productive hours spent by himself and Horrigan on all matters during the period for which compensation is sought, determining a reasonable amount of compensation therefor, and deducting therefrom the compensation he and Horrigan have already received. Since for all services other than those relating to the UESCO settlement Magill claims they have received full compensation, he urges that compensation be accorded here for the difference between the compensation he estimates he should have received and the compensation actually received. Although such a computation is necessarily too speculative to be given substantial weight here, nevertheless, since the record indicates that nearly all the work performed by the applicants during the period was for clients whose representatives have testified in this proceeding, Magill's estimates are of some assistance in our determination. The affidavit estimated that Magill spent a minimum of 4,000 productive hours on all matters in the course of the 2½-year period under consideration and that Horrigan spent a minimum of 1,600 productive hours on all matters during the one year that he was associated with Magill, so that the total time spent by Magill and Horrigan on all matters while they were engaged in work relating to the UESCO settlement aggregates 5,600 productive hours. The affidavit states that $60,000 is a reasonable compensation for the total of this work. According to the affidavit almost $40,000 was actually received by the applicants during the period and it is urged therein that the balance of approximately $20,000 should be received in this proceeding. However, at the subsequent hearing Magill made two substantial corrections of the affidavit previously submitted which necessarily affect the result he reached. First, he pointed out that in his affidavit he had understated the amount he had received from EWADEL and EWANJ; examination of the exhibits indicates that the affidavit failed to include approximately $5,000 from this source. Adding this figure to the amount stated in the affidavit as actually received from all sources during the period, it appears that applicants have received approximately $45,000. Second, Magill agreed that from the amount requested in this proceeding $4,713.63 should be repaid to the Pension Trustees. All of this sum except $228.63, which was for expenses, represents fees received from the Pension Trustees. This agreement appears to be a modification of Magill's statement that his services were worth $60,000 during the period by reducing that amount to less than $56,000, since in the affidavit Magill had indicated that his claim did not include any amount to be repaid to the Pension Trustees. Hence, according to Magill's own method the corrected figures indicate he should receive here approximately $11,000.

Counsel for the distributee companies have suggested various methods for computing the applicant's compensation based upon comparisons with the compensation received by former applicants in the proceeding. These result in suggested compensation ranging from nothing to $9,432, exclusive of the amount to be reimbursed to the Pension Trustees. We find that these suggested approaches, like those of Magill, are necessarily speculative but are nevertheless of some assistance.

After examining the record in the light of the services performed, the fees already received by the applicants, and the allowances previously made to former fee applicants herein, we conclude that a net allowance here of $10,000, taken together with what they have otherwise received, will fairly and adequately compensate them for services in this matter. This sum is in addition to the sum of $4,713.63 to be paid to the Pension Trustees, which amount we find to be fair. Although this allowance to Magill & Horrigan is slightly above the range of comparisons suggested by counsel for the distributee companies, we note that those comparisons did not take into consideration the fact that other counsel in this proceeding received their compensation several years ago when the present applicants were unable to appear because they were in the armed forces.

It is therefore ordered, That the claim of Magill & Horrigan be and hereby is approved in the amount of $14,713.63 and that of such amount $4,713.63 thereof shall be paid directly to the Pension Trust created by the Pension Trust Agreement of December 14, 1937.

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 25th day of March 1947.

General Public Utilities Corporation (GPU), a registered holding company,

[1] The original claim submitted by applicants was for $35,000 but was reduced by the applicant to $19,500 in the earlier proceedings, as applicant states, in an effort to dispose of the matter at that time. The claim was not disposed of at that time because applicants were unable to be present for the purpose of putting in supporting evidence.

having filed an application-declaration, as amended, pursuant to sections 6, 7, 9, and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (act) with respect to the following transactions:

1. GPU requests authority to acquire not more than 479,235 new common shares ($8.00 par value per share) of New England Gas and Electric Association (Negas), a registered holding company, pursuant to the provisions of the Alternate Plan of Recapitalization of Negas (Alternate Plan) which was approved by this Commission on February 11, 1947 and as to which an order granting enforcement has been entered by the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts. The Alternate Plan provides, among other things, that GPU, as the holder of 23,744 shares of the $5.50 preferred shares of Negas now outstanding shall have the right to receive (a) transferable rights to subscribe at $9.00 per share for 118,720 of the new common shares of Negas, and (b) non-transferable rights to subscribe at $9.00 per share for such new common shares of Negas as shall not have been taken up by the exercise of the transferable subscription rights by holders of the $5.50 preferred shares. The maximum number of such new common shares which GPU might acquire pursuant to the exercise of its non-transferable rights is 360,515.

2. (a) GPU proposes to issue and sell to four commercial banking institutions unsecured promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount which will not exceed $9,600,000. The proceeds of such issuance and sale are to be used (i) in an amount not to exceed $4,300,000 for the acquisition of not more than 479,235 new common shares of Negas as set forth above, and (ii) in an amount of $2,000,000 to repay a bank borrowing in like principal amount, and (iii) in an amount of $3,300,000 partially to reimburse the treasury of GPU for net capital contributions of $10,500,000 made by it to its subsidiaries since June 1, 1946.

(b) An aggregate principal amount of $3,000,000 of such promissory notes will bear interest at the rate of 1½% per annum and will mature on December 15, 1947. The remaining principal amount of such notes will bear interest at the rate of 1¾% per annum and will mature one year after the date of issuance. The loan agreement securing such promissory notes will provide, among other things, (i) that any amounts which may ultimately be received by GPU as the result of certain cash payments made by Negas pursuant to the provisions of the Alternate Plan (expected to aggregate approximately $1,900,000) will be applied against the latest maturing promissory notes, and (ii) that the net proceeds of the sale of any or all of the new common shares of Negas received by GPU pursuant to the exercise of its subscription rights, or otherwise, will be applied to the payment of the first maturing promissory notes.

Such application - declaration, as amended, having been duly filed, and notice of said filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said application-declaration, as amended, within the period specified in said notice or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to the application - declaration, as amended, that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act are satisfied, that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the said application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective, and deeming it appropriate to grant the request of applicant-declarant that the order become effective not later than March 25, 1947; and further deeming it appropriate to grant the request of applicant-declarant that the order recite that the Supplemental Findings and Opinion of the Commission entered on February 11, 1947 with respect to the Alternate Plan (Holding Company Act Release No. 7181) be incorporated herein:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that the application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith.

It is further ordered, That the supplemental findings and opinion of this Commission entered on February 11, 1947 with respect to the Alternate Plan of Recapitalization of New England Gas and Electric Association (Holding Company Act Release No. 7181) be, and hereby is, incorporated herein.

It is further ordered, In accordance with the consent filed herein by GPU, that GPU divest itself of all its interest, direct or indirect, in the new common stock of Negas which may be acquired by GPU pursuant to the exercise of its transferable and non-transferable rights accorded it by the Alternate Plan within one year following acquisition thereof, or within such longer period (not to exceed one additional year) as may be permitted for good cause pursuant to section 11 (c) of the act.

tion Act (21 U. S. C. 71 et seq.) is eligible for shipment in interstate and foreign commerce if the Secretary of Agriculture certifies that the plant is operated under sanitary conditions and that the meat produced therein is clean, wholesome and suitable for human consumption, and certain other conditions have been met. Certifications were previously issued under War Food Order No. 139 which was terminated on November 30, 1946. However, the Chief of the Distribution Division of the Livestock Branch is authorized to certify any slaughtering plant which meets the conditions imposed by War Food Order No. 139, Amendment 2 (11 F. R. 5641) prior to its termination, and with respect to which, application for certification was made prior to such termination, and liabilities have been incurred, remodeling has been done, or other change of position has been made by the operator of the plant in the expectation that certification would be issued to such plant. Managements of plants which meet the foregoing requirements may apply for certification to the Chief of the Distribution Division. A survey is made to determine the acceptability of the plant and the inspection conducted therein. Certification is extended or withheld depending on the findings. Inspections of certified plants are made from time to time by supervisors employed by the Division. (Sec. 3, 12, 60 Stat. 238, 244)

TITLE 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter E—Viruses, Serums, Toxins, and Analogous Products; Organisms or Vectors

PART 118—HOG CHOLERA VIRUS

PART 119—ANTI-HOG CHOLERA SERUM

PREPARATION, SALE, BARTER, EXCHANGE, SHIPMENT, AND IMPORTATION OF VIRUSES, SERUMS, TOXINS, AND ANALOGOUS PRODUCTS INTENDED FOR USE IN TREATMENT OF DOMESTIC ANIMALS

The regulations (9 CFR and Cum. Sup. 101.1 et seq.), issued pursuant to the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act of March 4, 1913 (21 U. S. C. 151 et seq.), are hereby amended as follows:

1. By amending § 118.15 to read:

§ 118.15 Inoculation of pigs for production of hyperimmunizing virus. For use in the production of hyperimmunizing virus, licensed establishments shall inoculate healthy young pigs weighing not more than 175 pounds each with at least 2 cubic centimeters of highly virulent hog-cholera virus: Provided, That when hog cholera from pen infection is manifested by the animals after the fourth day subsequent to admission to the premises, they need not be so inoculated: And provided further, That after September 30, 1947, hyperimmunizing virus shall not be collected from pigs weighing more than 145 pounds each.

2. By amending § 119.19 to read:

§ 119.19 Serum mixing and holding pending test. Anti-hog-cholera serum, prior to testing, shall be thoroughly mixed in a single container in batches of not more than 300,000 cubic centimeters composed of relative proportions of the different classes of bleedings (§§ 114.13 (b) (1), (2), (9), (10) and 114.15 of this chapter): Provided, however, That larger batches may be prepared by mixing in a single container all serum derived from one or more properly identified groups totaling 175 hyperimmune hogs or less. The serum shall be held under Bureau lock as provided in § 102.77 (b), of this chapter, except when being processed, until such time as all required tests have been completed and have shown that the serum is not worthless, contaminated, dangerous, or harmful.

3. By amending § 119.20 to read:

§ 119.20 Serum test sample. After the batch is thoroughly mixed a representative sample consisting of at least 300 cubic centimeters shall be collected in three containers of not less than 100 cubic centimeters each, to be known as the "serum test sample" (§ 114.23 of this chapter). The sample shall be taken, properly labeled, marked by a Bureau employee, and held under Bureau lock as provided in § 102.77 (b) of this chapter until removed for testing.

4. By amending § 119.24 to read:

§ 119.24 Test pigs. Licensed establishments shall furnish all pigs used in testing anti-hog-cholera serum. Eight healthy pigs, susceptible to hog cholera and weighing not less than 40 pounds nor more than 115 pounds each, except as provided in §§ 119.48 and 119.49 shall be used for testing each batch of serum consisting of 300,000 cubic centimeters or less (§ 119.19). Batches consisting of more than 300,000 cubic centimeters shall be tested on 11 healthy pigs in lieu of 8. Pigs weighing more than 90 pounds each shall not be used for testing serum found "unsatisfactory for potency" (§ 119.36 (c)) prior to the effective date of this amendment; nor shall such pigs be used for potency tests after September 30, 1947.

5. By amending § 119.25 to read:

§ 119.25 Test pigs; dosage virus and serum. Each pig furnished for testing serum shall be injected with 2 cubic centimeters of hog-cholera virus. Three pigs in each test shall receive no serum and shall serve as controls. The remaining pigs in the test shall receive 15 cubic centimeters each of the serum to be tested, except that pigs weighing more than 90 pounds may receive 20 cubic centimeters. The virus and serum injections shall be made simultaneously, the virus being injected in the left axillary space, and the serum in the right. Each of the pigs in the test shall be injected with virus of the same serial, the virus to be selected and administered by a veterinary inspector, or Bureau employee designated by the inspector in charge.

The difficulty experienced by many producers, under current market conditions, in procuring pigs suitable for producing hyperimmunizing virus and for testing anti-hog-cholera serum makes it obvious that the supply of serum for use in immunizing swine against hog cholera will reach and continue at a dangerously low level in the early summer and fall of this year unless immediate relief is afforded. The regulated industry is pressing for such relief. Relaxation of the virus-serum-toxin regulations to permit the use, for a temporary period, of larger pigs for the production of the virus and for testing the serum, and to permit the testing, continuously, of serum in larger batches, as provided herein, should speed return to normal levels without disastrous results. Other changes are minor in nature and are made primarily for the purpose of adjusting the affected regulations to the changes just described. The accomplishment of the desired purposes in time to be of substantial benefit this season necessitates the immediate adoption and effectuation of the amendment.

For the foregoing reasons, notice and public procedure thereon, as provided for in section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act (Act of Congress approved June 11, 1946, 60 Stat. 238) are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest, and there is good cause for finding that compliance with the publication requirements of section 4 (c) of that act is unnecessary.

This amendment shall be effective on and after April 4, 1947.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 31st day of March 1947.

Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

[SEAL] CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

(f) Against any national of the United Nations not falling within subdivisions (b), (c), (d), (e) of this subdivision or against any stateless person having the assimilated status of a United Nations displaced person, unless such national or stateless person consents thereto in writing, or has been a resident of Germany continuously since 1930, or he has no fixed intention and well-founded expectation of leaving the territorial boundaries of occupied Germany within a reasonably definite period of time in order to establish or return to an abode elsewhere, or he is defendant in a counter action which is connected with or relevant to the subject matter of a suit which he has filed as plaintiff in a German court, or he is a proper party defendant in a German court consistent with the provisions of Military Government Ordinance No. 6. (See § 3.4.)

(iii) Cases involving offenses against any order of the Allied Forces or any enactment of the Control Council or Military Government unless expressly authorized as provided in the first paragraph of this section: Provided, That in the trial of such cases by German courts when so authorized, if the enactment or authority conferring jurisdiction does not specify the penalty which the court is authorized to impose for the offense, the court shall have power to impose a sentence of imprisonment not exceeding five years without hard labor, or imprisonment not exceeding two years with hard labor, or a fine of not more than RM 10,000, or both such imprisonment and fine;

(iv) Cases challenging the validity of any order of the Allied Forces or any enactment of the Control Council or Military Government;

(v) Any case over which jurisdiction has been assumed by a Military Government Court;

(vi) Any case or class of cases reserved for or transferred by Military Government to the exclusive jurisdiction of Military Government Courts;

(vii) Any case for a claim of money against a German government or any legal entity existing under public law;

(viii) Any case or class of cases withdrawn from the jurisdiction of German courts by Military Government;

(ix) Cases involving as a party a person included within the categories enumerated in subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of § 3.4 (i) of Military Government Ordinance No. 6 wherein the Military Government Court for Civil Actions has jurisdiction.

(2) Any proceedings taken or decisions rendered after the date hereof by a German court in any cases excluded from its jurisdiction shall be null and void.

(g) Article VII; powers of Military Government. (1) The following powers of control and supervision are, without prejudice to the subsequent exercise of any additional or other powers, vested in the Military Government:

(i) To dismiss or suspend any German judge, Staatsanwalt or other court official; and to disbar from practice any notary or lawyer;

(ii) To supervise the proceedings of any court, to attend the hearing of any case, whether in public or in camera, and to have full access to all files and records of the court and documents in the cases;

(iii) To review administratively all decisions of German trial and appellate courts and to nullify, suspend, commute or otherwise modify any finding, sentence or judgment rendered by any such court;

(iv) To transfer to the jurisdiction of the Military Government Courts any case or class of cases;

(v) To control or supervise the administration, budgets and personnel of all German courts authorized to function.

(2) No sentence of death shall be carried out without the consent of Military Government. Such consent may be affirmatively given by the Director of Military Government of the Land or by the Deputy Military Governor. Consent shall be implied if:

(i) The Minister of Justice furnishes to the Director of Military Government of the Land a notice in writing of the imposition of the judgment and sentence and advising that the same has become final under German law, and

(ii) Thirty days have elapsed since the signing by said Director of an acknowledgment in writing of the receipt of the notice, and

(iii) During that period Military Government, through the Director of the Land or the Deputy Military Governor, has not expressly stayed or prohibited the execution of said sentence: Provided, That the Director of the Land or the Deputy Military Governor may stay or prohibit the execution of such death sentence at any time prior to the execution.

(3) No member of the Allied Forces nor any employee, of whatever nationality, of the Military Government, shall be required or permitted to testify in any German Court without the consent of the Military Government.

(h) Article VIII; limitation and prescription. (1) In any case in which delay in the assertion of any right by suit or action in a German Court has the effect of rendering claims unenforceable or of extinguishing substantive rights, the period during which the bringing of such suit or action is prevented by the suspension of German courts or the limitations imposed by this section shall be excluded in determining the applicable period of limitation or prescription.

(i) Article IX; penalties. (1) Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction by a Military Government Court, be liable to any lawful punishment, including death, as such court may determine.

§ 3.12 Regulation No. 1 under Military Government Law No. 2—(a) General scope. Subject to the limitations of paragraphs (e), (f) and (g) of § 3.11 and subject to the limitations and conditions specified in this section, each Amtsgericht, Landgericht, and Oberlandesgericht reopened or established with the consent of Military Government, and all judges, prosecutors, notaries, sheriffs, clerks, attorneys, lay advisers, and others performing functions in the administration of justice are authorized to exercise all of their functions.

(b) Courts with special jurisdiction. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit the opening or revival of other courts closed or abolished by Military Government, including but not limited to the Hereditary Farm Courts (Anerbengerichte) and Hereditary Health Courts (Erbgesundheitsgerichte), even though their functions may have been exercisable by judges of, or such courts may have been attached to, the courts referred to in paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, however, That matters formerly within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Labor Courts shall, until further notice, be within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Amtsgericht, as court of first instance, which shall so far as possible apply existing procedure applicable in such matters, except that the provisions for participation of lay judges in labor courts shall not be operative until so determined by the appropriate Minister of Justice.

(c) Official acts. (1) Except as authorized by subparagraph (2) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph, no court or official of the administration of justice, including any judge, notary, sheriff, or clerk, shall:

(i) Render a decision, order or judgment (including amends (damages) in favor of private criminal complainants, but excluding fines), authorizing, directing, or effecting the delivery, sale, transfer, or other disposition of, or adjudicating title to or in, property, or ordering the payment of money;

(ii) Levy execution or attachment, or seize, sell or dispose of, property;

(iii) Direct or authorize the distribution of any bankrupt, decedent, or other estate; or

(iv) Attest, authenticate, or witness any legal instrument, declaration, or transaction.

(2) Any official act of the character described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is authorized if either:

(i) Such official act, or the result at which it is aimed is generally or specifically authorized by Military Government;

(ii) The party or parties seeking such official act or the party or parties to such instrument, declaration, or transaction, as the case may be, have filed with such court or official, or have attached to such instrument, declaration or transaction, an affidavit averring upon oath or affirmation that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, such official act or such instrument, declaration or transaction, will not transfer rights or title to, or possession of, property or money from any person whose property has been blocked by Military Government or reduce or impair the value of such property, and the court or official neither knows or is charged with knowledge that such affidavit is incorrect.

(iii) Any official act of the character described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall have no legal effect unless the conditions specified in subparagraph (2) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph are met.

(iv) Every decision, order, or judgment authorizing or directing the payment of money or delivery, sale, transfer, or other disposition of property or affecting rights in or the title to property in favor of a person or persons whose property is blocked by Military Government shall contain, in addition to findings showing that such decision, order or judgment is authorized under this section, a provision requiring that such money be paid into a blocked account approved by Military Government or that such property or title be delivered or such title be transferred, or the proceeds derived from the sale or disposition of such property be paid, to a custodian designated, appointed or approved by Military Government.

(d) Qualifications of fiduciaries and experts. (1) No judge or other official of the administration of justice shall appoint, confirm, or, regardless of the date of appointment, retain any person as guardian, curator, executor, administrator, liquidator, trustee in bankruptcy, or other fiduciary or as official expert, if such person has been at any time "actively engaged in any of the activities of the Nazi Party or any of its affiliated organizations", or is a person whose property is blocked by Military Government.

(2) The term "actively engaged in any of the activities of the Nazi Party or its affiliated organization" as used herein shall include any member of the Nazi Party or of its affiliated organizations who has:

(i) Held office or otherwise been active at any level, from local to national in the Nazi Party and organizations, or in organizations which further militaristic doctrines;

(ii) Authorized or participated affirmatively in any Nazi crimes, racial persecutions or discriminations;

(iii) Been an avowed believer in Nazism, or racial or militaristic creeds; or

(iv) Voluntarily given substantial moral or material support, or political assistance of any kind to the Nazi Party or Nazi officials and leaders.

(3) There shall be created at every court which has jurisdiction to appoint fiduciaries or official experts, standing panels of approved persons having the qualifications required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, whose names, together with a questionnaire executed by each person, shall be submitted by the court to the appropriate Minister of Justice for approval by Military Government or such German agency as may be designated by him for that purpose with the approval of Military Government. Any additions to such panels shall be similarly submitted for approval. From such approved panels shall be appointed any fiduciary or official expert, except that an executor or other fiduciary who under German law, is nominated because of his personal relationship to interested parties need not be drawn from a panel but may be appointed or confirmed individually subject to subsequent approval to be obtained in the same manner as in the case of panel members.

(4) In examining the qualifications of fiduciaries in office heretofore appointed, precedence shall be given to those who are serving for compensation and are in charge of estates having a fair value in excess of RM 5,000.

(e) Permissible entries and conditions for entries on public registers. (1) The following entries upon public registers are permitted unconditionally:

(i) Any entry of rectification, protest, or caveat upon the land register (Grundbuch);

(ii) Any entry, upon the commercial register (Handelsregister), register of cooperatives (Genossenschaftsregister), register of associations (Vereinsregister), or ship register (Schiffsregister), of:

(a) The termination of a person's power to represent another person;

(b) The notice of opening or termination of bankruptcy or similar proceedings;

(c) The cancellation of a firm or dissolution of a partnership, corporation, or other organization;

(d) The termination of membership of a person in a partnership, cooperative society, or other organization;

(e) The termination of membership in the board of directors (Vorstand), or other board of a corporation or other organization;

(f) The establishment of a new branch of a firm or business already having its seat or a branch in the United States Zone;

(g) The transfer of the seat of any firm, partnership, corporation, or other organization from one place within the United States Zone to another place within such zone.

(iii) Any entry, in the matrimonial property register (Guterrechtregister) of the exclusion or termination of a husband's powers of management of and usufruct in the assets of his wife, or of the termination of a wife's power to act as agent for her husband, or of a husband's opposition to the carrying on of a business by his wife;

(iv) Any entry upon a blocking register, and any entry of notice of blocking upon any other register, referred to in paragraph (f) of this section.

(2) Any entry upon the commercial register, register of cooperatives, register of associations, or ship register, recording the opening, establishment, or creation of a new firm by a single owner, or of a partnership, limited partnership, joint stock company, limited liability or other corporation, shipowner's association, cooperative, or other association or organization of any kind, may be made only upon specific or general authorization by Military Government.

(3) Except as otherwise authorized by Military Government, no entry than those specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph may be made upon the land register or any other public register maintained by an official of the administration of justice unless there has been filed with such official, by the applicant for such entry, an affidavit upon oath or affirmation averring, upon a form furnished by such official:

(i) In the case of the entry of the name of a person upon the commercial register, register of associations, register of cooperatives, or ship register, that such person's property has not been blocked by Military Government and that the person has not at any time been "actively engaged in any of the activities of the Nazi Party or of its affiliated organizations", as such phrase is defined in paragraph (d) (1) of this section

(ii) In the case of an entry concerning or affecting property, that such entry and the transaction underlying it will neither transfer any right in or title to, or possession of, property from any person whose property has been blocked by Military Government nor reduce or impair the value of such property.

(4) (i) No entry made upon the land register, the commercial register, or any other public register maintained by a judge or other official of the administration of justice between the date on which the land registry office (Grundbuchamt) and general register department (Abteilung für Registersachen) were closed as required by Military Government and the date of commencement of operations under this section shall have any legal effect unless and until there is added to it by the official in charge of such register a notice of confirmation.

(ii) A notice of confirmation shall be added as of course to every entry of the kind described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(iii) A notice of confirmation shall not be added to an entry of the kinds described in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph unless the official in charge finds and certifies as part of his official action that the requirements of such applicable subsection have been satisfied. In the meantime, such entry shall be conspicuously marked "Suspended" and notice of such suspension and of the requirements of this entire paragraph and paragraph (g) of this section shall be mailed to the last-known address of, or lawfully served on, the person or persons interested in maintaining such entry.

(iv) In any room in which business concerning the land register, commercial register, or any other register maintained by a judge or other official of the administration of justice is transacted, there shall be conspicuously displayed a public notice quoting in the official text and in German translation the provisions of this paragraph and of paragraph (g) of this section and stating the date of commencing operations under this section.

(f) Blocking notices and entries. (1) Whenever there is furnished by or on behalf of Military Government to a Minister of Justice a list of persons whose property is blocked by Military Government, or a statement of additions or amendments to such list, a copy of such list or statement shall be furnished by him to, and be open to public inspection at, every court under his jurisdiction and shall constitute public notice of its contents. Every such court shall maintain as a public register an index, based on such lists, of persons whose property is so blocked. The clerk of an Amtsgericht shall upon request be required to issue a certificate stating whether the register of blocked persons at such shows that the person named in the certificate is a person whose property has been blocked by Military Government.

(2) Whenever there is furnished by or on behalf of Military Government to the judge or other official in charge of the land register or other public register a notice that real estate, a vessel, or other property, sufficiently identified to be ascertainable, is blocked by Military Government, such judge or other official shall enter upon the appropriate register, in connection with the record of such property, a notice of such blocking.

(3) Every certificate of heirship (Erbschein), every certificate of continuation by the surviving spouse and the children of a community of assets formerly existing between the surviving and predeceasing spouses (German Civil Code, section 1507), and every certificate of appointment as guardian, curator, executor, administrator, trustee in bankruptcy, or other fiduciary, issued by a court or other official of the administration of justice, shall, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of such court or official that the estate to which such certificate refers is not blocked property, conspicuously bear the following notice:

> The estate is (presumed to be) blocked by Military Government. Any transaction relating to it or any of its assets is (entered into at the risk of being) null and void unless authorized by Military Government. (Strike out words in parentheses if inapplicable.)

(4) Whenever the court or other official of the Administration of Justice issuing a certificate of heirship or of continuation of the community of assets knows or has reason to believe that an heir or coheir, or a person having an interest in the continuation of the community of assets, is a person whose property is blocked by Military Government, such court or official shall enter a notice to that effect upon the certificate.

(g) Applicability. Nothing in this section shall be construed to protect any person who has in good faith attempted to acquire rights in blocked property. The provisions of German Law protecting those persons who purport to derive rights from a person not entitled thereto, do not apply to the extent that the defect of title of the grantor is due to property control or foreign exchange control legislation enacted by Military Government.

(h) Definitions. For the purpose of this section:

(1) The term "person" includes every individual, partnership, association, corporation of public or private law, and every other organization or juristic person;

(2) The term "property" includes all property, tangible or intangible, movable or immovable;

(3) The term "blocked" property means property (as herein defined) which Military Government has taken into control through declaration to that effect, seizure of possession or title, direction, management, supervision, or otherwise.

(i) Issuance of instructions and regulations. The Land Ministers of Justice are authorized to issue with the approval of Military Government, any regulations or instructions necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this section.

§ 3.13 Regulation No. 2 under Military Government Law No. 2—(a) Testimony in German courts by persons subject to United States Military Law and by persons associated with the United States Office of Military Government. (See § 3.11 (g) (3).) (1) Upon written request made by the president of a German court to the appropriate approving authority hereinafter indicated the following persons may be permitted to testify as witnesses in German courts.

(i) Upon approval by the commanding officer of the detachment, company or higher command, exercising direct supervision and control over the witness:

(a) Military personnel of the United States and of United Nations serving with the tactical Armed Forces or with the Offices of Military Government of the United States.

(b) Non-military personnel serving with or employed by the tactical Armed Forces of the United States.

(c) Other persons subject to United States Military Law including dependents of persons in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subdivision.

(ii) Upon approval by a Director of an Office of Military Government, or his designee, exercising supervision over the witness:

(a) Non-military personnel serving with or employed by the Offices of Military Government.

(b) Dependents of persons in subdivision (a) of this subdivision if subject to United States Military Law.

(2) The testimony of persons authorized by the approving authority to appear as witnesses in German courts shall be given only upon such conditions as may be specified by the approving authority: Provided, however, That:

(i) The matter on which the testimony is sought is not classified matter,

(ii) The testimony is not prejudicial to the interests of Military Government or of the Armed Forces of the United States, and

(iii) That copies of official papers and copies of reports of inquiries are not requested or furnished in connection with such testimony.

(3) German courts shall not issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of such witnesses. The requests by a German court shall include a statement of the title and nature of the action, together with a statement of the facts proposed for proof by the testimony sought.

(4) No former member or employee of the Armed Forces of the United States or former employee of the Office of Military Government of the United States shall be permitted to testify before a German court concerning any information acquired by him as the result of such membership or employment of which involves the activities of the Armed Forces or of the Military Government or its personnel, unless expressly permitted to do so in writing by the Commanding Officer of the unit of which he was a member or at which he was employed, or, if the testimony concerns the Office of Military Government of the United States, then by the Director of the Office of Military Government for the Land in which such German court is situated.

(5) No person subject to the United States military law, and no employee of the Office of Military Government of the United States, other than a German national, shall be subject to punishment by any German court for any contempt for such court, but such contempt may be referred by the court before which the testimony was requested to the appropriate approving authority mentioned in this section for appropriate action.

§ 3.14 Official explanations and comments concerning § 3.12 (Regulation No. 1 under Military Government Law No. 2)—(a) Purpose of § 3.12. The reopening of the ordinary German courts and of notarial offices within the US Zone were generally authorized by letter, this headquarters, AG 014.1 GEC–AGO, "Plan for the Administration of Justice", dated October 4, 1945. Certain normal functions of these courts or officers, in particular those involving the administration of the land register and other public registers and the execution of judgments, remained dormant pending the resolution of certain problems under § 3.15 Law No. 52 relating to blocking and control of property. The purpose of § 3.12 is to permit the resumption of these normal activities, subject only to such safeguards as are felt to be necessary for purposes of blocking control and denazification and de-militarization. Apart from laying down the basic general rule that official actions in the administration of justice are authorized, § 3.12 is concerned with limitations upon judgments, orders, and other decisions affecting property (including money), with the appointment of fiduciaries and official experts, with restrictions on entries on the public registers, with safeguards surrounding the function of judges and notaries in making public attestation (Beglaubigung) of documents and authentication (Beurkundung) of legal declarations of transactions made before them and finally, with the means of bringing to public notice the identity of persons whose property has been blocked and of the blocked property itself.

(b) Judgments, executions and notarial acts. (1) Section 3.12 (c) inhibits the strictly judicial process only to the extent that it impinges upon "blocked property". If that process, in any way, diminishes, burdens, or impairs the value of the interests to the "blocked person" in such property, and only then, is it prohibited unless otherwise licensed. Such a license may be inferred from a license of the transaction upon which the court decision is based or of the result at which it is aimed. A decision or other judicial process enhancing "blocked property", unless at the same time it impairs or diminishes the interest therein of another whose property is also blocked, is not prevented by § 3.12, but such addition to the mass of "blocked property" or its value must be subjected to Military Government control in the manner indicated in § 3.12.

(2) A money judgment against a person whose property is "blocked" is not to be deemed a prohibited judgment "ordering the payment of money" in the sense of § 3.12 (c) (1) (i) to the extent that it merely taxes costs or attorney's fees computed in accordance with the statutory scale, or if it merely fixes personal liability enforceable by the normal modes of execution of money judgments without subjecting the judgment defendant to a penalty or citation for contempt of court for nonpayment and does not become a charge or lien upon any property or payable out of specific funds or property. This however, does not mean that payment of the judgment or the issuance and levy of excution pursuant to it is permitted unless otherwise licensed by Military Government.

(3) The imposition of fines inuring to the public, whether imposed in a criminal prosecution or to aid the enforcement of an order ignored by a defendant in a civil proceeding, is not prohibited, even though the defendant's property is "blocked" and payment of the fine would diminish such property. On the other hand, an order in a criminal proceeding to make restitution or payments to a private party is subject to the limitations of § 3.12 (c).

(4) None of the limitations established by § 3.12 (c) (1) apply to decisions which do not relate to property, such as judgments by which a marriage is annulled or dissolved, or by which a legitimate relationship is declared to exist between a child and his alleged father, or by which an adoption is authorized.

(5) In prohibiting, except as otherwise licensed, judicial or notarial attestation of documents and authentication of declaration or "transactions" when impairment of "blocked property" would follow, § 3.12 uses the term "transaction" which denotes any act by a person or persons tending to create, transfer, modify, or extinguish a right. Thus, transactions include not only contracts and agreements (offers, promises, gifts, conveyances), but also the incorporation of a company, of a business, the creation of a mortgage, a release; it excludes, however, tort and the discharge of purely governmental duties by an official, as distinguished from the performance of proprietary functions on behalf of the government.

(c) Fiduciaries and experts. (1) In view of the fact that fiduciaries and standing experts appointed by a court or an official of the administration of justice are considered public officials, § 3.12 (d) makes them subject to approval by Military Government or such German agency as may be designated for that purpose by the Minister of Justice with the approval of Military Government, prohibits the appointment or retention in office of such fiduciaries or experts if their property is "blocked", or if they were active Nazis or militarists according to the definition contained in § 3.12. The prohibition, however, does not apply to the calling of an expert witness by the parties in an individual case.

(2) Because the appointment of such fiduciaries and experts must often be speedy, the panel device is adopted. The approval of names on a panel by Military Government should be given as promptly as possible. If the cases of some of the proposed panel members require extended consideration, it is better to approve the list in part and reserve decision on the rest than to hold up the entire list. The panel device, however, does not lend itself to executors, who are nominated by the testator, or to other fiduciaries, such as personal guardians, who under German law are nominated primarily because of their personal relationship to interested parties. In such cases, a provisional appointment may be made and the appointment submitted for "post audit" by Military Government.

(3) Fiduciaries already in office may be retained even if they are not on a panel and are not in the "personal relation" category so long as they are not persons whose property has been blocked or were formerly active Nazis. If the court decides to retain them, however, their names, like those of panel members, must be submitted for Military Government "post audit" in the same way as the personal relation category with priority in handing at all levels to be given to compensated fiduciaries in charge of estates having a value of more than RM 5,000.

(d) Public registers. (1) The authority to reopen the land register and other public registers maintained by courts or other officials of the administration of justice is contained in the general authorization of § 3.12 (a). The limitations on entries, however, are contained in § 3.12 (e) and a new register, the blocking register, is established by § 3.12 (f). It will be noticed that, apart from entries on the blocking register (§ 3.12 (e) (1) (iv)), only those entries are permitted unconditionally (§ 3.12 (e) (1) (i) (ii) and (iii)), which clearly are not prejudicial to property control. Entries evidencing the creation of new businesses or organizations require prior approval by Military Government (§ 3.12 (e) (2)), normally the property control officer. The remaining entries (§ 3.12 (e) (3)) require, in the absence of a general or specific license for the entry or the transaction the filing of a clearing affidavit as described in § 3.12.

(2) Section 3.12 (e) (4), relating to past entries, is designed to clarify the legal situation resulting from the making of entries in some places upon the land register, the commercial register, and other registers, generally by authority of local Military Government, before the date of the reopening was authorized by § 3.12.

(e) Blocking lists, notices, and entries. (1) Paragraph (f) of § 3.12 is intended through the establishment of blocking lists, blocking registers, and blocking notices, to give blocking information to officials of the administration of justice and to the public. It is not designed to give legal protection to bona-fide purchasers or others who may be relying on such lists. On the contrary, if blocked property is transferred or impaired without license other than by § 3.12, even though the required affidavits have been filed and the judge has made the necessary findings and is not on notice of the blocking, the persons relying on the judgment or other official acts are not protected, despite any provisions of German law to the contrary. This is the effect of paragraphs (e) and (f) of § 3.15. Paragraph (g) of § 3.12 is thus declaratory of existing law. It is important that, the German population as well as the German bar be apprised of this, and the posting of a notice quoting § 3.12 (g) is designed to accomplish this.

(f) Proof negativing blocking or Nazism. (1) In these cases in which official action is intended to be prevented if the effect would be to impair blocked property, § 3.12 generally permits the judge or other official to rely upon an affidavit of the party interested if the judge is not put upon inquiry by some suspicious circumstance and is not charged with notice by blocking lists, blocking entries, and the like. To make sure that he is not thus put on notice, it would seem necessary for him to have a search of the relevant lists and registers made in every relevant case and to obtain a certificate from the official in charge of the list or register as to the result of the search.

(2) Where the question is whether a person was active as a Nazi, a questionnaire should be obtained, especially where the approval of Military Government is required.

(g) Implementation of § 3.12. The Minister of Justice is empowered, subject to the approval of Military Government, to issue instructions to implement § 3.12, in this and other respects. The instruction should be cleared with both the legal and the property control officers.

(h) Effective date. An effective date of February 16, 1946, is provided for § 3.12. It is recognized, however, that a reasonable time lag between that date and the date on which the register departments are apprised of it and open for business may be inevitable. The date on which they begin to operate under § 3.12 is important in those cases in which the register department had opened prematurely and the validation process under § 3.12 (e) (4) is involved. The date on which operation under § 3.12 commenced must, therefore, be determined and conspicuously posted (§ 3.12 (e) (4) (iv)).

§ 3.15 Blocking and control of property; Law No. 52—(a) Article I; categories of property. (1) All property within the occupied territory owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, by any of the following is hereby declared to be subject to seizure of possession or title, direction, management, supervision or otherwise being taken into control by Military Government:

(vii) All other persons specified by Military Government by inclusion in lists or otherwise.

(2) Property which has been the subject of transfer under duress, wrongful acts of confiscation, dispossession or spoliation, whether pursuant to legislation or by procedures purporting to follow forms of law or otherwise, is hereby declared to be equally subject to seizure of possession or title, direction, management, supervision or otherwise being taken into control by Military Government.

(b) Article II; prohibited transactions. (1) Except as hereinafter provided, or when licensed or otherwise authorized or directed by Military Government, no person shall import, acquire or receive, deal in, sell, lease, transfer, export, hypothecate or otherwise dispose of, destroy or surrender possession, custody or control of any property:

(i) Enumerated in paragraph (a) of this section;

(ii) Owned or controlled by any Kreis, municipality, or other similar political subdivision;

(iii) Owned or controlled by any institution dedicated to public worship, charity, education, the arts and sciences;

(c) Article III; responsibilities for property. (1) All custodians, curators, officials, or other persons having possession, custody or control of property enumerated in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section are required:

(i) (a) To hold the same, subject to the directions of the Military Government and, pending such direction, not to transfer, deliver or otherwise dispose of the same;

(b) To preserve, maintain and safeguard, and not to cause or permit any action which will impair the value or utility of such property;

(c) To maintain accurate records and accounts with respect thereto and the income thereof.

(ii) When and as directed by Military Government:

(b) To transfer and deliver custody, possession or control of such property and all books, records and accounts relating thereto; and

(c) To account for the property and all income and products thereof.

(2) No person shall do, cause or permit to be done any act of commission or omission which results in damage to or concealment of any of the properties covered by this section.

[Ex Parte MC-41]

IDENTIFICATION OF MOTOR-CARRIER VEHICLES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

MARCH 21, 1947.

An investigation has been instituted by the Commission, Division 5, to the end that appropriate regulations respecting identification of motor-carrier vehicles may be promulgated under sections 204 a (1) (2) (6) and 224 of the Interstate Commerce Act to take the place of current regulations which expire March 31, 1947.

On October 1, 1937, there became effective rules and regulations Governing the Display of Identification Plates by Motor Carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act. Because the supply of identification plates later became exhausted, the indicated regulations were modified and enlarged by Emergency Order No. M-4, effective November 1, 1943, authorizing a temporary method of identification. Identification plates will still be unavailable upon expiration of that order on March 31, 1947. By the terms of the latter order motor carriers have been permitted to display, in lieu of identification plates, their name or trade name, and the Interstate Commerce Commission certificate, permit, or docket number assigned to their operating authority.

Experience under the emergency order has proven the method there prescribed to a more simple, flexible, and certain means of identification than the use of plates. Furthermore, during the years these plates have been outstanding many have been lost, stolen, or otherwise come into the possession of persons not authorized to display them. It is proposed, therefore, to revoke the rules and regulations which became effective October 1, 1937, and to prescribe in their place the method of identification set forth in Emergency Order No. M-4. On and after the effective date of the new rules and regulations, the display on Motor vehicles of the identification plates issued by this Commission would be prohibited. Motor Carriers would be required to return to this Commission all such plates in their possession. A draft of a proposed order reflecting suggested new regulations is attached.

The matter has not been assigned for oral hearing and none will be held unless a need therefor is shown. Anyone wishing to make representations in favor of or against the changes proposed may file a written statement of his views, opinions, or arguments. The original and five copies of such a submission should be filed with the Commission on or before May 1, 1947.

The general public is being informed of the indicated proposed rule-making by the deposit of a copy of this notice in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D. C., and by the filing of a copy with the Director, Division of Federal Register.

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 5, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the __ day of _____, A. D. 1947.

Sections 204 (a) (1) (2) (6) and 224 of the Interstate Commerce Act and the regulations promulgated thereunder respecting the identification of motor-carrier vehicles being under consideration; and

It appearing, that the display of identification plates as prescribed in the rules and regulations promulgated by the Commission, Division 5, effective October 1, 1937, and as modified by Emergency Order No. M-4 of the said Division, effective November 1, 1943, is no longer necessary, desirable, or in the public interest;

It further appearing, that, in any event, a supply of identification plates is not available;

It further appearing, that the temporary method of identification authorized by the above-mentioned emergency order through experience has proven to be a more flexible and certain means of establishing identity, and that its use is so widespread that no hardship will result from the permanent discontinuance of the issuance of identification plates;

It further appearing, that many of such plates through loss, sale of equipment, and other circumstance have or may come into the hands of persons not authorized to display them, with a consequent possibility of confusion, misrepresentation, and the facilitation of unlawful operations unless display thereof is prohibited;

And it further appearing, that it is in the public interest that said regulations and emergency order be revoked in their entirety and replaced by the regulations herein prescribed: it is ordered, that:

Identification of interstate carriers—(a) Vehicles subject to regulations. Every motor carrier subject to the Interstate Commerce Act shall observe the rules and regulations herein prescribed as to each motor vehicle or combination thereof when operated

(1) As authorized by a certificate or permit issued by this Commission.

(2) As authorized by a state certificate conforming with the second proviso of section 206 (a) of the Interstate Commerce Act, and duly filed with this Commission, or

(3) As described by an application filed in compliance with those provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act according to which a motor carrier may continue operations pending consideration of an application for a certificate or permit.

(b) (1) Method of identification. There shall be displayed on both sides of each single vehicle, or on both sides of the power unit of each combination of vehicles, the name, or trade name, of the motor carrier under whose authority the vehicle or vehicles is or are being operated and the certificate, permit, or docket number assigned to such operating authority by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Such certificate, permit, or docket number or numbers, shall be in the following form: "I. C. C. _____," but shall not include any sub numbers which may have been assigned. If the name of any person other than the operating carrier appears on any such single vehicle, or on the power unit of any such combination of vehicles, the name of the operating carrier shall be followed by the information required above, and be preceded by the words, "Operated by." Nothing in the regulations prescribed herein shall prohibit the display of such additional identification as is not inconsistent with such regulations.

(2) Size, shape, and color. The display of name and number herein prescribed shall be in letters and figures of such size, shape, and color as to be readily legible, during daylight hours, from a distance of 50 feet while the vehicle is not in motion, and such display shall be kept and maintained in such manner as to remain so legible.

(c) Use of identification plates prohibited. On and after the effective date of the regulations herein prescribed, identification plates issued by this Commission under its order effective October 1, 1937, shall not be displayed on any motor vehicle, or combination thereof, operated under authority of this Commission or otherwise. Such plates in the possession of motor carriers, or coming into their possession, shall be sent at the expense of the motor carrier to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Bureau of Motor Carriers, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after the effective date of these regulations.

It is further ordered, that order of May 7, 1937, relating to the display of identification plates, Form BMC 71 titled "Application for Identification Plates," and Emergency Order No. II-4 of September 30, 1943, relating to identification of vehicles, be, and they are hereby, vacated, effective on the __ day of _____, 1947.

It is further ordered, that this order shall become effective on the __ day of _____, A. D. 1947.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order shall be served upon all motor carriers and upon the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of Federal Register.

Now, therefore, Pursuant to Title III of the Second War Powers Act, as amended, Executive Order 8989, as amended, and Executive Order 9729, and it being deemed necessary in the public interest and to promote the national defense, by reason of the short supply of Class ICC 105A–300–W tank cars suitable for the transportation by rail carriers of liquefied petroleum gas, to allocate each of the 423 Class ICC 105A–300–W tank cars which the War Department has declared surplus to its needs; It is hereby ordered, That:

1. There is hereby allocated to each commercial company named in the appendix attached hereto and made a part hereof, for use in the transportation by rail carriers of liquefied petroleum gas, each Class ICC 105A–300–W tank car identified by car initial and number under the name of each such company where it appears in said appendix.

AUTHORITY: §§ 141.1 to 141.106, inclusive, issued under sec. 507, 52 Stat. 1040 as amended by 59 Stat. 463 and Pub. Law 16, 80th Cong., 1st Sess.; 21 U. S. C. and Sup. 357.

§ 141.1 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin; potency—(a) Cylinders (cups). Use stainless steel cylinders with an outside diameter of 8 mm. (±0.1 mm.), an inside diameter of 6 mm. (±0.1 mm.), and a length of 10 mm. (±0.1 mm.).

(b) Culture media. Use ingredients that conform to the standards prescribed by the U. S. P. or N. F. (1) Make nutrient agar for the seed layer and for cylinders with an outside diameter of 8 mm. (±0.1 mm.), an inside diameter of 6 mm. (±0.1 mm.), and a length of 10 mm. (±0.1 mm.).

(b) Culture media. Use ingredients that conform to the standards prescribed by the U. S. P. or N. F. (1) Make nutrient agar for the seed layer and for carrying the test organism as follows:

Peptone	6.0 gm.
Pancreatic digest of casein	4.0 gm.
Yeast extract	3.0 gm.
Beef extract	1.5 gm.
Glucose	1.0 gm.
Agar	15.0 gm.
Distilled water, q. s.	1,000.0 ml.

(2) Make nutrient agar for the base layer as follows:

Peptone	6.0 gm.
Yeast extract	3.0 gm.
Beef extract	1.5 gm.
Agar	15.0 gm.
Distilled water, q. s.	1,000.0 ml.

pH 6.5 to 6.6 after sterilization.

(3) Make nutrient broth, for preparing an inoculum of the test organism, as follows:

Peptone	5.0 gm.
Yeast extract	1.5 gm.
Beef extract	1.5 gm.
Sodium chloride	3.5 gm.
Glucose	1.0 gm.
Dipotassium phosphate	3.68 gm.
Potassium dihydrogen phosphate	1.32 gm.
Distilled water, q. s.	1,000.0 gm.

pH 7.0 after sterilization.

In lieu of preparing the media from the individual ingredients specified in paragraphs (b) (1), (2), and (3) of this section, they may be made from a dehydrated mixture which, when reconstituted with distilled water, has the same composition as such media. Minor modification of the individual ingredients specified in paragraphs (b) (1), (2), and (3) of this section are permissible if the resulting media possess growth promoting properties at least equal to the media described.

(c) Working standard. Keep the working standard (obtained from the Food and Drug Administration) in tightly stoppered vials, which in turn are kept in larger stoppered tubes containing anhydrous calcium sulfate, constantly in the refrigerator at 15° C. (59° F.) or below. Weigh out carefully in an atmosphere of 50 percent relative humidity or less between 4 and 5 mg. of the working standard and dilute with sterile 1% phosphate buffer (pH 6.0) to make a stock solution of any convenient concentration. Keep this solution at a temperature of about 10° C., and use for one day only. From this stock solution make appropriate working dilutions.

(d) Preparation of sample. Dissolve aseptically, in sterile distilled water, the sample to be tested to make an appropriate stock solution.

(e) Preparation of plates. Add 21 ml. of agar to each Petri dish (20 x 100 mm.). Distribute the agar evenly in the plates and allow it to harden. Use the plates the same day they are prepared. The test organism is Staphylococcus aureus (F. D. A. 209-P) or (9144) American Type Culture Collection. Maintain the test organism on agar slants and transfer to a fresh agar slant about once a week. Prepare an inoculum for the plates by transferring the culture from the agar slant into broth and incubate at 37° C. From 16 to 24 hours thereafter add 2.0 ml. of this broth culture to each 100 ml. of agar which has been melted and cooled to 48° C. Mix the culture and agar thoroughly and add 4 ml. to each of the plates containing the 21 ml. of the uninoculated agar. Tilt the plates back and forth to spread the inoculated agar evenly over the surface. Porcelain covers glazed on the outside are used. Place four cylinders on the agar surface so that they are at approximately 90° intervals on a 2.8 cm. radius. In so placing the cylinders drop them from a height of ½ inch, using a mechanical guide or device. A suspension of the test organism may be used in place of the broth culture described above in preparing the inoculum for the seeding of plates. Prepare such suspension as follows: Wash the organisms from an agar slant which has been incubated for 24 hours at 37° C. and stored for 24 hours at room temperature with 2.0 ml. of sterile physiological saline onto a large agar surface such as that provided by a Roux bottle containing 300 ml. of agar. Spread the suspension of organisms over the entire agar surface with the aid of sterile glass beads. Incubate 24 hours at 37° C. and store for 24 hours at room temperature. Wash the resulting growth from the agar surface with about 50 ml. of sterile physiological saline. Standardize this suspension by determining the dilution which will permit 20% light transmission through a filter at 6500 Ångstrom units in a photoelectric colorimeter. Add 1.5 to 2.0 ml. of this resulting dilution to each 100 ml. of agar which has been melted and cooled to 48° C. to prepare the inoculum for the plates. The suspension may be used for one week.

(f) Assay. Use four plates for each sample. Fill one cylinder on each plate with a 1.0 unit per ml. dilution, and one with a 0.25 unit per ml. dilution, of the working standard. Add the estimated dilutions of 1.0 unit per ml. and 0.25 unit per ml. of the sample under test to the remaining 2 cylinders on each plate. Carefully place the plates in racks and incubate 16 to 18 hours at 37° C. After incubation measure the diameter of each circle of inhibition to the nearest 0.5 mm. using a colony counter with a mm. scale etched into the supporting glass over the light source. Other measuring devices of equal accuracy may be used.

(g) Estimation of potency and error. (1) Use the accompanying chart (Chart 1) and nomograph (Chart 2) for estimating the potency and its error. To use the chart for estimating potency two values, namely, V and W, are required. For each plate calculate two values.

where s_H and s_L are the diameters of the zones of inhibition in mm. of the 1.0 unit and 0.25 unit dilutions of the standard, respectively, and u_H and u_L refer similarly to the corresponding dilutions of the sample under test. The value V is the sum of the v values for all plates and W is the sum of the w values for all plates. To estimate the potency locate the point on the chart corresponding to the values of V and W, and the potency can be read from the radial lines on the chart.

(2) The error of the assay is estimated by using the nomograph which requires five values, namely, the potency, V, W, Rv, and Rw. Rv (the range of the v's) is the highest value of v minus the lowest value of v obtained from the individual plates. Similarly, Rw is the difference between the highest and lowest w values. After obtaining these five values, connect with a straight edge the points corresponding to v and w on the respective scales on the right side of the nomograph. Mark with a pin or sharp-pointed pencil the intersection of the straightedge and the diagonal line of the nomograph. Move the straightedge so that it connects the value of Rw on its scale and the diagonal line at the point of the pin. The value for Q is thus determined by the scale value where the straightedge crosses the line labeled "Q". T is obtained by adding the squares of Q and Rv. On the left side of the chart connect the values of T and W with the straightedge and read the value of the ratio (error of assay-potency) where the straightedge intersects the scale of values for the ratio. This value multiplied by the potency equals the percentage error of the assay. The error of the assay calculated here estimates only how closely one assayist can check himself on any given set of dilutions of unknown and standard. It does not include any errors of weighing or errors due to variations in materials or subdivisions of a lot of penicillin.

The chart for determining potency should not be used for determinations of potency lower than 50% or higher than 150% of the standard. If the potency lies outside these limits, the assay should be repeated using a higher or lower dilution. The radial lines on the chart beyond these limits permit a rough estimation of potency from as low as 5% to as high as 1,000% when low values of W are found. If the value of V or W falls outside the limits of the chart, divide both V and W by the same proper number to bring them into the range of the chart and read the potency from the radial lines as before. If 11.4 Rw is greater than W, the slope of the assay does not differ significantly from zero and the assay is invalid. (The figure 11.4 was obtained by use of Student's "t" test for determining the significance of a slope.)

In certain laboratories it has been noted that with the 4 to 1 ratio, involving concentrations of 0.25 unit for the low dose, the zone of inhibition given by this dose may either be too small for accurate reading or have edges which are poorly defined. In order to permit the use of a higher concentration of penicillin for the low dose the third of the attached charts (Chart 3) may be used in assays in which the ratio of doses is 2 to 1, i. e., the high dose (sH) is twice the low dose (sL). As in the preceding chart (Chart 1), if the potency lies outside the limits of 50% to 150% the assay should be repeated, using a lower or higher dilution. The potencies beyond these limits are to be used for rough estimation purposes only. These extensions can also be used for four (or more) plate assays if both V and W are divided by the same proper number to bring them into the range of the chart. The error of the assay using the ratio of doses 2 to 1 is estimated by using the nomograph (Chart 2) in the same manner as described for the 4 to 1 ratio of doses. However, the resultant error of the assay derived in this manner must be divided by 2 to give the correct error of the assay for the 2 to 1 ratio of doses.

(h) The potency of a sample may also be determined by the standard curve technique using a single dose of standard and unknown.

Dilute the sample to be tested to 1.0 unit per ml. (estimated) in 1% phosphate buffer pH 6.0. Place six cylinders on the inoculated agar surface so that they are at approximately 60° intervals on a 2.8 cm. radius. Use three plates for each sample. Fill 3 cylinders on each plate with the 1.0 unit/ml. standard and 3 cylinders with the 1.0 unit/ml. (estimated) sample, alternating standard and sample. Incubate the plates for 16 to 18 hours at 37° C. and measure the diameter of each circle of inhibition. At the same time prepare a standard curve using concentrations of the standard of 0.6, 0.7, 0.8, 0.9, 1.0, 1.1, 1.2, 1.3, 1.4, and 1.5 units/ml. in sterile 1% phosphate buffer pH 6.0. Use three plates for the determination of each point on the curve, a total of 27 plates. On each of three plates fill 3 cylinders with the 1.0 unit/ml. standard and the other 3 cylinders with the concentration under test. Thus there will be 81 one unit determinations and 9 determinations for each of the other points on the curve. After the plates have incubated read the diameters of the circles of inhibition. Average the readings of 1.0 unit/ml. concentration and the readings of the point tested for each set of 3 plates and average also all 81 readings of the 1.0 unit/ml. concentration. The average of the 81 readings of the 1.0 unit/ml. concentration is the correction point for the curve. Correct the average value obtained for each point to the figure it would be if the 1.0 unit/ml. reading for that set of three plates were the same as the correction point. Thus, if in correcting the 0.8 unit concentration, the average of the 81 readings of the 1.0 unit concentration is 20.0 mm., and the average of the 1.0 unit concentration of this set of 3 plates is 19.8 mm., the correction is 0.2 mm. If the average reading of the 0.8 unit concentration of these same 3 plates is 19.0 mm. the corrected value is then 19.2 mm. Plot these corrected values including the average of the 1.0 unit/ml. concentration on 2 cycle semilog paper using the concentration in units per ml. as the ordinate (the logarithmic scale) and the diameter of the zone of inhibition as the abscissa. Draw the standard curve through these points. The 10 points selected to determine the curve are arbitrary and should be so chosen that the limits of the curve will fill the needs of the laboratory. However the potency of the sample under test should fall in the interval of from 60% to 150% of the correction point of the standard curve.

To estimate the potency of the sample average the zone readings of the standard and the zone readings of the sample on the three plates used. If the sample gives a larger average zone size than the average of the standard, add the difference between them to the 1.0 unit zone on the standard curve. If the average sample value is lower than the standard value, subtract the difference between them from the 1.0 unit value on the curve. From the curve read the potencies corresponding to these corrected values of zone sizes.

(i) The potency of sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, and potassium penicillin is satisfactory when assayed by the methods described in this section if the immediate containers are represented to contain:

200,000 units or less and contain 85% or more of the number of units so represented;

More than 200,000 units and contain 90% or more of the units so represented.

§ 141.2 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin; sterility—(a) Culture medium. Use U. S. P. fluid thioglycollate medium I or a dehydrated mixture which, when reconstituted with distilled water, has the same composition as such medium and has growth-promoting, buffering, and oxygen tension controlling properties equal to or better than those of such medium.

In the preparation of the medium, from either the individual ingredients or any dehydrated mixture, avoid contamination with calcium.

(b) Conduct of test. Dissolve the sample to be tested in sufficient sterile, freshly prepared solution of 1:300 hydroxylamine hydrochloride, adjusted to pH 6.0 with sodium hydroxide, so that each ml. contains approximately 5,000 to 10,000 units. Shake vigorously. Let stand one hour, transfer 1 ml. aseptically to each of four tubes containing 15 ml. of fluid thioglycollate medium. Inoculate one of these tubes with 1.0 ml. of a 1:1000 dilution of an 18 to 24 hour broth culture of S. aureus 209–P, and incubate all four tubes for four days at 37° C. The inoculated tube should show growth at the end of four days; if so and no other tube shows growth, the sample is sterile.

§ 141.3 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin; pyrogens—(a) Test animal. Use healthy rabbits, weighing 1,500 gm. or more, which have been maintained for at least one week on a uniform, unrestricted diet and have not lost weight during this period. For subsequent tests, animals utilized for previous tests may be used after a rest period of not less than two days. Use a clinical rectal thermometer after it has been tested in a rabbit to determine the time required to reach maximum temperature. (Other recording devices of equal sensitivity are acceptable.) Insert the thermometer or other recording device beyond the internal sphincter and allow it to remain a sufficient time to reach maximum temperature as determined above. Make four rectal temperature readings on each of the animals to be used in the test at 2-hour intervals, 1 to 3 days before such use (this may be omitted for any animal that has been used in such tests during a preceding period of two weeks). House the test animals in individual cages and protect them from disturbances likely to cause excitement. Exercise particular care to avoid exciting the animals on the day of taking the control temperatures and on the test day. Maintain the animals in an environment of uniform temperature (±5° F.) at all times.

(b) Conduct of test. Heat all syringes and needles to be used in a muffle furnace at 250° C. for not less than 30 minutes to render them pyrogen-free and sterile. Perform the test in a room held at the same temperature as that in which the animals are housed. During the test restrain the animals in individual stocks. Withhold all food from one hour before the first temperature reading until after the final reading of the day. Take a control temperature reading not more than 15 minutes after the animal is removed from the cage. Use three animals for each test, but do not use those with control temperatures of 38.8° C. or under and 39.9° C. or over. Dilute the sample with pyrogen-free, sterile, distilled water to a concentration of 2,000 units per ml. and warm to approximately 37° C. Inject 2,000 units (estimated) per kg. of rabbit intravenously through an ear vein within 15 minutes subsequent to the control temperature reading. Read temperatures one hour after injection and each hour thereafter until three readings have been made. The sample is non-pyrogenic if when so tested no animal shows a rise in any of the temperature readings, after injection, of 0.6° C. or more above the control temperature of such animal. If only one animal shows such a rise in temperature, or if the sum of the temperature rises of the three animals exceeds 1.4° C., repeat the test on five additional animals. The sample is nonpyrogenic if not more than one of these five animals shows a rise in temperature of 0.6° C. or more above the control temperature of such animal.

§ 141.4 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin; toxicity. Inject intravenously each of five mice, within the weight range of 18 to 25 grams, with 0.5 ml. of a solution of the sample prepared by diluting with sterile distilled water to approximately 4,000 units per ml. The injection should be made over a period of not more than 5 seconds. If no animal dies within 48 hours, the sample is nontoxic. If one or more animals die within 48 hours, repeat the test with five unused mice weighing 20 grams (±0.5 gm.) each; if all animals survive the repeat test, the sample is nontoxic.

§ 141.5 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin—(a) Moisture. In an atmosphere of about 10% relative humidity, transfer 30 to 50 mgm. of the finely powdered sample to a tared weighing bottle or weighing tube equipped with a capillary-tube stopper, the capillary having an inside diameter of 0.20 to 0.25 mm. Weigh the bottle or tube and place it in a vacuum oven, without removing the stopper and dry at a temperature of 60° C. and a pressure of 5 mm. of mercury or less for three hours. At the end of the drying period, fill the vacuum oven with air dried by bubbling it through sulfuric acid; place weighing bottles or tubes in a desiccator over phosphorous pentoxide, allow to cool to room temperature, and reweigh. Divide the loss in weight by the weight of the sample and multiply by 100 to obtain the percentage of moisture.

(b) pH. Dilute the sample to be tested with carbon dioxide-free distilled water so that the resulting solution contains 5,000 to 10,000 units per ml. Determine the pH of this solution at 25° C. using a pH meter equipped with a glass and a calomel electrode.

(c) Clarity. Add to the sample by means of a thoroughly cleansed hypodermic needle and syringe enough of the diluent to produce a solution containing 5,000 to 10,000 units per ml. The resulting solution must be substantially free of any turbidity or undissolved material which can be detected readily without accessory magnification (except such optical correction as may be required to establish normal vision), when the solution is examined against a black and white background with a bright light from a 100 watt lamp or equivalent lighting after holding at 15° C. (59° F.) or less for 48 hours.

(d) Microscopical test for crystallinity of sodium penicillin and potassium penicillin. Mount in mineral oil and examine by means of a polarizing microscope. Crystalline penicillin shows resolvable particles which reveal the phenomena of birefringence (interference colors) and extinction positions on revolving the microscope stage. Crystalline penicillin also reveals diagnostic refractive indices when examined by the immersion method.

(e) Stability of crystalline penicillin. Store a weighed sample (approximately 30 mg.) of crystalline penicillin in an unstoppered 50 ml. Erlenmeyer flash for 4 days in an electric oven at 100° C. ±1°. At the end of this period it does not show a loss of more than 10% of its original potency when determined as follows: Dilute a weighed sample (approximately 30 mg.) with 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0 to a concentration of approximately 1.2 mg./ml. (2,000 units/ml.). Add 2.0 ml. aliquots to each of two 125 ml. glass stoppered Erlenmeyer or iodine flasks. To one add 2.0 ml. of 1N NaOH and allow to stand at room temperature for 15 minutes. At the end of this time add 2.0 ml. of 1.2N HCl and add 10.0 ml. of 0.01N I_2 (prepared from 0.1N I, U. S. P.). (Equal volumes of 1N NaOH and 1.2N HCl when mixed give pH 1.0). After 15 minutes titrate the excess iodine using 0.01N $Na_2S_2O_3$ (prepared from 0.1N $Na_2S_2O_3$) standardized accurately against potassium iodate. Toward the end of the titration add approximately 5 ml. of CCl_4. Continue the titration by the addition of 0.01 to 0.02 ml. portions of the 0.01N $Na_2S_2O_3$ shaking vigorously after each addition. The end-point is reached when the CCl_4 layer becomes colorless. To the second flask add 10 ml. of the 0.01N I_2 and titrate immediately with 0.01N $Na_2S_2O_3$ for the blank determination. Regard the difference in titers divided by 2.52 as the milligrams of penicillin sodium salt.

(f) Crystalline penicillin G—(1) Reagents. The reagents described in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph are freshly prepared every three days and are of such quality that when used in this procedure with a known penicillin G not less than 97 percent of penicillin G is recovered.

(i) Amyl acetate solution. Saturate the amyl acetate with the N-ethyl piperidine salt of penicillin G by adding 2 mg. of the salt for each 1 ml. of the solvent. Cool this solution to 0° to 8° C. and filter by drawing it through a plug of cotton on the tip of a pipette immediately before use.

(ii) Acetone solution. Saturate reagent grade acetone with the N-ethyl piperidine salt of penicillin G using 3 mg. of salt for each 1 ml. of acetone. Cool this solution to 0° to 8° C. and filter by drawing it through a plug of cotton on the tip of a pipette immediately before use.

(iii) N-ethyl piperidine solution. N-ethyl piperidine should be stored in brown bottles in a refrigerator. Dilute 1.0 ml. of this reagent with 4.0 ml. of amyl acetate. Saturate this solution with the N-ethyl piperidine salt of penicillin G using about 3 mg. of the salt for each 1.0 ml. of solution. Cool this solution to 0° to 8° C. and filter by drawing it through a plug of cotton on the tip of a pipette immediately before use.

(iv) Phosphoric acid solution. Prepare by dissolving 1.0 ml. of reagent grade phosphoric acid (85%) in 4.0 ml. of water. Cool to 0° to 8° C. and shake before using.

(v) Sodium sulfate. Use powdered anhydrous reagent grade sodium sulfate.

(2) Procedure. Add 4 ml. of distilled water for each 200,000 units or 120 mg. of the sample to be tested. Pipette a 2.0 ml. aliquot into a glass test tube of about 10 ml. capacity and cool to 0° to 5° C. Add 2 ml. of the amyl acetate solution and 0.5 ml. of the phosphoric acid solution, stopper and shake vigorously for approximately 15 seconds. Centrifuge to obtain a clear separation of the two layers (approximately 20 seconds). After centrifuging remove as much of the amyl acetate layer as possible (usually about 1.7 to 1.8 ml.) with a 2 ml. hypodermic syringe equipped with a suitable needle. Place about 0.1 gm. of the sodium sulfate in a micro filter funnel (approximately 10 mm. diameter) having a fritted glass disc of medium porosity and add the amyl acetate solution from the hypodermic syringe. Collect the filtrate by suction in a small test tube which has been placed in a suction flask. Surround suction flask with cracked ice. Pipette a 1.0 ml. aliquot of the amyl acetate filtrate into a tared flat bottom glass tube (approximately 15 x 50 mm.) containing 1.0 ml. of the acetone solution and 0.5 ml. of the N-ethyl piperidine solution. The time elapsing between acidification and the addition of the filtrate to the above reagents should not be more than three minutes. Place the glass tube containing this mixture in a large weighing bottle, stopper the bottle and allow to stand for not less than 2 hours in a refrigerator at 0° to 8° C. Remove the liquid from the precipitate by means of a tared micro filter stick and wash with a total of 1 ml. of the acetone solution adding the latter by means of a hypodermic syringe equipped with a fine needle. Place the filter stick inside the glass tube, dry under vacuum at room temperature for not less than one hour, and weigh. (Save all N-ethyl piperdine penicillin G residues for saturating reagents). Remove a 1.0 ml. aliquot of the original aqueous penicillin solution and dilute to 25.0 ml. (approximately 2000 units per ml.) with 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. Using 2.0 ml. aliquots of this dilution, determine the amount of penicillin in the original solution in mg./ml. by the iodometric assay procedure described in paragraph (e) of this section.

(g) Penicillin K content. Determine the content of penicillin K by the following method:

Dilute a weighed sample or the contents of a vial with 0.3 M phosphate (Na_2HPO_4 and KH_2PO_4) buffer pH 6.0 to give a solution containing approximately 1,000 units/ml. In the case of calcium penicillin where a precipitate of calcium phosphate occurs, remove the precipitate by filtration and use the clear filtrate. Place a 15.0 ml. aliquot of this solution in a 125 ml. separatory funnel, add 30.0 ml. of chloroform U. S. P. and shake for one minute. (Carry out all operations at room temperature.) Allow the mixture to stand with occasional swirling to settle the droplets of chloroform until the top layer is clear (usually about 10 minutes). Draw off all but about 2 ml. of the lower chloroform layer thru a small pledget of cotton into a glass stoppered flask. Take a 4.0 ml. aliquot of the original solution, a 4.0 ml. aliquot of the buffer solution remaining in the separatory funnel and a 10.0 ml. aliquot of the chloroform solution and determine the mg./ml. of penicillin in each by the iodometric assay procedure described in paragraph (e) of this section using 4.0 ml. of the 1N NaOH and 4.0 ml. of the 1.2N HCl for each of the above aliquots. Make blank determinations on the same size aliquots. Calculate the percent penicillin in the buffer layer and in the chloroform layer as compared to the original solution. The sum of these percentages should be 100% ±2%. The percent penicillin K = (96.92 + % in chloroform − % in buffer) × 1.67. (The factors in the above formula are based on distribution coefficients of penicillin K and G between chloroform and aqueous phosphate buffer at pH 6.0.)

§ 141.6 Sodium penicillin, calcium penicillin, potassium penicillin; penicillin X. Dissolve the contents of a 100,000 unit ampul in about 20 ml. of ice cold distilled water. Transfer quantitatively to a 100 ml. volumetric flask, rinsing the ampul with small portions of ice cold water and make to 100 ml. Pipette a 50.0 ml. aliquot into a 125 ml. separatory funnel, then add 50.0 ml. of cold chloroform and shake the mixture. Add an amount of approximately 1N H_2SO_4 to bring the pH of the aqueous layer to 2.0. (The amount of 1N H_2SO_4 to be added is calculated by titrating a separate 5.0 ml. aliquot of the 100 ml. dilution to pH 2.0 using a suitable pH meter.) Shake the mixture vigorously for one minute. Allow the layers to separate and filter the chloroform through a small pledget of cotton, moistened with chloroform, into a second 125 ml. separatory funnel. Shake the acid aqueous solution with a second 50.0 ml. of cold chloroform and, when the layers have separated, withdraw the chloroform through the same filter into the second separatory funnel. Immediately neutralize the acid aqueous solution, containing the penicillin X, with 0.1N NaOH to pH 6.5 to 7.0 using the pH meter and make to 100 ml. with water. Make appropriate dilutions in 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0 and assay as directed in § 141.1 (f) or (h). Shake the combined chloroform extracts, containing any penicillin G, etc., with small successive portions of cold $NaHCO_3$ solution (0.1%), until the combined $NaHCO_3$ extracts give a pH of 7.0, and make to 100 ml. with water. Make the proper estimated dilutions in 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. Assay these last dilutions as directed in § 141.1 (f) or (h). The potency of the penicillin X fraction plus potency of the penicillin G, etc., fraction should approximate that of the potency of the original solution. All of the above extractions should be carried out in a cold room.

§ 141.7 Penicillin in oil and wax—(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.1 except paragraph (i) thereof and, in lieu of the directions in paragraph (d), of § 141.1, prepared sample as follows:

Transfer to a separatory funnel containing approximately 50 ml. of peroxide-free ether. Shake the separatory funnel vigorously to bring about complete mixing of the material with the ether. Shake with a 25 ml. portion of 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. Remove the buffer layer and repeat the extraction with three 25-ml. quantities of buffer. Combine the extracts and make the proper estimated dilutions in 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. If the label represents the potency of the penicillin in oil and wax as 200,000 units per ml. or less, it is satisfactory if it is 85% or more of the potency so represented; if represented as more than 200,000 units per ml., it is satisfactory if it is 90% or more of the potency so represented.

Reweigh the tube to obtain weight of ointment used in the test. Shake ointment and ether until homogeneous. Shake with a 25 ml. portion of 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. Remove the buffer layer and repeat the extraction with three 25 ml. quantities of buffer. Combine the extracts and make the proper estimated dilutions in 1% phosphate buffer at pH 6.0. Pour 20 ml. of the agar-penicillinase mixture into Petri dishes and allow to harden. The Petri dishes are warmed to 37° C. just before use. Accurately weigh the tube and contents, place in incubator at 37° C. for one hour, then squeeze from 0.1 to 0.5 gm. of the ointment onto the agar surface. Reweight tube to obtain weight of ointment used in test. Spread the ointment evenly over the surface of the agar with a sterile glass rod, invert, and place in a 37° C. incubator for 48 hours. (b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 (a) utilizing the contents of 4 capsules.

(b) Culture media. Using ingredients that conform to the standards prescribed by the U. S. P. or N. F., make nutrient agar for the seed and base layers:

Peptone	5.0 gm.
Beef extract	3.0 gm.
Agar	15.0 gm.
Distilled wate q. s.	1,000.0 ml.

pH 7.8 to 8.0 after sterilization.

(c) Working standard. Keep the working standard (obtained from the Food and Drug Administration) constantly in the refrigerator at 15° C. (59° F.) or below in tightly stoppered vials, which in turn are kept in larger stoppered tubes containing anhydrous calcium sulphate. Weigh out carefully in an atmosphere of 50 percent relative humidity or less appropriate amounts of the working standard and dilute in 0.05 M potassium phosphate buffer (pH 6.0). Keep this stock solution at a temperature of about 15° C.; do not use it later than 30 days after it is made.

(d) Standard curve. Prepare daily in 0.10 M potassium phosphate buffer (pH 7.8 to 8.0) a 20 mcg./ml. solution from the stock solution described in § 141.101 (c). Transfer to ten 100 ml. volumetric flasks, containing the same buffer, the required quantities of this 20 mcg./ml. solution to give 0.6, 0.7, 0.8, 0.9, 1.0, 1.1, 1.2, 1.3, 1.4 and 1.5 mcg./ml. solutions. A total of 27 plates is used in the preparation of the standard curve, three plates for each solution except the 1.0 mcg./ml. solution. The latter concentration is used as the reference point and is included on each plate. On each of three plates fill 3 cylinders with the 1.0 mcg./ml. standard and the other 3 cylinders with the concentration under test. Thus there will be 81 one microgram determinations and 9 determinations for each of the other points on the curve. After the plates have incubated read the diameters of the circles of inhibition. Average the readings of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration and the readings of the point tested for each set of 3 plates and average also all 81 readings of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration. The average of the 81 readings of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration is the correction point for the curve. Correct the average value obtained for each point to the figure it would be if the 1.0 mcg./ml. reading for that set of three plates were the same as the correction point. Thus, if in correcting the 0.8

unit concentration, the average of the 81 readings of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration is 16.5 mm. and the average of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration of this set of 3 plates is 16.3 mm. the correction is 0.2 mm. If the average reading of the 0.8 mcg./ml. concentration of these same 3 plates is 15.9 mm. the corrected value is then 16.1 mm. Plot these corrected values including the average of the 1.0 mcg./ml. concentration on 2 cycle semilog paper using the concentration in mcg./ml. as the ordinate (the logarithmic scale) and the diameter of the zone of inhibition as the abscissa. Draw the standard curve through these points. The ten points selected to determine the curve are arbitrary and should be so chosen that the limits of the curve will fill the needs of the laboratory. However, the potency of the sample under test should fall in the interval of from 60% to 150% of the correction point of the standard curve.

(e) Preparation of sample. Dissolve volumetrically in sterile, distilled water, the sample to be tested to make a convenient stock solution. Further dilute this solution volumetrically to contain 100 mcg. of streptomycin base (estimated) per ml. Transfer 1.0 ml. of this 100 mcg. (estimated) per ml. solution to a 100 ml. flask and make up to volume with 0.10 M potassium phosphate buffer (pH 7.8 to 8.0). Use this last dilution in the assay for potency.

(f) Preparation of spore suspension. The test organism is Bacillus subtilis (American Type Culture Collection 6633). Maintain the test organism on nutrient agar prepared as described in § 141.1 (b) (1). Prepare a spore suspension by growing the organism in Roux bottles on agar of this same composition for one week at 37° C. Suspend the spores in sterile distilled water and heat for 30 minutes at 65° C. Wash the spore suspension three times with sterile distilled water, heat again for 30 minutes at 65° C. and resuspend in sterile distilled water. Maintain the spore suspension at approximately 15° C. Determine by appropriate tests the quantity of spore suspension to be added to each 100 ml. of agar for the secondary layer that will give sharp clear zones of inhibition.

(g) Preparation of plates. Add 21 ml. of agar described in paragraph (b) of this section to each Petri dish (20×100 mm.). Melt the agar to be used for the secondary layer, cool to 55 to 60° C. and add the spore suspension prepared in § 141.101 (f). Mix thoroughly and add 4 ml. to each of the plates containing the 21 ml. of the uninoculated agar. Tilt the plates back and forth to spread the inoculated agar evenly over the surface. Refrigerate until ready to add streptomycin (at least 1 hour).

(h) Plate assay. Place six cylinders on the inoculated agar surface so that they are at approximately 60° intervals on 2.8 cm. radius. Use three plates for each sample. Fill three cylinders on each plate with the 1.0 mcg./ml. standard and three cylinders with the 1.0 mcg./ml. (estimated) sample, alternating standard and sample. Incubate the plates for 16 to 18 hours at 37° C. and measure the diameter of each circle of inhibition.

(i) Estimation of potency. Average the zone readings of the standard and average the zone readings of the sample on the three plates used. If the sample gives a larger average zone size than the average of the standard, add the difference between them to the 1.0 mcg. zone size of the standard curve. If the average sample value is lower than the standard value, subtract the difference between them from the 1.0 mcg. value on the curve. From the curve read the potencies corresponding to these corrected values of zone sizes.

(j) Turbidimetric assay. (1) Employ the agar described in paragraph (b) of this section (adjusted to a final pH 7.0) for maintaining the test organism, which is Klebsiella pneumoniae (P. C. I. 602) non-capsulated. Transfer stock cultures every two weeks for test purposes. Transfer the organism to fresh agar slants and incubate at 37° C. for 6 hours. Suspend the growth from two or three of these slants in sterile distilled water and add approximately 5 ml. of culture suspension to each of two Roux bottles containing the agar described in paragraph (b) of this section. Incubate the bottles for six hours at 37° C., harvest the growth and suspend in sufficient sterile distilled water to give a light transmission reading of 80% using a filter at 6500 Ångstrom units in a photoelectric colorimeter. Keep the resulting suspension of organisms in the refrigerator and use for a period not to exceed two weeks. Prepare a daily inoculum by adding 6.0 ml. of this suspension to each 100 ml. of the nutrient broth prepared as directed in paragraph (b) (3) of this section cooled to a temperature of approximately 15° C.

(2) Working standard solutions. Add the following amounts of a 1000 microgram per ml. solution prepared from the stock solution described in paragraph (c) of this section to 100 ml. volumetric flasks containing sterile distilled water and bring to volume to give the working stock solutions tabulated below. These 9 flasks are well stoppered and maintained at approximately 15° C. for one month. Prepare final dilutions daily by adding 2.1 ml. of each of these 9 working stock solutions to 4.8 ml. of sterile distilled water. Add 1.0 ml. of each final dilution to each of six 14 x 124 mm. tubes (total 54 tubes). Add 9.0 ml. of inoculated broth described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph to each tube and place immediately in a 37° C. water bath for 4 hours. The final concentration of streptomycin per ml. of broth is also included in the table below.

Amount of standard solution (1,000 mcg./ml.)	Working conc./ml. (also percent conc.)	Final conc. (mcg./ml.) after addition of distilled water and broth
7.0	70	2.1
8.0	80	2.4
9.0	90	2.7
10.0	100	3.0
11.0	110	3.3
12.0	120	3.6
14.0	140	4.2

(3) Preparation of sample. Dilute the sample under test with sterile distilled water to contain 100 mcg./ml. (estimated). To 2.1 ml. of the sample add 4.8 ml. sterile distilled water. Add 1.0 ml. of this dilution to each of six 14 x 124 mm. tubes. Add 9.0 ml. of the inoculated broth described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph to each tube and place immediately in a 37° C. water bath for 4 hours. A control tube containing 1.0 ml. of distilled water and 9.0 ml. of the inoculated broth is similarly incubated. After incubation, add 4 drops of formalin to each tube, and read the light transmission in a photoelectric colorimeter, using a broad band filter having a wave length of 5,300 Ångstrom units.

(4) Estimation of potency. Average the light transmission readings for each concentration of the standard. Plot these values on cross section paper, employing average light transmission readings as the ordinate, and streptomycin concentration per ml. of broth as the abscissa. Prepare the standard curve by connecting successive points with a straight edge. Since the final concentration of streptomycin per ml. of broth is equivalent to the concentration per ml. of the working stock solution (see table in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) the latter concentrations for each concentration level of the standard may be expressed as percent and substituted on the abscissa of the standard curve. If this is done the percent potency of the sample under test may be read directly from the standard curve.

(k) The potency of streptomycin salts is satisfactory, when assayed by the methods described in this section, if the immediate containers are represented to contain the equivalent of 200 milligrams or less of streptomycin base and contain 85% or more of the number of milligrams so represented; more than the equivalent of 200 milligrams of streptomycin base and contain 90% or more of the number of milligrams so represented.

(b) Conduct of test. Add aseptically 20 ml. of sterile distilled water to the sample under test. (This will give a concentration of approximately 50 mg. of streptomycin per ml. with the 1 gm. vial.) Transfer the equivalent of 25 mg. of this solution to 5 ml. of a sterile solution of 1:300 hydroxylamine hydrochloride adjusted to pH 6.0 with sodium hydroxide. The hydroxylamine hydrochloride is sterilized at 15 lbs. pressure (121° C.) for 20 minutes and prepared once a week. Mix thoroughly and let stand for one hour. Transfer 1.0 ml. of the inactivated streptomycin to each of four tubes containing 15 ml. of fluid thioglycollate medium. Inoculate one of these tubes with 1.0 ml. of a 1:1000 dilution of a 3 to 4 hour broth (§ 141.101 (j) (1)) culture of Klebsiella pneumoniae (P. C. I. 602) and incubate all four tubes for four days at 37° C. The inoculated tube should show growth at the end of four days; if so and no other tube shows growth, the sample is sterile.

§ 141.103 Streptomycin sulphate, streptomycin hydrochloride, streptomycin phosphate, streptomycin trihydrochloride calcium chloride; toxicity. Proceed as directed in § 141.4 using as a test dose 0.5 ml. of a solution containing 2 mg./ml.

§ 141.104 Streptomycin sulphate, streptomycin hydrochloride, streptomycin phosphate, streptomycin trihydrochloride calcium chloride; pyrogens. Proceed as directed in § 141.3 using as a test dose 1.0 ml. per kg. of a solution containing 10 mg./ml.

§ 141.105 Streptomycin sulphate, streptomycin hydrochloride, streptomycin phosphate, streptomycin trihydrochloride calcium chloride; histamine. Use a healthy adult cat as the test animal. Determine weight and place under general anesthesia by employing sufficient (150 mg./kg.) sodium phenobarbital administered intraperitoneally. Surgically expose the right carotid separating it completely from all surrounding structures, including the vagus nerve, by blunt dissection and cannulate. Surgically expose the femoral vein. Start the recording kymograph and inspect the tracings for amplitude of excursion and relative stability of pressure. Determine the sensitivity of the animal by injecting into the femoral vein standard solutions of histamine made to contain the equivalent of 1.0 mcg. of histamine base per ml. Make injections at not less than 5-minute intervals using doses of 0.05, 0.1, and 0.15 mcg. of histamine base per kg. Repeat these injections, disregarding the first series of readings, until the drop given by equivalent doses of histamine is relatively uniform. The fall in blood pressure given by 0.1 mcb./kg. of histamine base (not less than 20 mm. of mercury) is subsequently employed as the standard in testing samples. The histamine standard is supplied on request. Inject 3 mg./kg. of the sample of streptomycin which has been diluted in saline to contain 3.0 mg. (estimated) of streptomycin per ml. maintaining the five-minute injection schedule. If a significant drop is encountered the dose is repeated after the animal has been retested with the standard histamine. If the animal remains reasonably stable, six to eight samples may be examined. The product is satisfactory if the fall in blood pressure obtained with 3 mg. of streptomycin per kg. of body weight is no greater than the fall obtained with 0.1 mcg. of histamine base per kg. of body weight. (Dogs may be substituted for cats in this test provided the ratio of the doses of streptomycin and histamine employed is the same.)

(b) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 (b) using a solution with a concentration of 0.2 gm./ml.

(c) Clarity. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 (c) using an aqueous solution with a concentration of 0.2 gm./ml.

This order, which provides for tests and methods of assay of a new penicillin product, capsules buffered penicillin with pectin hydrolysate, and which includes a revision of all of the existing regulations for tests and methods of assay of penicillin-containing drugs heretofore promulgated and published in Part 141 and which also provides for tests and methods of assay of streptomycin-containing drugs, shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER since both the public and the affected industries will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order and would be contrary to the public interest, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industries and since it would be against public interest to delay the marketing of these drugs products.

No sample, referred to in paragraph (d) (5) of this section and no result referred to in paragraph (e) (5) of this section is required if the batch is to be globin insulin (with zinc) of 80-unit strength, and the Commissioner has previously approved a trial mixture referred to in paragraph (d) (5) of this section of 40-unit strength, prepared from the same materials and in the same manner as such batch of 80-unit strength is to be made.

(2) Each sample submitted pursuant to this section shall be so packaged as to maintain its representative character, and in the case of any solution or suspension, shall be collected and packaged under aseptic conditions. Each package shall be clearly identified as to its contents and shall bear the name and post-office address of the person submitting the request.

(3) The packages constituting the samples submitted pursuant to paragraph (d) (7) of this section shall be collected at such intervals that the quantities packaged between collections are approximately equal; in no case shall any such quantity be more than 10,000 packages. The collections shall cover the entire period of packaging.

(4) Each sample submitted pursuant to paragraphs (d) (2), (3), and (5) of this section shall be accompanied by a statement showing the identity, quality, and quantity of each substance used as an ingredient or as a component of an ingredient in the material from which the sample was taken.

(6) The value for each of the components ash, nitrogen, and zinc submitted pursuant to paragraphs (e) (1) and (2) of this section may be calculated from the result of a test therefor submitted pursuant to either paragraph (e) (1) or (2) of this section. The result on potency required under paragraph (e) (1) of this section may be calculated from the result of an assay therefor submitted pursuant to paragraph (e) (2) of this section. The value of each of the components nitrogen and zinc, to the extent required under paragraph (e) (7) of this section, may be calculated from the result of a test therefor submitted pursuant to either paragraph (e) (3) or (5) of this section or from the result of a test of the bulk dilution from which the batch was prepared. The value for each of the components ash, nitrogen, and zinc required under paragraph (e) (7) of this section may, if the batch is insulin U. S. Each calculated value shall be indicated as such.

(7) The information required under paragraphs (c) (1), (2), and (3) of this section, and the samples and results of tests and assays required under paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) and (e) (1) and (2) of this section should be submitted before submission of the samples and results required in paragraphs (d) (3) to (6) of this section, inclusive, and (e) (3) to (6) of this section, inclusive; and the samples and results required under paragraph (d) (3) to (6), inclusive, and (e) (3) to (6), inclusive, should be submitted before submission of the information, samples, and results required under paragraphs (c) (4) and (5), (d) (7), and (e) (7) of this section. All information, including results of tests and assays (except results of tests for sterility), required under this section should be submitted at the same time as the samples to which they relate are submitted.

(h) The person who requests certifications shall submit such information additional to that submitted pursuant to paragraphs (b), (c), (e), and (g) of this section, such additional samples of any substance referred to in paragraph (d) of this section, and such samples of any other substance used or to be used as an ingredient or as a component of an ingredient in the batch, as the Commissioner may require for the purpose of investigations to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements set forth by § 144.2 for the issuance of a certificate.

(i) After a sample required by paragraph (d) of this section is taken from any master lot or mixture of parts of two or more master lots, such master lot or master lots and all parts thereof, and all dilutions and batches and all parts thereof in which any such master lot is used as an ingredient or as a component of an ingredient, shall be stored at the establishment where manufactured until used up or shipped or otherwise delivered, at a temperature above freezing but not above 15° C. (59° F.), and under such other conditions as prevent, so far as practicable, any change in composition; except that master lots and parts thereof which are solids may be stored at ordinary room temperatures.

(j) As promptly as practicable after the samples submitted pursuant to paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) of this section, and any other material or information relative thereto that may be required under this section, are received by the Commissioner, he shall notify the person who submitted such samples of his approval or refusal to approve the use of the master lot or mixture for the making of bulk dilutions. In case of a refusal to approve, the Commissioner shall state his reasons therefor.

(k) In like manner, the Commissioner shall notify the person who submits samples pursuant to paragraph (d) (3) to (6) of this section, inclusive, of his approval or refusal to approve the use of the materials represented by such samples in completing the manufacture of the batch. In case of a refusal to approve, the Commissioner shall state his reasons therefor.

(l) If, under the provisions of paragraphs (j) or (k) of this section, the Commissioner has refused to approve any material for use in a subsequent operation, he shall examine no other sample required hereunder which includes such material as an ingredient or component of an ingredient, unless and until the person requesting certification makes an adequate showing that the cause for such refusal no longer exists.

§ 144.3 Certifications. (a) If it appears to the Commissioner, after such investigation as he considers necessary, that:

(1) The information, including results of tests and assays, and the samples, required by or pursuant to § 144.2 have been submitted and such information contains no untrue statement of a material fact;

(2) The batch complies with these regulations and conforms to the standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity for insulin U. S. P., protamine zinc insulin, or globin insulin (with zinc); the Commissioner shall certify that such batch is safe and efficacious for use, subject to such conditions on the effectiveness of such certifications as are set forth in § 144.4, and shall issue to the person who requested it a certificate to that effect.

(b) If the Commissioner determines, after such investigation as he considers to be necessary, that the information submitted pursuant to § 144.2, or the batch covered by such request, does not comply with the requirements set forth in paragraph (a) of this section for the issuance of a certificate, the Commissioner shall refuse to certify such batch and shall give notice thereof to the person who requested certification, stating his reasons for refusal.

(c) For the purposes of his investigations under the authority of this section, the Commissioner may accept, when he is satisfied as to the completeness and accuracy thereof the results of any tests or assays made by the control laboratory of the Insulin Committee of the University of Toronto, pursuant to a licensing agreement entered into prior to the date of enactment of Public Law 366, 77th Cong., 1st Sess. (55 Stat. 851, 21 U. S. C. Sup. V, 356).

§ 144.4 Conditions on the effectiveness of certificates. (a) A certificate shall not become effective:

(1) If it is obtained through fraud, or through misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact;

(2) With respect to any package unless its immediate container complies with the requirements of § 144.5 and such package has been so sealed that its contents cannot be used without destroying such package or seal; or

(3) With respect to any package unless its label and labeling bear all words, statements, and other information, and are distinguished by the color or colors, required by §§ 144.6 and 144.7.

(b) A certificate shall cease to be effective:

(1) With respect to any package of insulin U. S. P., 2 years after such package is removed from the storage required by § 144.2 (i);

(2) With respect to any package of protamine zinc insulin, 18 months after the immediate container therein was filled, but in no case shall a certificate remain effective with respect to any package more than 12 months after it is removed from the storage required by § 144.2 (i);

(3) With respect to any package of globin insulin (with zinc), 18 months after the immediate container therein was filled, but in no case shall a certificate remain effective with respect to any package more than 12 months after it is removed from the storage required by § 144.2 (i);

(4) With respect to any package, when such package or the seal thereof or the immediate container therein is broken, or when its label or labeling ceases to conform to any requirement of § 144.6 or 144.7; or

(5) With respect to any package when the drug therein so changes that it fails to meet the standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity upon the basis of which the batch was certified; except that those minor changes in potency (not exceeding 10 percent from the potency stated on the label, in the case of insulin U. S. P.) which occur before the expiration date, and which are normal and unavoidable in good storage and distribution practice, shall be disregarded.

§ 144.5 Packaging. Each batch shall be packaged in immediate containers of colorless transparent glass. Such containers shall be closed with a substance through which successive doses may be withdrawn by hypodermic needle without removing the closure or destroying its effectiveness. The containers and closures shall be sterile at the time the containers are filled and closed. The composition of the containers and closures shall be such as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor prescribed in applicable standards of strength, quality, and purity.

§ 144.6 Labeling. Each package from a batch that has been certified in accordance with the regulations in this part shall bear, on its label or labeling as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(2) A caution that it is not to be substituted for insulin U. S. P. or protamine zinc insulin, except on the advice and direction of the physician; and

(3) A caution against use if any turbidity or precipitate has developed in the solution.

§ 144.7 Distinguishing colors on packages. (a) The outside containers or wrappers of the packages, and the labels on the immediate containers, of each strength of insulin U. S. P. shall be distinguished by the following color:

Red, if it contains 40 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter;

Green and brown, if it contains 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter.

§ 144.8 Records of distribution. (a) The person to whom a certificate is issued shall keep complete records showing each shipment and other delivery (including exports) of each batch or part thereof, by the person requesting certification, and showing each such shipment and delivery into, or from any place in, any state or territory, made by any person subject to his control, including records showing the date and quantity of each such shipment and delivery and the name and post office address of the person to whom such shipment or delivery was made.

(b) Upon the request of any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration or of any other officer or employee of the United States, acting on behalf of the Administrator, the person to whom a certificate is issued, at all reasonable hours within three years after disposal of all the batch covered by such certificate, shall make such records available to any such officer or employee, and shall accord to such officer or employee full opportunity to make inventory of stocks of such batch on hand and otherwise to check the correctness of such records.

§ 144.9 Authority to refuse certification service. When the Administrator finds, after giving notice and opportunity for hearing, that a person has:

(a) Obtained or attempted to obtain a certificate through fraud, or through misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact;

(b) Falsified the records required to be kept by § 144.8; or

(c) Failed to keep such records or to make them available, or to accord full opportunity to make an inventory of stocks on hand or otherwise to check the correctness of such records, as required by such section, the Administrator may immediately suspend service to such person under the regulations in this part and may continue such suspension unless and until such person shows adequate cause why such suspension should be terminated.

§ 144.10 Fees. (a) Fees for the services rendered under the regulations in this part shall be such as are necessary to provide, equip, and maintain an adequate certification service.

(b) The fees for the services rendered with respect to the samples submitted pursuant to § 144.2 (d) shall be:

(1) For each master lot or mixture of two or more master lots or parts thereof as follows:

(i) $50 if the master lot or mixture has not been previously approved by the Commissioner.

(ii) $25 if the master lot or mixture has been previously approved by the Commissioner in accordance with § 144.2 (j).

(2) For each trial dilution as follows:

(i) $50 if the results of an assay for potency of a trial dilution made by the laboratory referred to in § 144.3 (c) are submitted or are to be submitted.

(ii) The cost of the services rendered if the results referred to in subparagraph (2) (i) of this paragraph are not submitted and are not to be submitted.

(3) For each trial mixture of protamine zinc insulin as follows:

(i) $50 if the results of tests for biological reactions made by the laboratory referred to in § 144.3 (c) are submitted or are to be submitted.

(ii) The cost of the services rendered if the results referred to in subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph are not submitted and are not to be submitted.

(4) $50 for each lot of protamine.

(5) The cost of the services rendered for each trial mixture of globin insulin (with zinc).

When the fee is the cost of the services rendered, each sample referred to in subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an advance deposit of $1,200, each sample referred to in subparagraphs (3) (ii) and (5) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an advance deposit of $500, and thereafter such additional advance deposits shall be made as the Commissioner estimates may be necessary to prevent arrears in the payment of such fee.

(c) A person requiring continuing certification services may maintain an advance deposit of the estimated costs of such services for a period of two months or more. Such deposits shall be debited with fees for services rendered, but shall not be debited for any fee the amount of which is not definitely specified in these regulations unless the depositor has previously requested the performance of the services to be covered by such fee. A monthly statement for each such advance deposit shall be rendered.

(d) The unearned portion of any advance deposit made pursuant to paragraph (b) or (c) of this section shall be refunded to the depositor upon his application.

(e) All advance deposits required by the regulations in this part shall be paid by money order, bank draft, or certified check drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, collectible at par, at Washington, D. C.

(f) All earned fees shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of Miscellaneous Receipts, Federal Security Agency.

§ 144.11 Standards of quality and purity for protamine. When protamine is dried to constant weight at 100° C., its total nitrogen content is not less than 22.5 percent and not more than 25.5 percent, and its sulfate content, calculated as SO_4, is not less than 16 percent and not more than 19 percent.

§ 144.12 Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity for globin insulin (with zinc). Globin insulin (with zinc) is a preparation, in a hydrochloric acid medium, of insulin modified by the addition of globin and zinc chloride. The quantity of insulin used is such that each cubic centimeter of the finished product contains either 40 or 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin. The quantity of globin used (calculated as 6.0 times its nitrogen content) is not less than 3.6 milligrams and not more than 4.0 milligrams for each 100 U. S. P. Units of insulin used. The preparation also contains, for each 100 U. S. P. Units of insulin used, not less than 0.25 milligram and not more than 0.35 milligram zinc and not more than 1.50 milligrams total nitrogen. The pH of the finished preparation is not less than 3.4 and not more than 3.8. If necessary, either hydrochloric acid or sodium hydroxide may be added to attain the required pH. The finished preparation also contains not less than 1.30 and not more than 1.70 percent (w/v) glycerin, and not less than 0.15 and not more than 0.20 percent (w/v) cresol U. S. P., or not less than 0.20 and not more than 0.26 percent (w/v) phenol U. S. P. The preparation is sterile. The globin used is obtained from globin hydrochloride prepared from beef blood. The ash content of the globin hydrochloride is not more than 0.3 percent; its nitrogen content, calculated to a moisture, ash, and hydrochloric acid free basis, is not less than 16.0 percent and not more than 17.5 percent.

(a) Tests and methods of assay for insulin U. S. P. and for protamine zinc insulin. The tests and methods of assay for insulin U. S. P. and for protamine zinc insulin shall be those set forth therefor in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto.

(b) Biological reaction for globin insulin (with zinc) containing 40 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter. The rate, amount, and duration of effect in lowering the blood sugar of rabbits by globin insulin (with zinc) is determined by comparing the average blood sugar concentrations at various intervals during not less than a 9-hour observation period following the administration of globin insulin (with zinc) subcutaneously into rabbits, with the average blood sugar concentrations similarly obtained by administration of globin insulin (with zinc) reference material prepared as hereinafter set forth.

(1) Globin insulin (with zinc) reference material. Prepare the globin insulin (with zinc) reference material to contain 40 U. S. P. units of insulin per cubic centimeter from the following component solutions (or solutions of the same proportionate composition per cubic centimeter) by adding with gentle shaking, to a suitable volume of Solution 2, accurately measured at room temperature, an equal volume of Solution 3. Test the reaction and if it is not within the limits of pH 3.4 to pH 3.8 discard and prepare a new mixture using a freshly prepared sample of Solution 3 in which the hydrogen ion concentration has been suitably adjusted. Store in a refrigerator and do not use after 6 months have elapsed from the date of preparation.

The solutions referred to above are:

Solution 1. Dissolve 0.299 gram zinc oxide in not less than 115 cubic centimeters and not more than 118 cubic centimeters of tenth-normal hydrochloric acid. Add 30 grams glycerin, 3.5 grams cresol (or 4.6 grams phenol) and sufficient distilled water to make the final volume 1,000 cubic centimeters.

Solution 2. Weigh accurately a suitable quantity of U. S. P. Zinc-Insulin Crystals Reference Standard and dissolve in such quantity of Solution 1 as to obtain a concentration of 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter. Store in a refrigerator; do not use after 3 months from the date of preparation.

Solution 3. Dissolve not less than 100 milligrams of the reference globin hydrochloride in distilled water in the proportion of 10 milligrams per cubic centimeter. To this solution add, dropwise, with gentle stirring, one-tenth of its volume of tenth-normal sodium hydroxide. Dilute with distilled water to make the final concentration equivalent to 3.36 milligrams of reference globin hydrochloride per cubic centimeter. This solution should be freshly prepared before use.

(2) Test animal. The test animal shall be the same as that described in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, for the assay of insulin U. S. P.

(3) Volume of the globin insulin (with zinc) reference material to be injected. The volume of the preparation to be injected shall be such that at a period of from 6 to 8 hours after the administration of the test material, the blood sugar is not greater than approximately 90 percent of the initial value but the volume is not so great as to cause convulsions in more than 25 percent of the animals. Do not dilute the preparations to be injected to attain the above requirements. Make injections with a micrometer syringe.

(4) Conduct of the test and blood sugar determination. Proceed as directed in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, for biological reaction for protamine zinc insulin, except that the samples of blood for determination of blood sugar concentrations are obtained over a period of not less than 9 hours, instead of 11 hours, after the injection.

(5) Interpretation of data. Subtract the average blood sugar concentration at each bleeding time for those rabbits injected with the preparation being tested from the average blood sugar concentration at the comparable bleeding time for those rabbits injected with the globin insulin (with zinc) reference material. The average blood-sugar concentrations at each bleeding time from the beginning of the test up to and including 5 hours after the injection do not differ by more than 6 milligrams per 100 cubic centimeters and at each subsequent bleeding time do not differ by more than 8 milligrams per 100 cubic centimeters. Obtain the average of the differences for all bleeding times after the injection, taking into account the sign of each difference: the value obtained does not exceed the limits of plus or minus 5.

(c) Biological reaction of globin insulin (with zinc) containing 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter. Globin insulin (with zinc) is tested according to the method prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section for the assay of globin insulin (with zinc) containing 40 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter except that the globin insulin (with zinc) reference material is so prepared as to contain 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin per cubic centimeter with zinc and globin in the same relative proportions per unit of insulin as specified for the globin insulin (with zinc) reference material in paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Identification of globin insulin (with zinc). Adjust the acidity of globin insulin (with zinc) so that the pH is not less than 4.5 and not more than 5.5. A precipitate forms. Divide the sample containing the precipitate into two portions. Adjust the acidity of the first sample to a pH not less than 2.5 and not more than 3.5 and adjust the second sample to a reaction more alkaline than pH 11.0. In each case the precipitate dissolves giving a clear solution.

Inject subcutaneously into 6 rabbits, from which food has been withheld for the previous 18 to 24 hours and which weigh 1.8 to 2.2 kilograms each, a quantity of globin insulin (with zinc) which will cause convulsions in at least 3 animals. Immediately after convulsions occur in an animal, inject intravenously into that animal 5 cubic centimeters of a 50 percent aqueous solution of dextrose. The convulsion is relieved, and a majority of the animals which have shown convulsions remain alive for at least 3 days.

(e) Sterility of globin insulin (with zinc). Use the method described in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(f) Chloride in globin hydrochloride—(1) Conduct of the test. Weigh accurately approximately 0.5 gram of globin hydrochloride into a small beaker and dissolve in 10–15 cubic centimeters of distilled water. Add 10 cubic centimeters of tenth-normal silver nitrate, 5 cubic centimeters of nitric acid, and 5 cubic centimeters of a saturated solution of potassium permanganate. Stir and place on a steam bath for approximately one hour. If any brown color remains, stir again, rinse the sides of the beaker with distilled water and place on the steam bath until the brown color disappears. Transfer quantitatively to a 50-cubic centimeter volumetric flask and fill the flask to the mark with distilled water. Mix and filter through a dry filter paper into a dry vessel. Transfer exactly 40 cubic centimeters of the filtrate to a flask, add 2 cubic centimeters of ferric ammonium sulfate Test Solution and titrate with tenth-normal ammonium thiocyanate. To obtain the percent chloride as HCl, subtract 1.25 times the number of cubic centimeters of ammonium thiocyanate used from 10; multiply this difference by 0.365 and divide by the weight of the sample in grams.

(2) Reagents. The reagents used are those described in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto.

(g) Sulfate in protamine—(1) Conduct of test. Weigh accurately about 10 milligrams of protamine into a small casserole or beaker, add 0.2 cubic centimeter of normal sodium hydroxide and evaporate carefully to dryness. Heat over a flame until a grayish-white ash results. Dissolve the ash in 1 cubic centimeter of tenth-normal hydrochloric acid, transfer quantitatively to a 50-cubic centimeter calibrated centrifuge tube, neutralize to litmus and make the volume to 10 cubic centimeters with distilled water.

To the neutral solution add 2 cubic centimeters of benzidine test solution, referred to in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, and 4 cubic centimeters of 95 percent (w/v) solution of acetone in distilled water. Allow to stand for 10 minutes and centrifuge for not less than 15 minutes at approximately 3,000 revolutions per minute. Carefully remove the supernatant fluid by means of a pipette having a very small opening at the tip. Wash the precipitate twice, using 10 cubic centimeters of 95 percent acetone for each washing. Carefully remove the supernatant acetone and place the tube in a boiling water bath until the odor of acetone disappears. Suspend the precipitate with 10 cubic centimeters of distilled water, introduce 1 drop of phenolphthalein test solution U. S. P. and titrate while hot with fiftieth-normal sodium hydroxide to the first faint permanent pink, observing carefully whether all particles of the benzidine sulfate precipitate have dissolved and, if not reheating to bring the last traces into solution. Use a burette graduated in divisions of not more than 0.05 cubic centimeter so that readings can be estimated to 0.01 cubic centimeter.

Each cubic centimeter of fiftieth-normal sodium hydroxide is equivalent to 0.960 milligram of sulfate (SO_4). Calculate the results to a moisture-free basis.

(2) Reagent. Benzidine test solution. Dissolve 4 grams of benzidine in 45 cubic centimeters of normal hydrochloric acid and dilute to 250 cubic centimeters with distilled water. Before use, remove by filtration through ash-free filter paper any brown residue present.

(h) Total nitrogen in globin insulin (with zinc) and globin hydrochloride. Determine total nitrogen by the method described in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(i) Zinc in insulin-containing solutions, in protamine zinc insulin, and in globin insulin (with zinc). Use the method described in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(j) Zinc in insulin-containing solids. Dissolve 10 to 20 milligrams, accurately weighed, of insulin-containing solids in 5 to 10 cubic centimeters of distilled water containing 1 drop of five-normal hydrochloric acid, and proceed as directed in the official United States Pharmacopoeia, including supplements thereto, under the test for zinc in insulin U. S. P.

(k) The Commissioner shall, for the purposes of the tests and assays prescribed under this section, provide a suitable reference globin hydrochloride, and shall, at cost, furnish any person making written request therefor a sample thereof.

The foregoing order shall become effective on date of publication, since the public and the affected industry will benefit thereby, and I so find.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find. The order is essentially a compilation of existing regulations heretofore promulgated and published in this part except that standards and tests and methods of assay for protamine zinc insulin, which appear in the latest official United States Pharmacopoeia and thus are unnecessary in these regulations, have been deleted. Some revision has been made in the reaction test for globin insulin (with zinc). These changes, as well as the original regulations and previous amendments, all of which appear in this compilation, were drawn in collaboration with the affected industry for whose convenience the compilation has been prepared.

Dated: March 31, 1947.

Administrator.

(2) A certificate has been obtained through fraud, or through misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 146.2 Requests for working standards and certification; information and samples required. (a) A request for certification of a batch shall be addressed to the Commissioner and shall be in a form specified by him. A request from a foreign manufacturer shall be signed by such manufacturer and by an agent of such manufacturer who resides in the United States.

(b) The initial request for certification of a batch of any drug submitted by any person shall be preceded or accompanied by a full statement of the facilities and controls used to maintain the identity, strength, quality, and purity of each batch, including a description of (1) the methods and processes used in the manufacture of the drug; (2) the tests and assays of the drug made during the manufacture of the batch and after it is packaged; and (3) the laboratory facilities used in such controls.

Such initial request shall also be preceded or accompanied by the key of the batch marks used by such person and by specimens of all labeling (including specimens of all brochures and other printed matter except readily available medical publications, referred to in such labeling) to be used for such drug. When any change is made in any such facility or control, or in any such key or labeling, such person shall promptly submit to the Commissioner a full statement of such change or, in the case of changed labeling, specimens showing all such changes.

(c) Each sample submitted pursuant to the regulations in this part shall be addressed to the Commissioner. Its package shall be clearly identified as to its contents and shall bear the name and post-office address of the person submitting it.

(d) In addition to the information and samples specifically required to be submitted to the Commissioner by the regulations in this part, the person who requests certification of a batch shall submit such further information and samples as the Commissioner may require for the purpose of investigations to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements of § 146.3 for the issuance of a certificate.

(e) Upon the request of any person, stating reasonable grounds therefor, the Commissioner shall furnish such person with a portion of the working standards.

§ 146.3 Certification. (a) If it appears to the Commissioner, after such investigation as he considers necessary, that:

(1) The information (including results of tests and assays) and samples required by or pursuant to the regulations in this part have been submitted, and the request for certification contains no untrue statement of a material fact; and

(2) The batch complies with the regulations in this part and conforms to the applicable standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity prescribed by the regulations in this part; the Commissioner shall certify that such batch is safe and efficacious for use, subject to such conditions on the effectiveness of certificates as are prescribed by § 146.4, and shall issue to the person who requested it a certificate to that effect.

(b) If the Commissioner determines, after such investigation as he considers to be necessary, that the information submitted pursuant to the regulations in this part, or the batch covered by such request, does not comply with the requirements set forth in paragraph (a) of this section for the issuance of a certificate, the Commissioner shall refuse to certify such batch and shall give notice thereof to the person who requested certification, stating his reasons for refusal.

(c) Compliance of a drug with the standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity prescribed by regulations in this part shall be determined by the tests and methods of assay prescribed for such drug by regulations in Part 141 of this chapter.

§ 146.4 Conditions on the effectiveness of certificates. (a) A certificate shall not become effective:

(1) If it is obtained through fraud or through misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact;

(2) With respect to any package unless in complies with the packaging requirements, if any, prescribed by the regulations in this part which were in effect on the date of the certificate;

(3) With respect to any package unless its label and labeling bear all words, statements, and other information required by the regulations in this part; or

(4) With respect to any package of penicillin or streptomycin when it is included in a packaged combination with another drug, unless such other drug complies with the requirements of the regulations in this part.

(b) A certificate shall cease to be effective:

(1) With respect to any immediate container after the expiration date, if any, prescribed by the regulations in this part;

(2) With respect to any immediate container when it or its seal (if the regulations in this part require it to be sealed) is broken, or when its label or labeling ceases to conform to any labeling requirement prescribed by the regulations in this part, except that:

(i) If the drug in such container is repacked or used as an ingredient in the manufacture of another drug, and certification of the batch thus made is requested, such certificate shall continue to be effective for a reasonable time to permit certification or destruction of such batch; or

(ii) If the drug is in a container packaged for dispensing and is used in compounding a prescription issued in his professional practice by a physician, dentist, or veterinarian licensed by law to administer or apply drugs, such certificate shall continue to be effective for a reasonable time to permit the delivery of the drug compounded on such prescription;

(3) With respect to any immediate container of penicillin when it is included in the packaged combination penicillin with aluminum hydroxide gel or a vasoconstrictor, except that when certification of the batch so included is requested such certificate shall continue to be effective for a reasonable time to permit certification of such batch which is a part of such combination;

(4) With respect to any package when the drug therein fails to meet the standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity which were in effect on the date of the certificate; except that those minor changes which occur before the expiration date and which are normal and unavoidable in good storage and distribution practice shall be disregarded;

(5) With respect to any package of penicillin or streptomycin included in a packaged combination with another drug, when such other drug fails to meet the requirements of the regulations in this part; or

(6) With respect to any immediate container, if such regulations require its labeling to bear a caution against dispensing otherwise than on prescription, at the beginning of the act of dispensing or offering to dispense it otherwise than:

(i) By physician, dentist, or veterinarian, in his professional practice, who is licensed by law to administer drugs; or

(ii) On his prescription issued in his professional practice.

§ 146.5 Records of distribution. (a) The person who requested certification shall keep complete records showing each shipment and other delivery (including exports) of each certified batch or part thereof by such person or by any person subject to his control. Such records shall show the date and quantity of each such shipment or delivery and the name and post-office address of the person to whom such shipment or delivery was made, and shall be kept for not less than three years after such date.

(b) Upon the request of any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration, or of any other officer or employee of the United States acting on behalf of the Administrator, the person to whom a certificate is issued shall at all reasonable hours make such records available to any such officer or employee and shall accord to him full opporunity to make inventory of stocks of such batch on hand and otherwise to check the correctness of such records.

§ 146.6 Authority to refuse certification service. When the Administrator finds, after giving notice and opportunity for hearing, that a person has:

(a) Obtained or attempted to obtain a certificate through fraud, or through misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact;

(b) Falsified the records required to be kept by § 146.5; or

(c) Failed to keep such records or to make them available, or to accord full opportunity to make an inventory of stocks on hand or otherwise to check the correctness of such records, as required by § 146.5, and such failure may materially impair the certification service; the Administrator will immediately suspend service to such person under the regulations in this part and will continue such suspension unless and until such person shows adequate cause why such service should be resumed.

§ 146.7 New penicillin or streptomycin products. Any request that the Administrator provide for the certification of batches of a drug for which no provision for certification is made in the existing regulations in this part shall be in form specified by the Commissioner and shall be accompanied by:

(a) A statement of the conditions for which the person who makes such request intends such drug to be used, and adequate directions for use in each such condition;

(b) Full reports of investigations which have been made to show whether or not such drug is safe and efficacious for use in such conditions;

(c) A full list of the articles used as components of such drug;

(d) A full statement of the composition of such drug;

(e) A full description of the methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, and packing of such drug;

(f) A full description of, or references to publications containing practical and accurate tests and methods of assay to determine the identity, strength, quality, and purity of such drug;

(g) Such samples of such drug and of the articles used as components thereof as the Commissioner may require; and

(h) Specimens of all labeling (including all brochures and other printed matter, except readily available medical publications, referred to in such labeling) proposed to be used for such drug.

§ 146.8 Fees. (a) Fees for the services rendered under the regulations in this part shall be such as are necessary to provide, equip, and maintain an adequate certification service.

(b) The fee for such services with respect to each batch of a drug, certification of which is provided by the regulations in this part, is the fee prescribed in the section relating specifically to such drug, except that; in case of a supplemental request submitted pursuant to the provisions of § 146.18, the fee shall be $2.00.

(c) When the Commissioner considers it necessary to make investigations of a new penicillin or streptomycin product, on which a request has been submitted in accordance with § 146.7, the fee for such service shall be the cost thereof. In such case the request shall be followed by an advance deposit in such amount as the Commissioner specifies, and thereafter such additional advance deposits shall be made as the Commissioner estimates may be necessary to prevent arrears in the payment of such fee.

(d) A person requiring continuing certification services may maintain an advance deposit of the estimated cost of such services for a two-month period. Such deposit shall be debited with fees for services rendered, but shall not be debited for any fee the amount of which is not definitely specified in the regulations in this part unless the depositor has previously requested the performance of the services to be covered by such fee. A monthly statement for each such advance deposit shall be rendered.

(e) The unearned portion of any advance deposit shall be refunded to the depositor upon his application.

(f) All deposits and fees required by the regulations in this part shall be paid by money order, bank draft, or certified check drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, collectible at par, at Washington, D. C.

§ 146.18 Exemptions for labeling. (a) Except as provided by paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, a shipment or other delivery of a drug which is to be labeled at an establishment located elsewhere than at the place of manufacture shall be exempt, during the time of introduction into and movement in interstate commerce and the time of holding in such establishment, from the requirements of section 502 (l) of the act if the labeling of each shipping container bears the batch mark of the drug and the number of units per package, and if the person who introduced such shipment or delivery into interstate commerce holds a permit from the Commissioner authorizing shipment for labeling in such establishment.

(b) (1) An application for such a permit shall be in a form specified by the Commissioner, and shall give the name and location of the establishment in which such labeling is to be done.

(2) In case the applicant is the operator of such establishment, the application shall include a written agreement signed by him that he will request certification of each batch from which any shipment or delivery is made to such establishment unless it is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23; that he will not remove any of such drug from such establishment unless it complies with section 502 (l) of the act or is so exempt, or if certification is refused, unless it is returned within a reasonable time to permit reprocessing and certification, destruction, or such exemption at the establishment where it was manufactured; that he will keep complete records showing the date, quantity, and batch mark of each such shipment and delivery and the disposition thereof; that he will make such records available to any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration at any reasonable hour within three years after the date of such disposition; and that he will accord full opportunity to such officer or employee to make inventories of stocks on hand and otherwise check the correctness of such records.

(3) In case the applicant is not the operator of such establishment such application shall include or be accompanied by:

(i) A written agreement signed by the applicant that he will request certification of each batch from which any shipment or delivery is made to such establishment unless it is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23; that he will keep complete records showing the date, quantity, and batch mark of each such shipment and delivery; and that he will make such records available to any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration at any reasonable hour within three years after the date of such shipment or delivery; and

(ii) A written agreement signed by the operator of such establishment that he will submit a request, supplemental to that of the applicant, for the certification of each batch or portion thereof comprised in any such shipment or delivery received by him unless it is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23; that he will specify in his request the number of packages of each size in such shipment or delivery, the date of delivery, the batch mark thereof, and the batch mark he will use therefor; that the batch marks to be used (if different from those of the applicant) will be only those of which the key is specified in this agreement; that the labeling to be used for such packages will be only that of which specimens are attached to this agreement (including specimens of all brochures and other printed matter, except readily available medical publications, referred to in such labeling); that when any change is made in such key or labeling he will promptly submit to the Commissioner a full statement of such change or, in the case of changed labeling, specimens showing all such changes; that he will not remove any of such drug from such establishment unless it complies with section 502 (l) of the act or is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23 or, if certification is refused, unless it is returned within a reasonable time to permit reprocessing and certification, destruction, or such exemption at the establishment where it was manufactured; that he will keep complete records of the disposition of each such shipment and delivery; that he will make such records available to any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration at any reasonable hour within three years after the date of such disposition; and that he will accord full opportunity to such officer or employee to make inventories of stocks on hand and otherwise check the correctness of such records.

(4) When the Commissioner finds, after giving notice and opportunity for hearing, that such application contains any untrue statement of a material fact or that any provision of any such agreement has been violated he may revoke such permit.

(c) An exemption of a shipment or other delivery under paragraph (a) of this section, in case the person who introduced such shipment or delivery into interstate commerce is the operator of such establishment, shall become void ab initio at the beginning of the act of removing or offering to remove such shipment or delivery or any part thereof, before or after labeling, from such establishment unless such batch complies with section 502 (l) of the act or is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23 or, if certification is refused, unless such shipment or delivery is returned within a reasonable time to permit reprocessing and certification, destruction, or such exemption at the establishment where it was manufactured.

(d) An exemption of a shipment or other delivery under paragraph (a) of this section, in case the person who introduced such shipment or delivery into interstate commerce is not the operator of such establishment, shall expire at the beginning of the act of removing or offering to remove such shipment or delivery or any part thereof, before or after labeling, from such establishment unless such batch complies with section 502 (l) of the act or is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or § 146.23 or, if certification is refused, unless such shipment or delivery, within a reasonable time, is destroyed or returned to permit reprocessing and certification, destruction, or such exemption at the establishment where it was manufactured.

§ 146.19 Exemptions for storage. (a) Except as provided by paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, a shipment or other delivery of a drug which is to be stored at a warehouse located elsewhere than at the place of manufacture shall be exempt, during the time of introduction into and movement in interstate commerce and the time of holding in such warehouse, from the requirements of section 502 (l) of the act if the labeling of each shipping container bears the batch mark of the drug, and if the person who introduced such shipment or delivery into interstate commerce holds a permit from the Commissioner authorizing shipment for storage in such warehouse.

(b) An application for such a permit shall be in a form specified by the Commissioner, and shall give the name and location of the warehouse in which such drug is to be stored. Such application shall be accompanied by:

(1) A written agreement signed by the applicant that he will request certification of each batch thereof unless it is exempt under section 801 (d) of the act or §§ 146.18, 146.21, or 146.22, that he will not remove any of such drug from such warehouse unless it complies with section 502 (l) of the act or is so exempt or, if certification is refused unless it is returned within a reasonable time to permit reprocessing and certification, destruction, or such exemption at the establishment where it was manufactured; that he will keep complete records showing the date, quantity, and batch mark of each shipment and other delivery of any such drug to such warehouse, and that he will make such records available to any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration at any reasonable hour within three years after the date of such shipment or delivery; and

(2) A written statement signed by the operator of such warehouse showing that he has adequate facilities for such storage; such statement shall contain an agreement that he will hold each shipment or other delivery of such drug intact, under such conditions as will not cause failure of the drug to comply with the requirements for certification, that he will keep complete records showing the date of receipt by him and the quantity and batch mark of each such shipment and delivery and the disposition thereof, that he will make such records available to any officer or employee of the Food and Drug Administration at any reasonable hour within three years after the date of such disposition, and that he will accord full opportunity to such officer or employee to make inventories of stocks on hand and otherwise check the correctness of such records.

From the information required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be omitted results of tests and assays not required for the batch when used in such other drug. The Commissioner shall report to such manufacturer results of such check tests and assays as are so requested.

The fee prescribed by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall accompany the request for certification unless such fee is covered by an advance deposit maintained in accordance with § 146.8 (d).

This order, which provides for the certification of a new penicillin product, capsules buffered penicillin with pectin hydrolysate, and which includes a revision of all of the existing regulations for certification of penicillin-containing drugs heretofore promulgated and published in this part, and which also provides for certification of streptomycin-containing drugs, shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER since both the public and the affected industries will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order and would be contrary to the public interest, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industries and since it would be against public interest to delay the marketing of these drug products.

Dated: April 1, 1947.

Administrator.

(3) Class III milk shall be all milk, skim milk, and cream accounted for (i) as used to produce a product other than those specified in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class IV milk, (ii) as actual plant shrinkage of butterfat in milk received from producers, but not to exceed 3 percent of such receipts of butterfat, and (iii) as actual plant shrinkage of butterfat in milk, skim milk, and cream received from sources other than producers and handlers, including emergency milk: Provided, That if milk is diverted by a handler to a plant of another handler without first having been received for purposes of weighing and testing in the diverting handler's plant, the quantity of butterfat in such milk shall be included in the butterfat receipts of the second handler in computing his plant shrinkage and shall be excluded from the butterfat receipts of the diverting handler in the latter's plant shrinkage computation; And provided further, That (a) if milk from producers is utilized as milk, skim milk or cream in conjunction with milk, skim milk, or cream from sources other than producers or other handlers, the shrinkage allocated to the milk from producers shall not exceed its pro rata share computed on the basis of producer milk available for Class III and ungraded receipts, and (b) if milk from producers is transferred as milk, skim milk, or cream under supporting transfer records satisfactory to the market administrator, to a plant of a handler from which no milk of producers is disposed of as fluid milk in the marketing area, the shrinkage on the aforesaid transferred portion shall be computed on a pro rata basis with all milk, skim milk, and cream utilized in the latter plant and added to the shrinkage on producers' milk handled in the handler's fluid milk plant.

(4) Class IV milk shall be that portion of the milk used to produce butter by a handler reporting utilization in Class III in excess of 10 percent of such handler's total receipts during the reporting period. No handler shall be permitted in any delivery period to report an amount of milk utilized in Class IV in excess of an amount equal to 10 percent of said handler's reported Class I sales for said delivery period.

(iii) In actual plant shrinkage of emergency milk and other source milk computed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk and in emergency and other source milk in the following manner:

(1) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, for each handler; and

(2) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph between producer milk and emergency and other source milk after deducting receipts from other handlers.

(d) Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (1) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk, unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(2) Any skim milk or butterfat classified (except that transferred to a producer-handler) in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class.

(e) Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(1) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk and as Class II milk if so disposed of in the form of cream to another handler (except a producer-handler) unless utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 9th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That skim milk or butterfat so assigned to a particular class shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of plant shrinkage pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section, and any excess of such skim milk or butterfat, respectively, shall be assigned in series beginning with the next lowest-priced available utilization;

(2) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted to a producer-handler in the form of milk or skim milk and as Class II milk if so disposed of in the form of cream;

(3) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk and as Class II milk if so disposed of in the form of cream to a nonhandler's plant unless, (i) the handler claims another class on the basis of utilization mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the buyer and seller on or before the 9th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transaction occurred, (ii) the buyer maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, (iii) such buyer's plant had actually used not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat in the use indicated in such statement: Provided, That if upon inspection of his records such buyer's plant had not actually used an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat in such indicated use, the remaining pounds shall be classified on the basis of the next highest-priced available use in accordance with the classes set forth in paragraph (b) of this section;

(f) Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk and Class IV milk for such handler.

(g) Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. (1) The pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the following computations shall be the pounds in such class allocated to producer milk:

(i) Subtract plant shrinkage of skim milk pursuant to paragraph (b) (4) (ii) of this section from the total pounds of skim milk in Class IV milk;

(ii) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers and assigned pursuant to (e) of this section;

(iii) Subtract pro rata from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the deduction pursuant to subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph the pounds of skim milk in emergency milk;

(iv) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced available use, the pounds of skim milk contained in milk other than from producers, handlers, and emergency sources; and

(v) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class IV milk the pounds subtracted pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph; or if the remaining pounds of skim milk in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with the lowest-priced available use.

(2) Allocate classified butterfat to producer milk according to the method prescribed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for skim milk.

(3) Determine the weighted average butterfat test of the remaining Class I milk, Class II milk, Class III milk, and Class IV milk computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

By the Pure Milk Association:

(b) Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the "uniform price" per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(1) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section for all handlers who made the reports prescribed by § 967.3; except those in default of the payments prescribed in § 967.8 (a) for the preceding delivery period;

For the purpose of determining the classification of milk caused to be so delivered by a cooperative association to a handler, such milk shall be ratably apportioned among the receiving handler's total Class I milk, Class II milk, Class III milk, and Class IV milk as determined pursuant to § 967.4 (g).

(b) Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of this section there shall be added to, or subtracted from, the uniform price for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in such producer milk above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, an amount computed by multiplying the average daily wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period, by 1.20, dividing by 10, and rounding to the nearest tenth of a cent.

If at such time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments, and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available. No handler who, on the 18th day after the end of each delivery period, has not received the balance of the payment due him from the market administrator shall be deemed to be in violation of paragraph (a) of this section if he reduces his total payments uniformly to all producers by not more than the amount of the reduction in payment from the producer-settlement fund.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR, Parts 230, 239]

REGISTRATION AND REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED LEGISLATION

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposal for the revision of the rules comprising Regulation C pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, particularly sections 6, 7, 8, 10 and 19 (a) thereof. The proposed revision is set forth below.

Regulation C is the portion of the general rules and regulations under the act dealing with registration and registration procedure. The purpose of the proposed revision is twofold. First, it would eliminate a great deal of obsolete material, and second, it would reorganize the remaining rules in a manner intended to facilitate the registration of securities according to the simplified procedure provided by the Commission's recently revised Form S–1 (17 CFR 239.11, 11 F. R. 177A–732).

Persons desiring to comment on the proposed revision may obtain copies thereof from the principal office of the Commission at the address indicated below.

All interested persons may submit data, views and comments in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission at its principal office, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, on or before April 21, 1947.

REGULATION C—REGISTRATION

§ 230.400 Application of Regulation C. The rules contained in §§ 230.400 to 230.492 shall govern every registration of securities under the act, except that any provision in a form covering the same subject matter as any such rule shall be controlling.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

§ 230.401 Requirement as to proper form. A registration statement shall be prepared in accordance with the form prescribed therefor by the Commission as in effect on the date of filing. Any registration statement shall be deemed to be filed on the proper form unless objection to the form is made by the Commission prior to the effective date of the statement.

§ 230.402 Number of copies; signatures; binding. (a) Three copies of the complete registration statement, including exhibits and all other papers and documents filed as a part of the statement, shall be filed with the Commission. At least the original of every statement filed with the principal office of the Commission, and at least the original and one copy of every statement filed with a regional office pursuant to §230.455 (b) shall be signed by the persons specified in section 6 (a) of the act.

(b) Each copy of the registration statement filed with the Commission shall be bound in one or more parts, without stiff covers. The binding shall be made on the left-hand side and in such manners as to leave the reading matter legible.

§ 230.403 Requirements as to paper and printing. (a) Registration statements shall be filed on good quality, unglazed, white paper 8½ x 13 inches in size, insofar as practicable. However, tables, charts, maps, and financial statements may be on larger paper if folded to that size, and the prospectus may be on smaller paper if the registrant so desires.

(b) All papers and documents filed as a part of a registration statement shall, insofar as practicable, be printed, mimeographed or typewritten. All such material shall be clear, easily readable, and suitable for repeated photocopying.

(c) All printing, mimeographing, typing or other markings shall be in black ink, except that debits in credit categories and credits in debit categories may be set forth in red or black ink, but shall in all cases be designated in such manner as to be clearly distinguishable as such on photocopies.

§ 230.404 Preparation of registration statement. (a) Notwithstanding any requirement of the appropriate form to the contrary, a copy of the proposed prospectus may be filed as a part of the registration statement proper in lieu of furnishing the information in item-and-answer form. Wherever this procedure is followed, either pursuant to this section or otherwise, the text of the items of the form are to be omitted from the registration statement, as well as from the prospectus, except to the extent provided in paragraph (b) of this section. All instructions to items of the form and instructions as to financial statements, exhibits, or prospectuses are to be omitted from the registration statement in all cases.

(b) Where any items of the form require information not required to be included in the prospectus, the text of such items, together with the answers thereto, and any financial statements not required to be included in the prospectus shall be filed with the prospectus under cover of the facing sheet of the form as a part of the registration statement proper.

(c) Every registration statement shall include a cross reference sheet showing the location in the prospectus of the information required to be included in the prospectus in response to the items of the form. If any item of the form is inapplicable, or the answer thereto is in the negative and is omitted from the prospectus, a statement to that effect shall be made in the cross reference sheet. The cross reference sheet is to be inserted in the registration statement immediately following the facing sheet.

If any required information is unknown and not reasonably available to the registrant, either because the obtaining thereof would involve unreasonable effort or expense, or because it rests peculiarly within the knowledge of another person not affiliated with the registrant, the information may be omitted, subject to the following conditions:

(a) The registrant shall give such information on the subject as it possesses or can acquire without unreasonable effort or expense, together with the sources thereof, and may include a disclaimer of responsibility for the accuracy or completeness thereof.

(b) The registrant shall include a statement either showing that unreasonable effort or expense would be involved or indicating the absence of any affiliation with the person within whose knowledge the information rests and stating the result of a request made to such person for the information.

§ 230.410 Disclaimer of control. If the existence of control is open to reasonable doubt in any instance, the registrant may disclaim the existence of control and any admission thereof; in such case, however, the registrant shall state the material facts pertinent to the possible existence of control.

§ 230.411 Incorporation of financial statements by reference. Subject to § 230.448 any financial statement or part thereof previously or concurrently filed with any office of the Commission pursuant to any Act administered by the Commission may be incorporated by reference in any registration statement filed with any office of the Commission, if it substantially conforms to the requirements of the appropriate form and is not required to be included in the prospectus.

§ 230.412 Registration of additional securities. The registration of additional securities of the same class as other securities for which a registration statement is already in effect shall be effected through a separate registration statement relating to the additional securities.

FORM AND CONTENT OF PROSPECTUSES

§ 230.420 Legibility of prospectuses. The body of all printed prospectuses other than newspaper prospectuses shall be in type at least as legible as ten point leaded type.

§ 230.421 Presentation of information in prospectuses. (a) The information required in a prospectus need not follow the order of the items or other requirements in the form. Such information shall not, however, be set forth in such fashion as to obscure any of the required information or any information necessary to keep the required information from being incomplete or misleading. Where an item requires information to be given in a prospectus in tabular form it shall be given in substantially the tabular form specified in the item.

(b) All information contained in a prospectus shall be set forth under appropriate captions or headings reasonably indicative of the subject matter set forth thereunder. Except as to financial statements and other tabular data, all information set forth in a prospectus shall be divided into reasonably short paragraphs or sections.

(c) Every prospectus shall include in the forepart thereof a reasonably detailed table of contents showing the subject matter of the various sections or subdivisions of the prospectus and the page number on which each such section or subdivision begins.

(d) All information required to be included in a prospectus shall be clearly understandable without the necessity of referring to the particular form or to the general rules and regulations. Except as to financial statements and information required in tabular form, the information set forth in a prospectus may be expressed in condensed or summarized form. Financial statements included in a prospectus are to be set forth in comparative form if practicable, and shall include the notes thereto and the accountants' certificate.

It is a criminal offense to represent that the Commission has approved these securities or has made any findings that the statements in this prospectus or in the registration statement are correct.

§ 230.422 Summaries or outlines of documents. Where a summary or outline of the provisions of any document is required, only a brief statement shall be made, in succinct and condensed form, as to the most important provisions of the document. In addition to such statement, the summary or outline may, subject to § 230.448, incorporate by reference particular items, sections, or paragraphs of any exhibit and may be qualified in its entirety by such reference. Matter contained in an exhibit may be incorporated by reference in a prospectus only to the extent permitted by this section.

§ 230.423 Date of prospectuses. Each prospectus used upon the commencement of the public offering of registered securities shall be dated as of the effective date of the registration statement. Each revised, amended or supplemented prospectus used thereafter shall bear the approximate date of its issuance, in addition to the date required by the preceding sentence.

§ 230.424 Filing of prospectuses; number of copies. (a) In addition to the three copies of the prospectus included in the body of the registration statement proper, five copies of the prospectus proposed to be used upon the commencement of the public offering of a security shall be filed with the registration statement at the time the statement is filed. A copy of the cross reference sheet required by § 230.404 (c) shall be bound with or attached to each copy of the prospectus so filed.

(b) Within five days after the commencement of the public offering, twenty copies of each form of prospectus used in connection with such offering shall be filed, in the exact form used, with the office of the Commission with which the registration statement was filed.

(c) No prospectus which purports to comply with section 10 of the act and which varies from any form of prospectus filed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall be used until twenty copies thereof shall have been filed with the office of the Commission with which the registration statement was filed.

(d) Every prospectus consisting of a radio broadcast shall be reduced to writing. At least five days before the prospectus is broadcast or otherwise issued to the public, five copies thereof shall be filed with the office of the Commission with which the registration statement was filed.

§ 230.425 Statement required in all prospectuses. There shall be placed on the front page of every prospectus, in conspicuous print, the following three paragraphs, with the first and third paragraphs in capital letters:

THESE SECURITIES HAVE NOT BEEN APPROVED OR DISAPPROVED BY THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

_____ (Insert name of issuer) has registered the securities by filing certain information with the Commission. The Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities registered with it.

§ 230.426 Statement as to stabilizing. In any case in which the registrant or any of the underwriters knows or has reasonable grounds to believe that it is intended to stabilize the price of any security to facilitate the offering of the registered security, there shall be placed on the first or second page of every prospectus the following statement in capital letters:

TO FACILITATE THE OFFERING, IT IS INTENDED TO STABILIZE THE PRICE(S) OF _____ (Title of securities) ON _____ (Name each exchange. If none, omit this line.)

This statement is not an assurance that the price(s) of the above securities will be stabilized or that the stabilizing, if commenced, may not be discontinued at any time.

§ 230.427 Contents of prospectuses used after thirteen months. Information contained in a registration statement may be omitted from a prospectus used more than 13 months after the effective date of the registration statement insofar as information on the same subjects but as of a date not more than 12 months prior to the use of the prospectus is contained therein. No amendment of the registration statement need be made in connection with the substitution of information pursuant to this section, but 20 copies of the prospectus proposed to be used shall be filed with the Commission pursuant to § 230.424 (c).

§ 230.428 Invitations for competitive bids. Any information or documents contained in a registration statement may be omitted from any newspaper advertisement which is only an invitation for competitive bids for the registered securities: Provided, (a) The terms of the bidding require that each bid shall be a firm bid for the purchase of the entire amount of such securities; and (b) the advertisement states that prior to the acceptance of any bid, the bidder will be furnished a copy of the official prospectus. In such case, no other requirements of the Commission with respect to newspaper prospectuses need be complied with. Such advertisement shall not be deemed a prospectus meeting the requirements of section 10 for the purpose of section 2 (10) (a) or 5 (b) (2) of the act.

§ 230.429 Prospectus for employees' savings, profit sharing or pension plans. (a) Any prospectus for shares of stock of an issuer in which funds of a savings, profit sharing or pension plan for employees of the issuer are to be invested need contain only the information specified below if the prospectus is sent or given only to employees of the issuer who have previously received a prospectus for registered interests or participations in the plan and for registered shares of stock of the issuer and who have become members of the plan prior to receipt of the prospectus prepared in accordance with this section:

(1) Such information (other than financial statements) in regard to the plan and the administration thereof and in regard to the issuer of the underlying stock and its subsidiaries as may be necessary to bring up to date the corresponding information furnished to members of the plan in previous prospectuses.

(2) Financial statements of the plan corresponding to those included in previous prospectuses for each fiscal year after the last fiscal year for which financial statements of the plan were furnished to members of the plan in previous prospectuses.

(3) Financial statements of the issuer of the underlying stock and its subsidiaries corresponding to those included in previous prospectuses for each fiscal year after the last fiscal year for which financial statements of the issuer and its subsidiaries were furnished to members of the plan in previous prospectuses.

(b) The financial statements specified in paragraph (a) of this section may be omitted from any prospectus used in the manner specified in that paragraph if:

(1) The fiscal year of the issuer of the underlying stock has ended within ninety days prior to the date when it is desired to distribute the prospectus to members of the plan.

(2) The prospectus contains, or is accompanied by, financial statements (which need not be certified) substantially meeting the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section.

(3) Within 120 days after the close of the fiscal year the financial statements omitted from the prospectus pursuant to this paragraph are made conveniently available to all members of the plan at their respective places of employment.

(4) There is set forth in conspicuous print on the first page of the prospectus a statement as to the manner in which and the approximate date on which the financial statements will be made available to members of the plan pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

WRITTEN CONSENTS

§ 230.435 Consents of experts. (a) All consents of experts filed with the registration statement pursuant to section 7 of the act shall be dated and shall be signed manually. All such consents, except those contained in the reports of experts, shall be attached after the signature page of the registration statement. Following the consents so attached, there shall be listed the names of all experts whose consents are contained in their reports and not attached after the signature page. After each name so listed a reference shall be made to the report containing the expert's consent.

(b) If any portion of the report of an expert is quoted or summarized in the registration statement or in a prospectus the written consent of the expert shall clearly identify the portion or portions of the report so quoted or summarized and shall expressly state that the expert consents to such quotation or summarization.

(c) If it is stated that any information contained in the registration statement has been reviewed or passed upon by any persons and that such information is set forth in the registration statement upon the authority of or in reliance upon such persons as experts, the written consents of such persons shall be filed with the registration statement.

§ 230.436 Application to dispense with consent. An application to the Commission to dispense with any written consent of an expert pursuant to section 7 of the act shall be made by the registrant and shall be supported by an affidavit or affidavits establishing that the obtaining of such consent is impracticable or involves undue hardship on the registrant. Such application shall be filed and consent of the Commission shall be obtained prior to the effective date of the registration statement.
